meals, and to lack of foods best suited for child growth.

2738 health visits made this year an increase of 290 over the number made last year. The total number of visits to the Charlottetown Health Centre was 2019 as follows: School children, 1446; children of pre-school age, 164; infants, 141; pre-natal cases, 3; adults for health advice, 112; parents with children, 194; T. B. cases, 3; Emigration, 3.

Reference was made to the hearty co-operation of the medical and dental professions, to the school teachers and trustees and others assisting in carrying on the work in the rural schools, and to the method of nurse inspection. The activities of the year comprised the organization of a Girls Health League, a course of six lectures on Health Education in Prince of Wales College, visits to several tuberculosis patients under the supervision of the Department of Soldiers and a temporary Health Centre in Summerside last winter, and the continuance of weekly press articles on Child Welfare and Public Health.

In addition to 129 school talks, 19 other general meetings have been addressed, including the Annual Meeting of the Women's Institutes and the annual and district Teachers Conventions.

The resignations of Miss MacMahon as nurse, Miss MacLeod, assistant nurse, and Miss Nora Jenkins, office secretary during the year were referred to with regret. Miss Lyons has ably succeeded to the position vacated by Miss MacMahon, and she has carried on the work very successfully.

A steady growth in the Junior Red Cross organization was reported by Miss Wilson. Since the last annual report there has been a total membership of 804 and 39 branches have been organized in the Province. This year Junior school children, making a grand total of 54 children helped in this way by the Junior members. Arrangements are being made to have a crippled child treated with orthopedic appliances, and an increased membership will make it possible to help more of these cases.

A $163.13 was raised for the relief of Japanese children in the earthquake stricken area. Among other activities during the year have been the getting up of Health Plays, preparing Health Bulletins, conducting Health meetings, etc. The Juniors of Prince St. School donated toys, etc. to the Dispensary Christmas Tree. One branch gave a Christmas stocking to a little boy who spent the holidays in hospital, and another group made a deserving family happy by sending them a well filled basket. The visit last May of the Director of the Junior Red Cross in Canada, Miss Jean Browne, was referred to with regret.

Miss Wilson in concluding her report defined the Red Cross as a world-wide organization carrying on work for humanity. The Prince Edward Island Division of the Canadian Society is centralizing on Child Life by endeavoring to make the health of the boys and girls possible for them to take their places as good citizens and not a burden to their country. Such a worthy support of every true Canadian.

The Heads of the Division and Executive are very pleased to do and are doing their share of the work if they can only get the means to do so. There are no paid officials beyond the Nurses and Secretary of the Child Welfare Association.

During the year a great disaster befall one of our great nations of the East in which there was a very great loss of life besides destruction of millions of dollars worth of property. The Red Cross of Canada at once came to the aid of the stricken Japanese nation. Our people in this Province responded very generously to the call for help.

Miss Browne, the Director of the Junior Red Cross Society made her annual visit to the Province and visited some of the ranches. The Treasurer, Mr. MacKinnon, will submit his statement herewith also the financial statement of the Division.

Miss Wilson in her report will give you an account of the activities of the Junior Red Cross Branches, and also a detailed account of the work done by herself and the nurse on this Division.

The officers of the Division wish to express to the public who have given their support their thanks for this coming year we shall have such adequate financial assistance that will enable us to carry on the work so necessary for the health and future prosperity of the rising generation of this Province.

Respectfully submitted, S. R. JENKINS, M. D., Secretary Red Cross Society.

the standpoint of the general farmer, and also with relation of crops, the eradication of weeds, and the cultural methods employed in connection with the principal crops grown in this Province. Mr. W. Boulter, of the Experimental Department, accepted Mr. Clark with a discussion of the Potato Growers' Association and its system of marketing the comparatively new but yet rapidly growing crop of sweet potatoes. Mr. Boulter, who is the secretary of the Potato Growers' Association, gave some encouraging advice and timely warning in connection with the growing of this crop.

On Wednesday, Mr. W. J. Gibson of Marshfield, who is a practical dairyman and farmer, and owns a herd of pure-bred Friesian dairy cattle, gave a lengthy description of his system of rearing and breeding the dairy cow, from calf-hood to maturity. He emphasized the adoption of a general dairy production policy for the farmers of Prince Edward Island, and stressed the importance of being the mainstay of the Province, especially when it was coupled with bacon hog production and poultry husbandry. Mr. Gibson was followed by Mr. Reid, who dealt with the dairy cow as a manufacturing medium for farm crops at market prices. He emphasized the importance of getting a good machine in the form of a large sized dairy, and owing to the length of time it takes to manufacture such a machine, the manufacturer, namely, the farmer, usually loses some of his interest. In this way a great many undersized, poorly nourished, low producing cows were to be found, and the returns in all cases were commensurate with the efficiency of the machine. A comparison of systems of raising calves and developing dairy heifers was given.

On Thursday, Mr. F. T. Morrow, dairy grader for the Maritime Provinces, gave some interesting figures in connection with the extent of grading that had already been adopted here and in other parts of Canada. His advice to the dairymen of this Province was to accept the word "quality" as meaning a high standard of the manufacture of milk into cheese and butter, and the marketing of the latter products in the best possible manner. He predicted that in a short time it would be necessary and, in fact, would be requested that all dairy products, whether for use at home or for the export trade, be graded and sold on the certificates of quality. He was followed by Mr. C. J. Cook, who is in charge of record centre work for this Province. Mr. Cook emphasized the importance of keeping records from the standpoint of knowing the economy of production with each dairy herd. In a few fitting words he described the simplicity of the work and its evident effect on many of the herds of the Province where the efficiency has been increased over 100 per cent in a few years.

Mr. A. R. Jones, assistant manager of the Egg and Poultry Association, gave a very practical talk on winter egg production, and throughout his remarks emphasizing the foundation of profitable poultry raising, namely, a proper system of breeding, the hatching of early chickens, and the feeding and management that would point towards egg production. Mr. Jones also dealt with the encouraging co-operation that was marking the success of the egg circles throughout the Province, and predicted that in 1924 the Association would handle 1,000,000 dozens of eggs and would re-instate the marketing of non-productive hens and general market stock.

The last speaker of the course was Mr. H. Held Clay, swine promoter for the Dominion Live Stock Branch. Mr. Clay, who is a native of the Bridgetown district, dwelt fully with the advantages of catering to the English market by producing a bacon type hog. He emphasized the importance of co-operative marketing, which he has been establishing in various centres throughout the Province, and which has already given excellent results in the course of a very short time. The encouragement as offered by the organization of Pig Clubs for the boys and girls was also mentioned, and in all probability will be taken advantage of at Bridgetown in the very near future.

At the conclusion of the course many live stock breeders expressed their thanks to the Provincial Department of Agriculture for the excellent interest they had developed in the different branches of agricultural work during the short stay at Bridgetown, and hoped that the time would not be long distant when a return visit would be announced.

The course for next week will be held at O'Leary and Elmwood, commencing on Tuesday evening at 7.30 and continuing until the same time on Friday. For the following week the course will be at Eldon and Flat River.

P. E. I. Survey for Farm Help

The Minister of Immigration and Colonization has requested the Board of Canada to undertake an immediate survey to determine the needs of the Province of P. E. I. during the coming season. This survey is being undertaken with a view to obtaining immediate farm labor from the overseas immigration staff having advised their ability to fill all applications received by the local representatives. The Board's local representatives are being instructed to furnish the District Superintendent at St. John, N. B., with lists of farmers who generally employ farm help and who are likely to require farm help this spring. Immediately upon receipt of these lists, a circular will be sent to each farmer enclosing an application form to be filled in and returned to the local supervisor. These forms may also be obtained by applying direct to the mentioned officials.

To make this work a real service and to be of value to the Immigration officials, the completed application forms must be sent in at the earliest possible date in order that the overseas immigration staff may complete their arrangements for forwarding the required number of laborers. The District Superintendent will be advised from overseas of the names, date of sailing, name of boat, etc. In order that such laborers may be met on arrival and be available to farmers requiring their services as expeditiously as possible.

Full particulars of this service may be obtained from the Board's local Field Supervisors, C. M. Williams, Charlottetown, and J. N. McEachern, Souris.
