He writes: "I have tried Doan's Kidney Pills and can honestly say that I never used anything better. I was so bad with my kidneys I could hardly raise myself up without help but Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. My wife was always complaining of a lame back, and they completely cured her. Our son was also troubled with his kidneys and as your pills had done so much good we got him to try them and they cured him as well. They are far ahead of doctor's medicine, and I advise a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills for all sufferers from kidney trouble."

THE SUPRARENAL GLANDS.

Surprising Theories About These Glands of the Human Body.

One of the stones which the builders of physiological theories had rejected bids fair to become the head of the corner. Dr. Sajous of Philadelphia has disclosed to his medical brethren some surprising theories about the ductless glands in the human body. There are two small organs called the suprarenal glands, placed just above the kidneys, which have been thought to be useless, but Dr. Sajous avers, as a result of fourteen years of investigation, that they are of vital consequence. They secrete a substance which carried in the lungs takes up oxygen and forms another substance which becomes mixed with the blood. It is this last substance, called adrenoxin, which does the work of supplying the tissues with oxygen, which has so long been credited to the red corpuscles. The suprarenal glands are connected by nerves with a small organ in the brain (the use of which has not been known) which governs them and regulates their absorption of oxygen. Dr. Sajous says that it is on this organ of the brain, called the anterior pituitary body, that all poisoning work and all fights stem from, stirring up the glands to take up more oxygen. More oxygen means more combustion, the burning up of poisons, of which the symptom is fever. A strong pituitary enables a man to lay in a good supply of oxygen and destroy disease germs, and now that the use of pituitaries is understood they can be stimulated on occasion by drugs, so that folks with weak ones may make a better fight against germs. Dr. Sajous considers that what we have been used to call vitality is simply pituitary efficiency. All this is good for the doctors to know, if it is so, and it is interesting anyway. It is always a satisfaction when a job is found for an organ that has been held to be useless. Some day it may be discovered that the vermiform appendix is a valuable anatomical asset and that no man who has lost his may reasonably aspire to be president. That the body should contain an organ the sole use of which is the enrichment of the surgeons who remove it is not reasonable.

An Artificial Comet.
Professor E. L. Nichols and Mr. G. F. Hull of Cornell university have obtained a very accurate reproduction of a comet's tail while experimenting with the pressure of light upon floating particles of extreme minuteness. A powder consisting of emery and the spores of puffballs was put in a vacuum tube from which the air was exhausted as completely as possible. When the rays from an arc light were concentrated upon the powder, the lighter particles were seen to be blown out as if repelled by the light, presenting a striking resemblance to a comet's tail. According to Arrhenius and others, this is analogous to the way in which the sun actually produces the tails of comets. The experimenters found that the effect upon the powder was of the same order of magnitude as would be expected from the value of the pressure of light deduced by them from other experiments.

A Prize For Housewives.
Particulars of a novel prize for the encouragement of housewives at Paris are announced. It is stipulated that claimants must be Parisians by birth, have been married six years and that their husbands, who must be in the service of the city or employed in a government office, do not receive a higher salary than $700 a year. The prize of $1,250 in cash is intended to reward the personal merit of spouses and goes to the one who by her own labor best supplements the earnings of her husband. Curiously enough, the wives of police officials are excluded. The fund to secure the annual reward has been bequeathed by M. Christine, Couronne, a former chief clerk in the office of the minister of agriculture, and the only obligation subsequently resting on the winner is to place a wreath on the grave of the donor.

An Involuntary Gift.

"What a lovely rose! Did your mamma give it to me?"
"Yes'm, but she don't know it."—San Francisco Examiner.
How He Looked at It.
Cholly was having some trouble with a horse that was ordinarily gentle.
"By gum!" exclaimed the doctor.
"That horse is most human. I bet he got a look at you an' has a sense of shame over the situation he finds himself in."—Chicago Post.
