Japanese Torpedo-Boats Sailing Between Russian Battle-Ships.

The achievements of the Japanese with the torpedo-boat and its chief weapon have revolutionized the ideas concerning this form of naval maneuvering. The Spanish-American war cast a cloud on the torpedo and torpedo-boat. Its fighting was done by the big guns of the heavy ships. It is evident now that the fault lay with the men and not in the torpedoes. The illustration shows a torpedo-boat of Togo's fleet steaming right between two immense Russian battleships off Port Arthur. As a result one Russian ship was badly disabled. The torpedo boat was reported by Admiral Togo as practically unhurt.

SIR HECTOR MACDONALD.

Broad Arrow, Official Military Organ of Britain, Reports Him Innocent of Scandal Charges.

Broad Arrow: "We have no wish to reopen a scandal, but the case of the late Major-General Sir Hector Macdonald was a painful, a peculiar, and a sensational one. There is no doubt but that in the mind of the public he went down to the grave with a slur upon his name. A certain number of Scotsmen who know and admired him doubted whether the insinuation made against him by the Governor-in-Council was well founded, or merely the outcome of the gossip of malicious busybodies of the unco guid's description. Consequently they subscribed a certain sum of money, and deputed certain persons to proceed to Ceylon for purposes of investigation. On their return they reported that Sir Hector Macdonald was innocent of the charge made against him. The result of the investigation was sent to the chief London papers, but only one inserted the statement. As, however, the original accusation was widely spread, it is only just that the exposure of the falsehood of that accusation should be given equal publicity."

A Tennyson "Dark Passage." Tennyson has not left many dark passages in his poems, says The London Chronicle, but a correspondent asks whether "the charm of married brows," quoted in this column yesterday, means the crowning charm of the wedded woman, or only the personal peculiarity of only the always mentioned with admiration in the "Arabian Nights," but not generally prized in Europe. It is so little prized, indeed, that writers on beauty give directions for the clearing up of encroaching eyebrows. But did Tennyson admire it, and does he introduce this exceptional frank of Nature into the generalized sketch of the shepherdess of Mount Ida? Or, on the other hand, does not Tennyson insist, in both the poems of which she is the heroine, on the wifehood of Aeneas? What do Tennyson critics think?

Novel Trap for Thieves. For some time the postoffice authorities in France have been much annoyed by an organized band of thieves who stole mail day after day out of the letter boxes, but now they have discovered a contrivance which, they are confident, will put a stop to such thefts in future. It consists of a clockwork arrangement which is fastened to each letter box and is so connected with the main postoffice that the moment any one attempts to tamper with the mail, bell rings and notifies detectives who are on the outlook for the culprits day and night. When a letter is thrown into a box or when a postman extracts the letters the bell also rings, but the sound is different from that which is made when a thief is at work, and therefore there is no danger that the detectives will ever be led off on a wild goose chase.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President, Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which many women have had is recounted by Miss Agnes Stebbings, of 231 East 50th Street, New York City, as follows: "I had very poor health for a year and a half. I looked dark and dreary to me. Had headache, backache, also pain, my sleep was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
