HOME GUARD—No. 1 Coy, Home Guard, will not parade for drill to-night, but will parade to-morrow night (Friday) for battalion drill. All members should be present at this important drill. By request of Captain W. B. Prowse.

RETURN HOME—Miss Beers and Miss Dolron, Paton's two lady buyers and milliners, have returned from attending the millinery openings abroad, and are now busily engaged with a large staff of assistants in preparing for their spring millinery openings.

WINSLOE—The special meeting of the Winsloe Farmers' Institute which was to have been held on Monday night for the selection of seeds will be held on Saturday night, in connection with which Mr. Richard Creed will address an Agricultural Conference.

PRIZE WINNERS—Among the prize winners of yesterday's Horse Show were a year-old and foal sired by Atlas and raised and shown by Edgar R. Hearst, Marshfield, each carrying off 1st prize in their respective class; the foal also winning a special prize and being placed 2nd for the championship.

ILLUSTRATED SERMON—In Zion Church to-night Dr. Van Dyke's "Story of the Other Wise Man" illustrated by 50 colored slides, with hymns. The story will be told by Rev. G. C. Taylor. There will be special music and a silver collection to defray expenses. The service will be held in the main auditorium of the Church.

THE ENTERTAINMENT TO THE LIGHT HORSE—The entertainment given by the St. James' Guild to the overseas men of the Light Horse and 82nd Infantry was not followed by a dance as stated in yesterday's report. The names of two officers for overseas were inadvertently omitted from the list of those present at the social, viz., Lieutenants Martin and Bowness.

WEDDING BELLS—The following notice from the Arlington (Mass.) Advocate will be of interest to the bride's friends in P.E.I.: Miss Fannie I. Finley, daughter of Mr. William Finley, of Gros Street, and Mr. Chas. B. Warner, 1180 Mass. Avenue, were married on Dec. 31st, by Rev. N. E. Wood, D.D., pastor of First Baptist Church, at his home on Maple Street. The couple will reside at 1180 Mass. Avenue. Miss Finley, for a number of years, has been a familiar and welcome visitor in many of our homes and has many friends to extend best wishes and congratulations. Mr. Warner is a deacon and prominent in the Heights Baptist Church and was one of the pioneer expressmen of Arlington, but has been retired from business for a number of years.

MISTAKEN SENSE OF HUMOR—The Guardian has received several complaints, all of the same tenor, with reference to a regrettable incident in connection with the Patrick's Day celebration yesterday. A youth with an exaggerated idea of humor appeared in costume, purporting to be that of an Irishman and followed the procession from Prince of Wales College to the Cathedral. Naturally the processionists took exception to the caricature and the youth must now feel that he has been guilty of an act of discourtesy and had taste in the exhibition made. Probably the Principal of Prince of Wales College will take the opportunity of instilling into the mind of this boy a more healthful idea of what constitutes the conduct of a gentleman.

GRATIFYING RESULT—The proceeds of the sale of candy in the Prince Edward Theatre last night amounted to the sum of $71. This is very gratifying to the Ladies of St. Vincent de Paul Sewing Circle and they wish to express their thanks to the B. I. S. for according them the privilege of selling the candy during the entertainment, and to all those who assisted them in securing such an excellent amount. The money is for distribution among the needy, for helping whom the society is in existence.

B. I. S. PATRIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT

A fitting close to the celebration of St. Patrick's Day was the rendition of Esmeralda, the four-act comedy drama by Francis Hodgson Burnett and William Gillette, produced under the auspices of the B. I. S. and under the direction of Mr. Frank Oliver, in the Prince Edward Theatre. There was an exceptionally large attendance, the hall being well-filled. The curtain rang up on a magnificently arranged patriotic tableau representing the different nationalities comprised within the British Empire. It was very effective and beautiful. During the tableau a lad in highland costume stepped out and sang in excellent voice "Never let the old flag fall", the other members joining in the chorus. The tableau and song were both deservedly applauded. The first act of the drama opened in the Rogers Homestead in Carolina, where George Drew, a speculator (T. Edgar Shaw), offers to buy the property for a very small sum. The Rogers family, although very poor, were not obliged to sell, but Mrs. Rogers, (Miss Annie Egan), who is a tyrant in the family circle, agrees to part with the estate for the meagre sum offered. Dave Hardy, (Dr. T. E. E. Robins), a young farmer on the estate next the Rogers had seen the prospective purchaser pick up some lumps of clay and examine them. He suspected the presence of ore and suggested so that this was the reason that Drew wanted to buy. After the deed had been signed but not delivered, Dave, who is a lover of Mrs. Rogers' daughter, Esmeralda (Miss Hettie Howell), intervenes and prevents the sacrifice and Mrs. Rogers receives a very large price for the land. She forces Esmeralda to give up Dave and takes her and the father to Paris where she hopes to make "a lady" of her and marry her to some society man. The plans are frustrated by the Rogers' land proving worthless and Dave's very valuable, whereby he becomes rich and they poor again.

The second act introduced the Desmonds in their studio in Paris. Nora Desmond, (Miss Lucy Blanchard), Kate Desmond (Mrs. Hopkins), and Jack Desmond (Mr. Shaw). After a talk with a mutual friend Mr. Estabrook the Desmonds pick up Dave Hardy who has gone to Paris to see Esmeralda and who is starving in an attic. He learns of his new found wealth.

In the third act Esmeralda finds out that Dave is in Paris and confronts her mother with the fact, telling her she is going to him. The Desmonds took place in the Rogers home after a dance. Old Mrs. Rogers has just been trying to get the Marquis de Montesson, an adventurer (Mr. Whitlock) to renounce his right to marry Esmeralda with whom the mother has arranged an engagement when Mrs. Rogers enters the room and intervenes. She is followed by Esmeralda who asserts her right to do as she pleases.

In the fourth act through the efforts of Estabrook and the Desmonds Esmeralda and Dave are reunited.

Between the acts specialties were put on consisting of a violin selection and harp accompaniment by Misses Reta McDonald and Mae Grant; songs by Mr. Austin Trainor, Frank Oliver and Miss Lucy Blanchard. Altogether the rendition of the play and specialties was most enjoyable and the B. I. S. and Mr. Frank Oliver are to be congratulated on the success they scored and on the patronage accorded them. The performers without exception acquitted themselves admirably. Mr. Frank Oliver excelled even himself, his comic songs especially being most cleverly rendered and in every case bringing down the house. During intermission home-made candy was sold and this feature also was both enjoyable and well patronized. The orchestra programme consisted of Irish selections and was up to the standard of the rest of the entertainment.

MR BRUCE MACMILLAN.

The untimely death of Mr Bruce MacMillan, of Brackley Point Road, has called forth unusually widespread regret. He was in the very prime of life, and was widely respected, all who enjoyed his acquaintance speaking in the highest terms of the late Mr MacMillan as a man of character. He was a son of the late Mr John MacMillan, and has been engaged in farming since his boyhood. After his father's death he carried on farming operations on the old homestead. Mr MacMillan was a successful farmer and he also took the deepest interest in questions affecting the affairs of the church or the state. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and married Miss Charlotte Horne, daughter of Sheriff Horne, who, with one son, Louis, and three brothers and two sisters, will long mourn their loss and cherish his memory. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, the interment being held in Sherwood Cemetery. The large attendance from both country and city strikingly evidenced the affectionate regard felt for the late Bruce MacMillan.

MRS. MARTIN MURPHY.

It is a sad solemn duty to record the demise of Mrs. Martin Murphy, whose death took place at her home in Glen-garry, Lot 7 on Wednesday evening, Feb. 24th. The immediate cause of death was inflammation which was contracted in some unknown way on Saturday coupled with the birth of an infant daughter on Monday. The two severe illness coming so closely together was too much for human strength to endure and she willingly gave up her life to Him that gave it. Her death came as a shock not only to the neighbors and relatives but to her faithful nurse and kind attentive husband, who had no presentment whatever, that the Angel of death was so near them. On going to her bed to see that she was warmly wrapped, her husband found her calmly sleeping that sleep, that knows no awakening. Death in any case is sad, but when it takes away a young wife and mother leaving eleven children the greater number of whom are very, very young and an infant scarcely two days old, it is then and only then that it chills the heart with grief. Mrs. Murphy was a woman possessed of most commendable qualities was social in her disposition genial in her manner and blest with a good motherly heart, whose many acts of kindness her little orphans now sadly miss. Scarcely an hour before her death she received Holy Communion from the hands of Father Gauthier, Palmer Road, her own Pastor being absent. A great mark of respect was shown to the deceased by the large number of sleighs, which followed her remains to St. Mark's Church on Friday morning. A funeral mass was sung by the Pastor Father Stephen McDonald after which she was silently borne to the Cemetery where the grave closed over an affectionate wife and mother. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. Murphy and family in their bereavement.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions, and are responsible for the readiness with which many people contract disease. For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. Get Hood's. No other medicine acts like it.
