RICHMOND BUILT UP—The pretty village of Richmond in West Prince, which was visited a year ago on July 7th by a disastrous fire which cleaned out the business section of the town, including the railway station, post office, stores, warehouses and private dwellings, is gradually recovering. Mr. John Peter Gaudet, who was manager for Messrs. Arsenault and Gaudet's large store, purchased the property and now has a commodious and up-to-date store on the site of the building which was burned to the ground. The firm of Arsenault and Gaudet did not open up again at Richmond but have two large stores in Wellington. The railway station has been rebuilt and the present building is a great improvement on the old one. Mr. James MacIsaac who has been the manager for many years, is still in charge and the travelling public speak very highly of his efficient services and courteous manner. MacIsaac and Brown, who suffered the loss of their commodious warehouse, have now completed a more up-to-date building at the rear of their store. The warehouse being more conveniently situated than before the fire, this fire is better able to serve the public. Messrs. MacDonald and Brown have a store and very comfortable hotel which fortunately were saved from destruction through the strenuous efforts of the men and young boys who gallantly fought the fire. Mr. Larkin, the post master, recently purchased a house built by Mr. MacEntee and has moved it on to the site and is fixing it up. It is expected that it will be ready for occupation in the fall. The post master has been carrying on his duties in a temporary building since the fire. John MacNeill, on whose premises the fire originated has built a pretty new dwelling on his farm property at the edge of the village. The village, which before the fire was one of the prettiest places on the western coast, is gradually assuming its old aspect and evidences of the fire are fast disappearing.—S.

direct relief in the Province from $4,000 in the first year they were elected to $24,000 in this last year. $88,000 had been given to the people in pensions and then we have the unemployment grant. "Is that not a splendid record," he asked. (Cheers.)

Mr. Arsenault flayed the Liberals who are going around saying the subsidy grants are no good. They argue that the grants only encourage the local Government to spend more money. What can you expect from people like that," the speaker asked. He denounced the disrespectful attitude of MacKenzie King in dealing with this province in regard to our subsidy claims. "We are a small province, he said. We are entitled to our share of Federal money. But we have to fight every inch of the way and Premier MacMillan has proved himself a fighter for our rights and has obtained large sums from Ottawa. He has done well for his province and it would be in the best interests of this province to return him and his colleagues to power."

Mr. Linkletter spoke for a short time and gave the remainder of this period to Mr. Cambell who spoke on the subsidy claims.

Hon. Mr. MacNutt

Mr. MacNutt when he came forward to speak complimented the people of Lot 16 on the wonderful improvement of their hall. This was a sign of their progressive spirit. He said that he had been in the hall a time of depression. Mr. MacNutt spoke briefly on the tremendous difficulties that have confronted the Government all through their term of office and then went on to speak of the policy of the Department of Agriculture and what he considered to be very marked attention. Unlike the previous Government, who had only catered to the outstanding breeders surrounding Charlottetown he had extended these privileges to the outlying districts. A program of this kind had been established and farmers in the most remote districts now have the opportunity of having the best farming methods explained to them by experts in the agricultural departments. Some of the benefits that his department has given to the farmers are bonuses for stallions so that the farmer can revive this once profitable branch of farming. Encouraging better livestock breeding and hog grading, cow testing, hog grading, extending junior work and in many ways his department has endeavored to assist the farmer to improve his farm.

Mr. MacNutt stated that one of the Liberal planks was a determined effort to develop markets in Newfoundland and elsewhere. This has already been accomplished and Mr. Roper have visited Newfoundland and have obtained large contracts for our island cattle and produce. The department has also assisted in making shipments of cattle to the Old Country from this province and Ontario and other parts of the Dominion. He replied to the criticism of his opponents that the Government was responsible for the Marketing Board. Such was not the case as it was not a government appointment. The Liberals are not responsible as the Liberals would have you believe for the low price of potatoes. Overproduction was the cause and the fact that where former markets had been established these countries were now producing surplus was not considered too good for anyone admitted in that way. No one ever knows when one out of their own family circle might become a patient and would we think then that the government had been extravagant in wanting to provide the very best building possible for these poor unfortunate people. Surely said Mr. MacNutt, nothing should be considered too good for anyone admitted in that way. No one ever knows when one out of their own family circle might become a patient and would we think then that the government had been extravagant in wanting to provide the very best. He would think not. (Loud applause.)

Mr. MacNutt reviewed briefly the record of his government and considered good judgment had been exercised in every instance in the readjustment after the two disastrous fires, and also in taking care of the overdraft left by the Liberal government. (Applause.)

Mr. T. M. Linkletter, Liberal candidate gave part of his time to Mr. John E. Campbell who was supporting the Liberal candidates. Mr. Linkletter confined himself chiefly to Federal policies. He referred slightly to the extension of time granted to the North Shore fishermen as of very little real value. He did not think much of dental clinics. Mr. Campbell also dealt mainly with Federal matters. He

Well-informed circles feel that any further efforts by outsiders to moderate Italy's policy towards Ethiopia is sure to meet with coolness from this Government. Italy, they said, has made clear that it Duce's insistence upon what he calls an "integral solution" of the quarrel with Ethiopia is justified. She is not indifferent to her future status as regards the League of Nations, but feels that France and Britain should accede to the Italian proposal for a modification, or at least modification of the African kingdom's independence. Secretary of State Cordell Hull's recent pronouncement against war was received with reserve and the controlled Fascist press was cautious not to delude the public with too great an expectancy of American friendliness for the Italian cause.

United States & Russia Conclude Trade Agreement
(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
TORONTO, July 14.—The United States and Russia today concluded a trade agreement, headed by Hon. H. H. Stevens, in the federal election, "commending" it to the "Ontario farm people."

In a statement signed by R. J. Scott, President, and H. H. Rankin, Secretary, the U.F.O. announced:

"Having been concerned for many years with the social and economic problems facing the farmer and indeed the Canadian people as a whole, we welcome the recent action of Hon. H. H. Stevens in breaking away from the old line partyism, taking an independent stand and giving vigorous leadership for social and economic reconstruction."

"We appreciate the courageous crusade he has been and is waging on behalf of the rank and file of Canadians."

"Having studied the program of the Reconstruction Party we recognize it as being in harmony with the pronouncements made by our people from time to time both in convention and in the House of Commons. We, therefore, commend it to the Ontario farm people."

"Since U.F.O. riding associations have complete autonomy in the political field, the responsibility for definite political action lies within each constituency."

Riots Continue In North Ireland

(By Stephen Williams Associated Press Foreign Staff)
(By Guardian's Special Wire)
BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 14.—Mobs looted and fired buildings today in a continuation of Protestant-Catholic disorders which have killed four and wounded 50 since Friday.

Disorder spread this afternoon from York Street, the riot center, to the "Sandy Row" area, where a mob attacked four shops and set two afire. Two buildings burned to the ground before firemen could get into action.

Two other houses were fired in North Ann Street, but police and troops routed the mob and saved the buildings from destruction.

Although a number of shots were heard during the day no casualties had been reported.

19-YEAR-OLD HURLER BEATS MAR. CHAMPS

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
NEWCASTLE, N. B., July 14.—Defeating St. Stephen-Milltown Kiwanis, Maritime baseball champions, 9-7 yesterday, the Miramichi Fishers served notice in an exhibition game here that they might prove a formidable contender in the Maritime playdowns next fall.

Pay Kitchin, 19-year-old hurler, had ten strike-outs and his fellow players knocked Roy Boles from the Kiwanis box, "Howdy" Clarke finishing for the champions.

Kiwanis collected nine hits off the youthful Kitchin while the Fishers combed 17 from Boles and Clarke.

Irving Smofsky, former Yarmouth star, led the Miramichi hitting parade with two three-baggers.

LINE SCORE

Fishers 002 030 202 9 17 13

PARIS, July 11—Statue to Evelyn Graham Frost, American poet and aviatrix, to be unveiled at Nevers, next September will make the 23rd United States public monument in France, exclusive of war memorials. Fred persons lost their lives yesterday when a Chinese coastwise steamer sank off Tanghai, island capital of the Chusan Archipelago, East of Chekiang Province.

Four hundred persons were rescued, the reports said.

The district of Mont Carmel went overwhelmingly Conservative not only at the meeting on Friday evening when the Conservative candidates, Hon. Adrian F. Arsenault and Hon. Thomas MacNutt put it all over their opponents as they called them in their many statements, but also on Wednesday afternoon, when at the Mont Carmel picnic an election contest between Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan and Hon. Walter M. Lea was taken which resulted in an overwhelming majority for the Premier of the Province and which incidentally netted the picnic $65.00.

The farmers of Mont Carmel have evidently not forgotten that it was the Conservative government that increased the grant for their exhibition to $400, and that it was Walter M. Lea when Minister of Agriculture and later as Premier that he got up the small exhibitions worthwhile and wanted to do away with them altogether.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. John F. Arsenault of Union Corner who acted most impartially and at the conclusion of the meeting thanked the audience for their attentive hearing which had given to the candidates.

HON. ADRIEN F. ARSENAULT
The prolonged applause which greeted the popular Conservative candidate, Hon. A. F. Arsenault when he came forward to speak but one impression, that Mont Carmel would vote Conservative.

Mr. Arsenault hit right out from the shoulder and attacked the previous speakers for not sticking to provincial politics. Federal politics will come a little later, but at the moment what should concern every Islander is the welfare of their fair province and whether they are going to return to power a government which has proved without question that they have ability to steer the province through difficult times, or a government which ran the country into debt to the tune of over a million dollars in admittedly good times. (Prolonged applause.)

Mr. Arsenault said he could not understand anyone talking of extravagance where the Department of Public Health was concerned, especially criticizing the effort of the government in wanting to take care of the rural districts of the province. Medical science has proved that many diseases have their origin in bad teeth. Mr. Arsenault remarked that he did not have the benefit of a dental clinic as a boy, but happened to be one of those fortunate people blessed with good teeth, but he would not be surprised if he would not want a whole new set after what he had to chew tonight. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Arsenault went very fully into the administration of the Conservative government and forcibly showed that Mr. Linkletter's statements with regard to Falconwood were untrue. He gave a fair statement of the finances of the province, and showed the many benefits that had been received from the MacMillan government.

He warned the electors to remember the threat of Hon. W. M. Lea to discontinue the subsidies to exhibitors and they need not expect any more increase or even any grant if the Liberal are returned.

Mr. Arsenault read and explained the Conservative platform very fully and carefully, and the loud and prolonged applause which was accorded after he had finished was a clear indication that the trouble he had taken to acquaint his audience with the intention of the Conservative party were very much appreciated.

Mr. Arsenault nailed many of the statements given by the Liberal candidates by the Liberal speakers as false as he went very carefully into that question. He read all the correspondence of ex-Premier Saunders with Hon. J. A. Robb which proved conclusively that ex-premier Saunders was to blame and not the Conservative premier of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Arsenault was accorded another burst of applause as he concluded one of the best speeches during his campaign.

Mr. Gallant, who spoke last confined his remarks to criticizing the MacMillan government and blaming them because a second class teacher forced to accept a third class school could not get a larger supplement from the school district.

He also criticized the Board of Education along other lines and the other departments in general.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and largest ever held in Mont Carmel. There was a meeting at Cape Egmont in the afternoon which was also decidedly Conservative.—S jury that a person's religious creed could not be recognized as a defense. Waley recently pleaded guilty to similar charges and was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

John F. Dore, former Mayor of Seattle and chief defense attorney, defended the young wife's religion claim and her witness stand statement that she feared to interfere with the kidnapping because of threats by Dainard.

The defense attorney brought Mrs. Waley's family and economic background into his argument when he declared she was the child of a father "who has no occupation other than filling up the house with children he can't support."

Dies After Being Pardoned

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
MEDFORD, Mass., July 14.—Edwin T. McKnight, who came from a small town in New Brunswick in early manhood and rose to positions of prominence in the world of finance and in state politics, died at his home here last night, three days after being pardoned from state prison. He was 66.

Last Wednesday Governor James M. Curley issued a surprise pardon to a man then serving his 53rd day of a four to five year sentence as "a common and notorious thief" as a result of the collapse of the Medford Trust Company while he was its president.

Death was ascribed to agita pectus, diabetes and other complications which had been forced largely through foreign exchange conditions, to ease its purchases. The expressed hope an improvement in the monetary situation would permit a resumption of business.

The new law under which imports of continental steel into England would import duties of 33 per cent or foreign steel entering the country was described by Sir Newton as an effective protection for the British steel industry.

Commenting on the business of his corporation, Sir Newton said a certain amount of export steel would have been obtained but the total would be short of last year's tonnage. The corporation had recently completed a 10,000 ton rail order with South Africa. He added coal is moving up the St. Lawrence River from the mines in the Maritime Provinces in satisfactory volume, although not up to the tonnage of last year, due to some extent to delayed shipments because of a delay in the opening of navigation.

A former premier of West Australia, Sir Newton took more than a passing interest in the economic movement launched by that state, and while in England played a vital role in setting forth a more proper viewpoint. He believed national governments have been the most important factors in the recovery in business and the stabilization of the financial structures in Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand.
