BY "TEC" "OH, HUM!"

"Postponed, rain; postponed, cold;" such were most of the box scores in big league baseball during the week.

With such weather prevailing in southern climes then the local citizenry will be nailing back the double windows this afternoon and disturbing the moths from the linings of their winter overcoats.

Well, if we do it is all right with us, because this weather that we have been experiencing the last few days is neither fish, flesh nor fowl and we do like to know what we are getting served us.

DOG DAYS IN SPORT

These are the veritable dog days in sport. Right now it is too cold for even the hardest golfer, baseball diamonds are still heavy with mud, tennis courts are wetter than Fullerton's Marsh, paddlers and oarsmen are afraid to pick up their blades realizing that they run a fine chance of picking up pneumonia at the same time.

The only thing that we know of happening is that the Canadian Davis Cup team have opened their annual battle at Washington with the United States racket wielders—and lo and behold, we had to lose the opening matches. However, this was expected by those who follow the tennis game.

KILMER HIRES TRAINERS OF PHAR LAP

The announcement that Willis Sharpe Kilmer has retained the services of Tommy Woodcock, trainer; Billy Elliot, jockey, and Dr. Nelson, veterinary, the three men who handled the ill-starred Phar Lap, has created somewhat of a furore in American racing circles.

The differences are not merely slight ones. The Australians follow plans for bringing a horse into form widely at variance with those of trainers here. They rarely gallop an animal and then they run him for a couple of miles.

Should Woodcock continue Sun Beau's successes it is fairly certain that the greatest revolution that has ever taken place in horse training methods on this continent is bound to follow.

Reports on training, fire prevention, first aid, and public service work were presented at the meeting. The widespread co-operation of scout troops in unemployment relief work included the collection in large quantities of clothing and foodstuffs, and the assistance in the operation of relief hostels of the Red Cross and other organizations.

Reforestation and conservation work included the planting of 180,000 young trees by scouts in Ontario and Nova Scotia areas. The scout toy shops supplied Christmas gifts directly or by mail to more than 75,000 children in the Dominion. Then mailed gifts were largely sent by Ontario and Quebec toy shops to the families of settlers in the burned out areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

and introduced in the Commons shortly, Mr. Bennett said. In the meantime, a resolution has been submitted authorizing the Dominion to enter into agreements for relief with the Provinces, and pay whatever sums it may be necessary for the Dominion to expend. Power is also contained in the resolution to make advances to the provinces. Authority to pay sums for special requirements in the national parks, in the drought stricken areas of Saskatchewan, for assistance in defraying the cost of the sale and distribution of products of the field, farm, sea, river and mine are also set out.

The Dominion will continue to assist in direct relief. The provinces had indicated they could not continue for financial reasons on the construction programme to provide relief works. But, the committee was told, works now under way which could not be abandoned without loss would be continued to completion.

To date, Mr. Gordon declared, $150,000,000 had been spent on public works by way of indirect relief, since the fall of 1930. Of this amount, the Dominion had contributed $48,000,000; and the provinces and municipalities slightly over $100,000,000.

By way of "direct" relief the Dominion in the same period had spent $12,000,000 exclusive of advances made to the Saskatchewan relief commission.

Total loans and advances made to the provinces since the fall of 1930 amounted to $43,478,499.87. OTTAWA, April 28—(By The Canadian Press)—The House of Commons opened up its proceedings this afternoon with a motion to consider the unemployment relief resolution. The text of the resolution which will cover the relief policy of the Government after May 1 reads:

and in the drought stricken areas of the province of Saskatchewan; to assist in defraying the cost of the sale and distribution of products of field, farm, sea, river and mine; to loan money to any province on such terms as may be agreed upon and to guarantee the repayment of moneys borrowed by such province and to assist any province in any way that may be deemed necessary or advisable to provide for the relief of distress and the support and maintenance of those requiring assistance, and to loan money to and guarantee the payment of money by any public corporation or undertaking."

On the motion for consideration of the resolution in committee, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, observed that the resolution did not cover the "peace, order and good government," provisions in the unemployment and farm relief bill which expires at the end of the month. He was pleased with this deletion. Mr. King said, though, that it was intended that the Governor-in-Council may appropriate sums of money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund and brought that the resolution should be more specific and set out the purposes to which such amounts might be used. He felt also that as Parliament had the power to appropriate money there should be some definite amount named in the bill to be used for the purposes intended.

The final provision of the resolution, which authorizes the Government "to loan money to and guarantee the payment of money by any public corporation or undertaking" was exceedingly wide, in the opinion of Mr. King. There was no indication if it had anything to do with unemployment relief or not. In effect it granted the Government very wide powers to be exercised in the way mentioned.

The opposition leader asked the Prime Minister to state whether or not the order before the House was intended as an unemployment relief resolution, or whether it was a series of separate measures giving to the Government various distinct powers. In conclusion Mr. King said that the opposition protested as strongly as ever against the appropriating of unnamed sums of money from the public treasury.

At the meeting of representatives of the Provinces and Dominion called some time ago to consider unemployment relief, full discussion took place as to how to deal with the problem, stated Premier R. B. Bennett, in reply to Mr. King. On that occasion the provinces had expressed themselves very strongly in favor of not placing a definite amount in any bill which was brought down to meet the situation. In respect to the charge that the Government was requesting a "blank cheque," Mr. Bennett stated that he had nothing to add to what he had said in previous debates.

The provinces of Western Canada believed, continued the Prime Minister, that they would be in a position to meet their ordinary expenditure this year. They hoped to do this by the imposition of taxes and the cutting of expenditure. But, whatever developed, the credit of the Dominion must be sustained by sustaining the credit of the provinces.

In certain provinces, continued the Prime Minister, it was argued that the burden of taxation was now almost intolerable. He illustrated the situation by stating that the income tax was now imposed by three separate institutions—provincial, Dominion and municipal Governments. It had been suggested that the income tax field might well be divided, and that the provinces should be left that portion having to do with private incomes, while the Dominion collected from corporations. However that might be, the provinces had just been through a very difficult experience, and it was his opinion that the wise course was not to stipulate in the legislation the amount for federal relief.

Resolved, that it is expedient in a measure to authorize the Government in Council to enter into in respect to the final provision agreements with all or any of the which authorizes the Government provinces respecting relief measures to loan money to and guarantee the moneys in such province or provinces; payment of money by public corporation and to pay out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund such sums as in his purpose of this was to provide discretion may be required to meet credit facilities if necessary. In the the obligations created by such United States, he stated, it had been agreed; to provide for special found necessary to create a credit requirements in the national parks corporation. Canada had not got to

Result Of Poll

By Literary Digest On Prohibition

NEW YORK, April 28—Seventy-three voters out of every hundred favor a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as evidenced by the final figures in The Literary Digest's nation-wide Prohibition Poll, which will be published in the magazine tomorrow.

A total of 4,688,537 ballots were returned and counted in this "straw" referendum. The division of the final figures shows 1,236,660, or 26.49 per cent, voting for continuance of the Prohibition Amendment and 3,451,877, or 73.51 per cent, favoring repeal.

Kansas and North Carolina are the only two States giving a clear majority for Prohibition, Kansas voting dry by a majority of 397 votes out of a total of 84,121 ballots received and North Carolina voting dry by a majority of 68 votes out of a total of 64,790 ballots returned.

The wettest section of the United States as evidenced by the returns in this Poll is the group of States from the Mississippi River east to the Atlantic Ocean and approximately north of the Mason-Dixon Line, with the dampest concentration in the seaboard States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Rhode Island.

The driest section of the country includes the belt of States extending from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas to the Atlantic with the exception of Missouri, Louisiana, and Florida, which three States register higher wet majorities.

The final tabulation in the 1930 Literary Digest Prohibition Poll giving three options on the ballot instead of two showed a total tabulation of 4,806,464 votes of which 1,464,098, or 30.46 per cent, were for strict enforcement while 1,399,314, or 29.11 per cent, were for modification to admit light wines and beers and 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent, were registered in favor of an outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.
