IN MEMORIAM

MRS. E. G. PARKMAN
 The death occurred in this city on October 6th of Elizabeth Boyce, beloved wife of Mr. E. G. Parkman, after an illness of about six weeks.

The late Mrs. Parkman emigrated to this province from Scotland in 1840 with her parents when only two years of age. The family located in Bonshaw where she deceased resided until her marriage in 1887.

Of a kindly and lovable disposition the late Mrs. Parkman made and retained numerous friends who will regret to learn of her passing. She was a faithful and consistent member of Trinity United Church and always took a keen interest in church work.

Besides a sorrowing husband she leaves to mourn one step-son, Ernest, and a grand-daughter, Nettie McInnis, who resided with her.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, service at the house at 3.30 being conducted by Rev. Hammond Johnson, assisted by Rev. E. H. Ramsay.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. Henry Rackham, Frank Morris, Frank L. Dillon, James Kiggins, L. J. McDonald and D. D. Morrison. Interment was in the People's Cemetery.

The Markets

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12.—(Eggs)—The preliminary report of cold storage holdings in Canada on October 1st issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows a total of 12,164,708 dozens against 12,164,708 dozens as compared to a 13,160,065 dozens Oct 1st 1926. 242 reports are included in this summary with 36 still to be heard from.

TORONTO.—There has been a sharp decline in receipts of fresh eggs and firsts are very firm. Dealers are quoting country shippers: Extras 45-48, firsts 39-42, seconds 33-35.

MONTREAL.—This market continues somewhat dull with fresh extras in good demand. These are selling in a jobbing way at extras 50-51.

EDMONTON.—The egg market here is unchanged with dealers quoting country shippers extras 40, firsts 37, seconds 32.

ST. JOHN.—This market is firm and supply scarce. P. E. I. is supplying in bulk and firsts are very firm. Prices to country shippers have advanced 1 cent and are now extras 46, firsts 42, seconds 31.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 12.—There was no improvement in the demand from English importers for grain here today and the volume of business transacted was small. The trade in coarse grains was also quiet and the undertone to the market was easy, but no change in prices was announced. The spring wheat flour market was without any new feature to note, prices being steady with only a moderate amount of business passing for export and local account. The movement of winter wheat flour was small and prices were unchanged. A feature of the millfeed trade was the weaker feeling that developed for shorts and prices were reduced $2.00 per ton. This was attributed to the liberal supplies available and the somewhat limited demand. Sales were made at $32.25 per ton. Other feeds were unchanged. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and steady and inquiry from English importers for baler hay here continued good, but owing to the limited amount of ocean freight space available to some ports the volume of business was checked to some extent. The spot trade was fair and values were unchanged.

The egg market was moderately active and firm. The receipts were 963 cases. Only a fair amount of business was done in potatoes owing to the fact that buyers in most cases are only taking sufficient quantities to meet actual wants on account of the mid weather. The tone of the market was steady and prices were unchanged. Sales of carlots of New Brunswick Green Mountains were made at $1.30 to $1.35 per bag; Cobblers at $1.20 to $1.25 per bag; and Quebec Whites at $1.00 to $1.15 per bag, ex track. The demand for butter was confined to small lots and the undertone was easy at the late decline noted. The receipts were 45 packages. Owing to the lull in the demand from English importers for cheese today and the weaker tone of the spot market prices were reduced 1-2 cents to 3-8 cents per pound. Western No. 1 white and colored was quoted at 20-58 cents to 21 cents per pound, and eastern grades at 20-58 cents to 21 cents. The receipts were 5,839 boxes.

More Laughter Than Bricks In McFadden's Flats Now Showing at the Prince Edward

The eagerly expected feature whole column on this comedy by two day engagement at the Prince Edward yesterday. McFadden's Flats is rightly termed, "A Mansion of Mirth." Built on a foundation of fun. This feature has everything that goes to make a successful comedy, judging by the continuous laughter at all three shows yesterday and the remarks of the patrons who leave the theatre.

Two of the greatest comedy stars of the day, Charlie Murray and Chester Conklin are the chief furnishers and they sure uphold their reputations as comedians. We could write a whole column on this comedy but the best way to get the benefit of a real good laugh is to go and see it. If you feel run down, lack "pep" you will find McFadden's Flats one of the best tonics you could take to chase away worry and that blue feeling. We say: "Go today. Matinee or night and enjoy a real good laugh. An exceptionally interesting new comedy from the American League for the 1927 season. Selection of Gehrig, who gave Babe Ruth a sizzling battle for home run honors and finished with a total of 47, more than any other player in baseball history, with the exception of the Bambino himself, was made by a committee of baseball writers of the cities comprising the league. All but one of the first choice votes were given to Gehrig, who won the coveted honors with 56 points out of a possible 61. Gehrig's nearest competitors for the honors were Harry Heilmann, Detroit outfielder and 1927 batting champion of the American League, and Ted Lyons star pitcher with the Chicago White Sox. Heilmann had 35 points, while 34 went to Lyons.

Imitation diamonds, however perfectly formed, become unattractive under the ultra-violet rays, whereas genuine diamonds shine brightly and usually are blue in color. A false tooth turns a chocolate hue, whereas a natural tooth is brilliant white. Counterfeit bills, raised cheques, creases and other fakes can be detected by the ray, said Dr. Herman Goodman of the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, who conducted the experiments.

70th Anniversary Of Notre Dame

Yesterday, October 12th, Notre Dame Academy, shared with the North American Continent the honors of Foundation Day. This event, annually commemorated by a school holiday in accordance with the wishes of Ex-Mayor McKenna, offers the Sisters and pupils a fitting occasion to voice their sentiments of appreciation and gratitude to their many benefactors and friends of the present and past.

To honor the memories of the past seventy years the pupils of the various classes vied with each other in adding charm to a short and enjoyable program held yesterday afternoon in the Assembly Hall.

Youthful musicians of the Progressive Art Course opened the program with a pleasing orchestra selection. An instructive essay, "A Glimpse of the Past," by Miss Bernadette MacMillan, brought vividly before the minds of all the honored names and prominent dates of the history of their school, while it feelingly voiced the esteem and gratitude of all present for the educational advantage it bestows.

Childhood's charming touch was added, by the contributions of the Grade II tots—"Flo's Letter";—by the Juniors of Grades III and IV—"A Visit to Grandmas";—and by the Grades V and VI—"The School on the Hill."

The members of the school choir offered their tribute to the memory of the Venerable Margaret Bourgeoys—"Pioneer Teacher of Canada and Foundress of the Congregation de Notre Dame"—in a much enjoyed chorus, "Go, I'll Not Forsake Thee." Nor, will the memory of the brave Columbus forgotten. Pupils of the Seventh and Eighth Grades fittingly honored the persevering courage of the intrepid discoverer by their splendid interpretation of Joaquin Miller's poem, "On Columbus." The Senior class offered their homage to Margaret Bourgeoys and their praise and esteem of the zealous labors of the early Foundress in the verses, "Mother Marguerite, Here."

The enjoyable hour was closed by the "Island Hymn," an expression of loyal appreciation of the fair Isle which has ever so zealously championed the cause of education.

Following is a short biography of the Venerable Margaret Bourgeoys, Foundress of the Sisters of Notre Dame.

Born at Troyes, France, in 1620, providence led her through long and painful paths to her future mission. She sailed for Ville Marie, Canada in 1655 despite the imminent peril which then threatened the little colony. Four years passed at Ville Marie before the heroic Foundress could devote her life to the Christian education of children. Meanwhile, her charity embraced all needs; she visited and comforted the sick, buried the dead, and mended for the poor and the soldiers, depriving herself in the behalf of the very necessities of life.

In 1685 she laid the foundation of her Order by opening Montreal's "Monastery de Misericordie," then Governor of Ville Marie. Her singularly social and patriotic zeal summed every form of christian apostleship—thus preparing the future glory and safeguard of her adopted colony.

After giving to Canada forty-seven years of fruitful labor, Marguerite Bourgeoys closed her saintly life of eighty years by a peaceful death on January 12, 1700.

The cause of her Beatification has been introduced at Rome. In the decree proclaiming the "heroicity" of her virtues, she is compared to the great Apostle St. Paul.

ENGLISH FIGHTER MAY GET A CHANCE WITH JACK DEMPSEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—An interesting pugilistic visitor here now is Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of all the British Empire, who has come to New York's resined realm on a most grave and delicate mission. Sir Philip is here to prove, if possible, that out of the Empire on which the sun never sets can come a heavyweight who doesn't either. He is here to wipe out the Cambert stains on the British heavyweight escutcheon made by such figures as Joe Beck and Arthur Towney and others.

Scott is a big fellow, measuring six feet, three inches, either vertically or horizontally. He possesses quite a knowledge of boxing and has a long, raking left hand. He will have the inspiration of James J. Johnston.

DEMPSEY AS DIPLOMAT

Among those who may confront Scott in the ring here is Jack Dempsey. It will not be the first time that Jack and Phil have knocked Dempsey cold it just couldn't help.

The men wore sparring gloves of the sofa pillow type. In the first of the second round, Scott's foot struck Dempsey on his sensitive and recently remodeled nose. Jack responded in his traditional primitive fury, socking Scott on the chin with a right-hand punch that made the lights blink.

Phil Scott is one of the greatest fighters in the world and my dearest wish is that some day I will be fighting him in the ring for my championship of the world.

The applause shook the building and Scott tumbled out of the ring, his head full of rosy visions. Frank Moran, one of the greatest fighters of the White Hope era, was sitting at the ringside. He courteously covered a smile with his hand.

On July 4, 1925, sixth anniversary of Dempsey's victory over Jess Willard, Harry Preston, grand old British sportsman, gave his annual hospital benefit boxing show at Brighton. Dempsey volunteered to box four men that night, each opponent to go one round of one minute. One of the opponents was Eddie Egan, of Denver, Yale, Harvard and Oxford and lately companion of Gene Tunney. Another opponent was Phil Scott.

Phil still remembered the glowing tribute paid him by Dempsey that night in the National Sporting Club and he was attacked by delusions of grandeur. He informed his friends that although this was a bit of a sparring affair for the sake of charity he was going right Dempsey, and if he should time that Jack and Phil had knocked Dempsey cold it just couldn't help.

The men wore sparring gloves
