DEBUTANTE GETS THRILL ATTENDING ROYAL COURT

Enjoys Drive To Palace And When In Throne Room Spell Bound By Royalty On Dais.

London, June 6. — A debutante thus describes in a London paper her experience of being presented at Court along with her mother: "After what seemed an interminable day I had finished dressing for the first Royal Court quite half an hour before the hairdresser arrived at 7 p. m. He fixed the ostrich plumes, with the aid of many clasps, to my shingled hair, and mummy passed me as presentable and a credit to the family. I loved the progress up the Mall, with the friendly crowd gazing in at the windows of the car. Inside the Palace it was like a fairy land. In the drawing-room a gentleman-in-waiting, elegant in dark blue and golden uniform and white breeches, beckoned us, row by row, and we proceeded down a long corridor and across the end of the Throne Room, where, above the heads of the officials, we caught an occasional glimpse of nodding plumes and heard the names called of those who had already arrived in the presence—and up another long corridor to the top of the Throne Room. Like a dream I remember two kindly footmen arranging mummies; train and then mine. I have a faint recollection of the band playing Dvorak's "Humoresque" very softly, and watching with wonderment my card passing from official to official, and reaching the Lord Chamberlain at exactly the same time as I did. As I gazed spellbound at the gay crowd on the Royal dais, at the King in his Field-Marshal's uniform, and at the Queen, a majestic figure in gold tissue shimmering with gorgeous diamonds, that shone like stars under the brilliant lights, my name seemed to echo through the huge room, and mechanically I curtsied to the King on his golden throne. He inclined his head and smiled in such a reassuring manner that my second curtsy, to the Queen, was much steadier. She, too, gave me a lovely smile. It was over.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. P. M. JENKINS

The death occurred on Tuesday morning, May 29th, at Aberdeen Hospital, Trenton, N. S., of P. M. Jenkins, of that town. He was preceded by his wife, two months ago. He is survived by one son, Carl, of Toronto, also four brothers and three sisters, viz: Benjamin and N. J., in Prince Edward Island; J. S. and E. K. Jenkins, of New Glasgow. The sisters are: Mrs. K. McDonald, Mrs. A. Lane, Mrs. J. C. McLean of Prince Edward Island. Funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of K. M. Jenkins, New Glasgow, with interment at Riverside.

MRS. JOHN MacKINLAY

The funeral of the late Mrs. John MacKinlay took place from her residence, North River on Thursday, May 31st. A large number of people were in attendance.

The services at the house and grave were conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. R. MacWalker of North River Baptist Church. The pall bearers were Messrs. Mack MacPhail, Moses Byrne, John L. Moreside, Hugh Walker, Garfield Warren, and Harry Scott. Interment was in Highfield Cemetery.

Floral tributes were: Pillow—The Family. "Sheaf of Roses"—Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moreside. Crescent—Rev. R. W. and Mrs. Cooper, and daughter Elizabeth. Spray—Miss Lily B. Aitken. Cross—Misses May, Della and Eva Moreside. Spray—F. W. Godfrey and J. H. Campbell. Wreath—Neil and Mary. Mr. N. D. McLean was funeral director.

MRS. MALCOLM A. McDONALD.

On May 18, 1928, in the sixty-eighth year of her age, Margaret Martin, wife of Malcolm A. McDonald, Elder, Lyndale, died in Prince Edward Island Hospital, after several weeks of illness. Mrs. McDonald was a native of Grandview, and in her early years taught school. In 1884 she was married, and all her life lived in her home at Lyndale. There were born to Mr. and Mrs. McDonald eleven children, five sons and six daughters, all of whom, except one son, were present at their mother's funeral. Six years ago, for the first and only time, at a family reunion all the family were together. Mrs. McDonald's life seemed moulded to the ideal presented in Proverbs, Chapter thirty-one. Her Bible was her companion and guide. True of her it can be said, "Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband, also, and he praiseth her." Quiet, industrious, wise in word and action, she exerted a strong influence, putting the impress of her own character on all in her home, and making all who came in contact with her feel the power of a large and loving heart. In her home all were made to feel at home, and many knew the home of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, as evidenced by the number who on the day of the funeral were present to show their regards, many coming long distances.

Mrs. McDonald's labors were not confined to her home. With her husband she took deep interest in the welfare of the community and the work of the church. Teacher in Sunday School, active worker in Women's Missionary Society, and Ladies Aid, she could always be depended on to lead and do her part. Truly, she was good and faithful, and hers is the crown of righteousness.

The remains were taken to her home from where on May 22, after a short service of worship they were taken to the Valleyfield church. The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. A. McEellan. There were nearly three hundred present who came to show their respect for the departed one. Her body was laid to rest in Valleyfield cemetery. She rests from her labors and her works do follow her. The sincere sympathy and prayers of many are with her family in their heavy loss.

Surviving her are her husband and children, Martin and Sarah at home; Belle, Margaret, Lexie, Catherine and Ella in Boston, Dan and John in Michigan; Alex. in Washington, and John A. in Lyndale. One brother, Dr. M. Martin, Grandview, and two sisters, Mrs. Matheson, Vancouver, and Miss McLeod, Salmon Arm, B.C., survive.

JOHN AUSTIN CAMERON

One of the largest and one of the saddest funerals took place in the sunshine of Tuesday afternoon, May 29th, at Hampton. The death of John Austin Cameron, commonly known and saluted as Jack, while participation for some time was nevertheless keenly felt by all. The sympathy of friends, relatives and neighbors was expressed by the largeness of the crowd that gathered to take part in the service held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cameron.

Jack, who was born on the 5th of December, 1904, died in the Charlottetown Hospital on Sunday, May 27th, at 1.45 p.m.

During his twenty-three years of life, perhaps only seven or eight of them could be called years of real moisture.

Saskatchewan generally did not fare as well although most points were visited by showers which relieved the anxiety which was being felt. Areas around Saskatoon, Rose-town and Conquest, in Saskatchewan, and the Southern part of Alberta, could do with more rain though there is no present danger from lack of moisture. Warm bright weather succeeded the rains furnishing ideal growing conditions generally and general outlook at the moment is highly satisfactory and a tone of optimism is present in all reports throughout the West.

Last Fall, beginning again at the knee, the constitutional malady from which he suffered, spread through his whole system. Treatment at the Hospital from Dec. 29th to March 14th, and again from May 18th to 27th, proved ineffective. Loving care at home and personal desires to live on, could not ward off the seemingly inevitable, and after weeks and months and years of pain and suffering he passed willingly at last to his rest. His patience and cheerful disposition through all his pain were the admiration of all, and his smile always repaid any effort to add to his comfort.

The whole community sympathizes with the family in their loss and especially with the parents whose hopes and plans centred around their only son, and who in these days of falling strength and shortening years have loneliness in store for them.

The obsequies were in the hands of Mr. Percy Dawson, of Crapaud, and the funeral service was conducted by the Rev. George F. Sears, of Hampton. The pall-bearers were all school fellows of the deceased, and were the following: Frank Myers, Raymond Myers, Milton Ferguson, Victor (Will) Ferguson, Edwin Ferguson and Gordon Villett.

The casket bore a pillow of roses, lilies and carnations from the family and flowers from Mrs. Ross Boulter, Mrs. Annie Knox, Mrs. E. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Warne, of Charlottetown, and Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert Howatt, of Charlottetown.

Thus has passed another young life from our midst, leaving to mourn their loss, his parents, Thomas and Louisa Cameron, and six sisters, Blanche, Mrs. James Littlejohn, of Moncton; Bertha, Mrs. Joseph Trowsdale, of Crapaud; Mildred, Mrs. Earle Harrington, of Triconderoga, N. Y.; Rhoda, Mrs. Eric Lowther, of Crapaud, and Reatha and Louise at home. Patriot please copy.

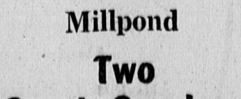

Fine Outlook For Western Crop

MONCTON, June 5.—With the exception of a few localities in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta, the West benefited from rain during the past week and crop conditions are brighter than they have been at this period for some years, according to the fifth weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railway in Northern Alberta, and over the whole of Manitoba, the rainfall was heavy thoroughly meeting urgent requirements and building up a valuable reserve of itchy eczema on baby's face. Broke out in Watery Pimples. Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out in watery pimples on my baby's face. It itched and burned so badly that she scratched, and her face was covered with sore eruptions. When she scratched the eruptions they used to bleed something dreadful. She used to fret and stay awake nights. It caused disfigurement for a while. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and in five weeks she was completely healed."
