Dr. Moffatt's Revised Version

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The revised version of the Old Testament translated by Dr. James Moffatt of Glasgow, which created some comment on its publication in London, has just been published here, and is the cause of much interest.

would give no complete picture of the work, as isolated examples lack the characteristic tone of the whole. One change worthy of note is that from "God's covenant" with Noah into a "compact" in the Moffatt version.

WINTER RACING CLUBS. - The racing men and speed colt owners of Kensington and London propose to form a racing club for the coming winter, which will be a revival of the New London racing club which functioned strong some years ago, and helped materially to develop such racers as Queen Catherine, Happy George, Keemah Aubrey and many others. There is a number of Captain Aubrey and Laocopia colts in the near vicinity, some one of which is liable to be a "phenom." W. B. McArthur, Kensington, has a four year old Dunholm colt from Baby Logan, which looks good. It is proposed to hold the club organization meeting at the Brunswick Hotel, Kensington on Monday evening, Dec. 22. All race horse owners of New London and other contiguous districts are cordially invited to attend. For other information phone Layton Rogers, Kensington. K

SEE THE BEAUTIFUL Caron one hundred dollars from the sale of fowl etc. ARRIVED HOME. - Mrs. Albert Young of Attleboro, Mass., arrived home a few days ago. She was accompanied by her son, Master Freddie, Mrs. Young was called home on account of the serious illness of her aged mother Mrs. Woodley Llewellyn of Sturgeon. Mrs. Young will remain here for a few weeks. RETURNS FROM VISIT. - Mrs. (Capt) Frank S. Robertson who has been visiting Montague and vicinity for the past two months left on return last week to Vancouver. Mrs. Robertson thoroughly enjoyed her visit and besides renewing old acquaintances the few who are left, seven or eight years making a great difference in the people of any community. She also made a great many new friends. Both her old and new friends wish her a safe and pleasant journey on her long trip across the continent. A BANNER SEASON. - The hopes of the firm of Poole & Thompson Montague, that this season would be the banner one in the poultry business, have been more than realized. Besides the regular staff, additional help had to be secured working day and night, to handle the immense quantities of poultry etc., that have been pouring into the firm's warehouse for the past week. The grading system has proven a complete success, the majority of the farmers highly approving of it. Poultry raising is more profitable than growing potatoes as it is not unusual for a farmer to take home with him, upwards of one hundred dollars from the sale of fowl etc. HORSE NOTES. - Mr. Duncan MacDonald of Montague has recently purchased from Mr. Daniel Campbell of Victoria Cross, a seven months colt, (Edgerton Jr.) which in this province, The pedigree of this colt runs as follows: Sire Edgerton, Sire Blngen, Dam Gracie Mack, Sire Parkside, Sire Hernandez. Such a pedigree as this speaks for itself where speed is concerned. Horsemen from all over the country have been visiting the MacDonald stables to get a glimpse of what is the owner of the trotting Stallion Casco A. sired by Blngen. As a horseman Mr. MacDonald's rise has been rapid, and his untiring efforts to raise the standard of our Island horses, merits the highest praise. A CONTEMPTIBLE THEFT. - There may be honor among thieves, but not among the class of thieves we have in Montague for the Kings County enjoys the distinction of being the scene of what is undoubtedly one of the meanest acts of thieving ever committed in any community. About two weeks ago an aged and very respectable woman resident of the town, ordered her winter's supply of coal. As the loads arrived and were dumped she managed to shovel the coal into the cellar herself, until the last load when she was so tired
