Smith-MacKenzie Wedding

Miss Louise MacKenzie, daughter of Mr. Daniel MacKenzie and the late Mrs. MacKenzie of Lynn, N. B., and Mr. Milton Smith, son of Mr. William C. Smith, and the late Mrs. Smith of Millville, were married Saturday at a pretty ceremony at the United Church Manse, Pownal. The Rev. D. K. Ross officiated.

Miss Annie MacKenzie, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid while Mr. Calvin Smith, brother of the groom, was best man.

The winsome bride wore a blue street length dress with white accessories, while the bridesmaid wore pinkish white.

The wedding march was played by Miss Etta Ross, daughter of the officiating clergyman.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to Charlottetown for the wedding supper. Later a reception was held at the bride's home where many friends and relatives gathered to wish the happy couple many years of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside at Millville where Mr. Smith is a prosperous farmer.

Premier King Spends week-end At Prince Albert

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 6.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King came home to this historic city to spend the week-end with the people who have elected him to Parliament consistently since 1926 and received a warm welcome.

Civic officials and many citizens greeted the Prime Minister when his special train from Saskatoon reached the station late yesterday, in brilliant sunshine.

He stopped for a round of hand-shaking and greetings before getting on by motor car to remain until Monday morning at Lake Waskesiu in Prince Albert national park, 80 miles farther north.

Earlier in the day the Prime Minister told soldiers at Dundurn military camp, 25 miles south of Saskatoon, that volunteers for service in Canada's forces were "seeking to preserve everything we hold sacred on this side of the grave."

Mr. King stood under a blazing hot sun to review a march past of nearly 2,000 men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the machine gun school and the Canadian (reserve) army.

"I wish I could tell you how much I admire you men who have come forward voluntarily, offering your services to your country in its hours of greatest need," the Prime Minister said.

He said it would be natural if Canadian soldiers both at home and abroad felt they were not getting much opportunity as compared to the activities of those from other Dominions. But he reminded the soldiers that they were the support and safeguard of civil government in time of war.

The great service being given by Prime Minister Churchill, and by the British government is possible in part by virtue of the role Canadian army, air and naval forces are playing in an about the British Isles," he said.

The Prime Minister spoke of the complete harmony existing between civil and military authorities in the Dominion.

"We are working together like brothers," he said, and he added that this was the case in the first great war when there were differences of opinion.

"This spirit seems to be forming among ourselves and among the nations of the commonwealth, and among all the nations engaged in the struggle for freedom, one great human brotherhood."

On his tour out of Saskatoon later the Prime Minister was accompanied by Brig. W. W. Foster, District Officer Commanding M. D. 12. Mr. King's party also visited the big service flying school on Saskatoon's outskirts for a brief inspection under the guidance of Wing Commander Bell-Irving.

Although pressed for time at Dundurn the Prime Minister visited the creation huts of the Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army, and the Hostess Hut maintained by the Young Women's Christian Association.

He also visited the non-permanent camp of the non-permanent active militia and small bands with the members of the Prince Albert volunteers, his Parliamentary constituents.

In the 11 days since he left Ottawa the Prime Minister has travelled to Vancouver and Victoria and the Lake Waskesiu area in the eastward swing provides him a chance for relaxation from a strenuous series of visits to military, naval and air force establishments.

Monday will be Mackenzie King day in Prince Albert. Returning early from the lake, Mr. King will deliver an informal luncheon address and Monday evening will give a prepared address at an open air meeting, leaving late that evening for Regina.

Domestic prices, Supply problems Troubling Ottawa

(By R. K. Carnegie)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
OTTAWA, July 6.—(CP)—Decision on the extent to which domestic consumption should be controlled is a problem confronting the government as Prime Minister Mackenzie King completes his western tour and other ministers return to Ottawa from visits to different parts of Canada.

Meanwhile the wartime prices and trade board has taken steps by which it hopes to prevent retail merchants from taking advantage of scarcity of any commodities to realize excessive profits.

The Dairies Board has taken over the entire Ontario and Quebec production of cheddar cheese, all of which is to be shipped to the United Kingdom. The Bacon Board has appealed to Canadians to reduce their consumption of pork products for July, August and September to only half what they normally consume, also to provide more for the United Kingdom.

There is a general expectancy here that steps will be taken to curtail consumption of gasoline.

A spokesman of the wartime prices and trade board said today the board has arranged a nation-wide organization which it hopes will be able to prevent retailers from boosting prices unduly. Reports have come to the board, he said, of rumors of impending scarcity of certain commodities, causing increases in prices in fact there was no immediate danger of such scarcity.

"The Trade and Commerce Department has a network of weights and measures inspectors who regularly call on the trade, and they are co-operating in checking on retail prices," said this spokesman.

"We also have built up an organization of our own to check on complaints and it is making regular investigations of complaints coming in to the board of excessive prices."

The spokesman said the price of meats presents a peculiar problem in some stores provide a much better and more expensive service than others and there is so wide a range in the quality of meat. The board is in fact there was no immediate danger of such scarcity.

With the Bacon Board taking large quantities of bacon and beef to supply the urgent needs of the United Kingdom market there is likely to be a shortage here unless the public respond to the appeal of the Bacon Board and cut down in their purchases, he said.

Packers had advised the Board they were having difficulty keeping up with the heavy demand for all types of sausages and pressed beef.

The tea situation is much improved from what it was two months ago, the spokesman said. Most Canadian importations of black tea come from Ceylon and India and for a time it looked as if Canada would be facing an extreme shortage this fall because of lack of shipping space, and the government placed a ban against any importations of black tea from non-British countries.

Now, however, a steady flow of black tea has been assured and the board was confident this will be sufficient to keep the reserves up to the present levels.

An eager watch was being kept for word of the size of this year's salmon pack in British Columbia, now being put up. Canada had imported 1,200,000 cases. If there was a big pack—more than 1,700,000 cases—Canadians would be able to obtain their normal salmon as usual but if the pack were small there would be a scarcity here.

The extreme drought in many parts of Canada as much cheese and condensed milk as possible, may compel Canadians to go light on milk products, and the worry crops will be short, he said, but over the remainder of the list of goods usually found in Canadian groceries, supplies in most cases seem to be fairly adequate.

Meanwhile the Department of Fisheries is co-operating with the fish industry, in preparing to take advantage of the high meat prices to persuade Canadians to eat more fish.

R.A.F. STEPS UP

Men, women and children cheered the air armadas as they swept over, but waited in vain for the crash of bombs. The planes were believed to have dumped their loads far inside German-occupied territory, because the wind was from the east and over the coast the coast could have been heard.

During the night and early Sunday the main British night bomber force struck positions in western Germany. Meanwhile, twin-motored Douglas fighter-bombers hit German airfields in occupied France.

The air ministry announced that one Douglas bomber runway, searchlights and buildings of an important German airfield. The crew saw the bombs hit and set fire to a large building which was still ablaze when another Douglas started a new fire with bombs loosed on a fuel or ammunition dump. Douglas is a United States-built aircraft.

Magdeburg, capital of the German province of Saxony and site of a branch of the Krupp munition works, was among the targets bombed by the R. A. F. during the night. Others were Muenster, Osnabruck and Bielefeld.

"In all these places," the air ministry said, "considerable damage was observed and many fires burning, those at Muenster being particularly extensive."

The night operations, which also included attacks on docks at Rotterdam and Den Helder, appeared to have been the most widespread since shortening nights cut down raids on Berlin and Northern Germany in April.

The coastal command, with its long-range Lockheed land planes and consolidated and short flying boats, kept up its patrol of the continental coast. A German ship of about 3,000 tons and another of about 800 tons were bombed off the coast of Norway. Other bombers hit barges off the Netherlands coast.

division of Nazi forces to the invasion of Russia would provide sufficient time for Britain to obtain needed arms.

Carries of early arrivals in Egypt included fast new type 12-ton anti-air tanks, which the British forces need particularly to replace heavy losses this spring in Greece and North Africa.

Some of the tanks already have been seen in action. Officials were silent on the results, but the War Department was reported to have been informed that they "did a very good job" in the initial baptism of fire in the British foray last month against German forces west of Egypt's Libyan border.

Armed with a 37-millimetre cannon and several machine-guns, the light tanks are being turned out at the rate of more than 10 a day in a new plant.

Aside from tanks, shipments have included bombers and pursuit planes which already have seen action in Syria as well as Africa, and "abroad" felt they were not getting much opportunity as compared to the activities of those from other Dominions. But he reminded the soldiers that they were the support and safeguard of civil government in time of war.

AIR MINISTER

Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, chief of the fighter command, arrived in Britain newly-arrived airmen from Canada were being welcomed to the work ahead of them. Mr. Foster and Mr. MacKenzie visited R.C.A.F. veterans at their fighter squadron headquarters.

"The men are quite happy," said Mr. Foster after talking with them and touring the station. "Some may be a bit lonely but they know they are doing a good job and all are in the best of spirits."

He chatted with aviators and ground crew men and reported only one general complaint—not enough Canadian cigars.

The new C.A.T.P. fliers who arrived during the last week were the largest contingent of empire flying personnel ever sent to Britain. They numbered among them some pilots slated to take part in night-fighter operations.

Pilots, air gunners and observers poured into the R.A.F. reception depot from debarkation points. In addition to Canadians they included some Australian and New Zealand airmen who completed their training in Canada. They were all assigned to squadrons for training flights either as bomber crews or fighter pilots.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS FOR AIR RAID VICTIMS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the frightful suffering of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all, places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth has presided the use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims."

Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy.

Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date:

NAZIS CLAIM

In a body led the German press to talk about a revolt in the Soviet forces.

"This revolt—for it is that fundamentally—was political and not military leadership," said the Frankfurter Zeitung, "and proves that the deserters made the regime responsible for their fate and were no longer prepared to sacrifice their lives to its inhuman demands."

"The Soviet air force just 281 planes yesterday," the high command claimed in its regular communiqué, "compared to our 11 losses."

(The Berlin radio said this boasted the total of Russian planes destroyed to more than 7,000—about 60 squadrons—since the German invasion began June 22. Russian communications have dismissed this claim with the curt description "lies."

Without a direct reference to the armored spearhead which was claimed Saturday to have established contact with the main Soviet defenses along the Dnieper River at Orsha, the high command reiterated that "operations against the so-called Stalin line are continuing according to plan."

C. N. E. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Que., July 4.—The gross revenues of the all-inclusive Canadian National Railway system for the nine day period ending June 30, 1941, were $7,843,112 as compared with $6,850,140 for the corresponding period of 1940 an increase of $1,292,972 or 19.7 percent.
