Following the signing of the register Miss Claire MacMillan gave a lovely rendering of "Oh Promise Me", Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal party left the church.

The music for the occasion was rendered by Prof. Louis D. Thompson, organist of Zion Church assisted by Miss MacMillan as soloist.

Following the signing of a wedding breakfast was served at the Queen Hotel to the bridal party and their immediate families.

Mrs. Farquharson, mother of the bride, wore a flowered chiffon red and white gown, with light blue accessories and Mrs. Matheson, mother of the groom, wore a dark blue tulle gown with white and matching accessories.

COL. L. H. BEER DIED ON SUNDAY IN 65TH YEAR

OTTAWA, Aug. 25—One of the outstanding figures in militia, government and veterans circles, Lieut. Colonel Lewis Herbert Beer, V.D., Chief Salvage Officer of the Government Contracts Supervision Commission, Ottawa, died at his home on the Avlmer Road, on the outskirts of Avlmer, late on Sunday evening in his 64th year. News of his death, which followed a heart ailment of several months' duration, will be received with general regret, but none will mourn Colonel Beer more than those who served with him overseas during the Great War, and shared with him the work of caring for returned soldiers after the war.

Colonel Beer raised and commanded a battalion of soldiers from his native Prince Edward Island, and when he came to Ottawa in 1921 to assume the trustful office he held up to the time of his death, his name had already been written in Canada's war annals.

Colonel Beer served with the Prince Edward Island Light Infantry in the non-permanent active militia before the war, and he was called to active service after the outbreak of hostilities. He went overseas with the Lord Strathcona Horse, but returned to Canada to raise a battalion of his own, and took it to France.

Colonel Beer was a son of the late George R. Beer and his wife, Leonora Beer, members of two well-known P. E. I. families. He was a member of the Red Chevron Club and was chairman of the management committee for many years. He was active in many affairs in Ottawa outside his regular government work, which had jurisdiction over the disposal of government properties and goods discarded for general use.

Colonel Beer was actively interested in military affairs after the war, and found time to associate himself with the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, in which he held the post of Officer Commanding for the past five D.R.A. meetings.

He was also keenly interested in riding, and was a member of the Ottawa Valley Hunt Club. Colonel Beer was a member of Dominion United Church, Ottawa. He had made his home on the Avlmer road during the past four years. He was known to many as an enthusiastic curler.

Belfast

Prince Edward Island admirers of L. M. Montgomery — and they are many — await with great interest the arrival of her new book "Jane of Lantern Hill" which is scheduled to appear in August, and feel sure they will not be disappointed.

The Inna Field Day on Saturday, August 14, concluded the week and had perfect weather, 64 men and a number of ladies gathered at the farm of James E. Daley. Supervisor E. L. Eaton was present and discussed inoculation of legumes. Other speakers present were Mr. R. R. Hurst, on potato and other plant diseases; Mr. F. A. Driscoll, on poultry culture; and Dr. J. A. Clark on pastures. A few appropriate remarks were given at the close of the program by Rev. Father McCarthy.

Belfast was well represented at the Provincial Exhibition, and all vote it the best yet. Those who were unable to be present but had the advantage of possessing a radio came in second and enjoyed every minute of the broadcast.

These statements, encouraging and gratifying to Canadians, are made by no less an authority than R. A. Haackbusch, Director of Engineering of the Radio Manufacturers' Association of Canada. Not only are Canadian radios safer in operation from the hazard of shock, but they are also more reliable, even in the more expensive models of U. S. make, but they are definitely superior to radios made in the United States, too.

"This rather surprising fact came to light in the course of Mr. Haackbusch's comments on the recent condemnation by Consumers' Research of practically all American radios because of their shock hazard, and upon the fact admission of the United States industry that shock hazard indeed is present in most United States radios. This admission appeared in the form of an article in one of the most important trade journals of the United States, published in New York, which contained the following startling statement: "In concluding this analysis of some of the faults which Consumers' Research finds in the present-day (United States) radio sets, we are impressed especially with one point — the discussion given in their report on the matter of safety from electrical shock.

Speaking subversively for a moment, this writer in a varied manner has been closely associated with organizations and individuals interested and concerned with the safety in industry — and at home. We can state unequivocally that many of these associated with the (American) average radio set that their families were, literally, forced to do without sets in their homes, and to forego the pleasures which were gradually permitted, these sets were so hedged about with safeguards (not put there by the manufacturer) that they were almost reminiscent of a high-voltage switchboard. Not so long ago the metropolitan press carried a story of the electrocution of a youth who, in attempting to remove a tube from the socket — with the set 'on' — came into contact with the tube prongs and some grounded object at the same time. Presumably, the contact with the tube prongs was established before the prongs had entirely left the grip of the socket springs. Such an occurrence ought to be impossible."

MARITIMERS IN SAN FRANCISCO

A grand man from the Island is Mr. Archie Nicholson, native of Montague, where the tide runs high in the river. He told us how in his youth, he used to watch the vessels anchored at Georgetown, situated at the mouth of the Montague River. When the tide was low they waited there, to ferry at a time, unable to go up the river till the tide came in, when they would all raise anchor together and sail up the river.

Mr. Nicholson came to San Francisco in 1893 from Boston, where he had formerly lived. His father was a deep sea captain and sailed the seven seas, true to the Maritime tradition. He remembers having accompanied his father, when a child,

His father was born in Scotland and if common physical traits count for anything, some of his cousins must have immigrated to Cape Breton and other parts of Nova Scotia, where many stalwart Highlanders of that surname are found and the name "Archie" is the most frequent of the given names.

United States Experts Aroused by Hazards of American-Made Radio Sets

Kidnapped Baby Found Abandoned

CHICAGO, Aug. 25—(AP)—Baby Dale Lucas was found alive on the rear steps of an apartment house today just 23 hours after she was kidnapped in a crowded shopping district. The abandonment was as mysterious as the abduction.

An anonymous telephone call to the Central Police Station provided information that sent officers William O'Brien and Ben Smith in a squad car to the apartment building. They found the three-month-old infant, clad in a white dress and wrapped in a white blanket, on the back steps.

They carried the baby to the Rogers Park Police Station. There the frantic mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lucas, gathered her into her arms.

A police department switchboard operator, Mary Ellen McDonough, reported the voice of the person who gave the tip sounded like a boy's, she added: "He said he and some friends been playing ball nearby and had seen someone leave a baby there. I tried to question him further but he hung up immediately."

Mrs. Lucas and her husband, Herman, told investigators the clothing the infant wore when found were new. Detectives were assigned to question druggists concerning strange customers who bought baby food, and owners of infant wear shops regarding purchase of attire yesterday or today.

Captain Patrick O'Connell theorized the abductor was a woman with an "overwhelming maternal instinct."

Kidnapping for ransom was discarded from the start since Lucas, a carpet repair man, was in moderate circumstances.

Bob Feller Strikes Out 16 Red Sox

(AP. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Bob Feller today struck out 16 men—more than the major league record he shares with Dizzy Dean—and carried Boston Red Sox in the first game of their doubleheader in Cleveland.

The Sox came back in the nightcap for a 7-2 triumph over Willis Hudlin, clinched with three-run outbursts in the seventh and eighth innings.

Feller held the dangerous Sox to four hits in a mound duel with Buck Newsom, Jimmy Foss, Frank Higgins and Gene Desautels fanned three times. Manager Joe Cronin, Roger Cramer and Eric McNair struck out twice.

The Tribe's "wonder boy" demonstrated his control by walking only four men.

Challenger Confident Of Winning

(By The Associated Press) LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 25—Tommy Farr, the rough, tough customer from Tonypandy, took a few deep breathing exercises to night and then hurried off to bed early, confident he'll be sporting Joe Louis' world heavyweight crown when next he climbs between the covers.

"I feel confident I will beat Louis easier than I defeated Max Baer," said the British Empire heavyweight king as he concluded five weeks of training for his title bout against the Detroit negro in Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

"I feel better and stronger now than when I fought Baer in London," Farr declared. "and I will hit Louis harder than he has been hit before."

Tommy said his ring strategy was all mapped out and the only thing now was the signal calling him to the ring with the chocolate clouter.

"I'll box cautiously for the first round, size Louis up and conduct my campaign accordingly," he said. "To hit as hard as Louis, one must get set," added the British champion. "I can assure you Louis won't be allowed to stay in one place long enough to make up his mind to land his sleep-producer."

In fact the 23-year-old battle scarred Farr was so confident of victory he refused to go on with his word preview of tomorrow's tussle.

"Read the end of the story in the papers after the fight," he told the boys around his camp.

But if Farr was confident, his manager Ted Broadbribb, was boastful. "I predicted a knockout victory for his fighter within 13 rounds.

"I predict a knockout and the man on the floor won't be Farr," said Ted. "Louis, in my opinion, will not go over the 13th round. If he does, he will get what the horse race boys call 'a place'."

from the Social Credit caucus because he refused to sign a pledge promising not to attack the government.

Along with five other insurgent Social Crediters, Mr. Chant refused in June to sign, with other Social Credit members, pledges to stop attacking each other, avoid acrimonious discussions and "concentrate on Social Credit." The six, including Mr. Crockett and Mr. Ross, were elected directly to Mr. C. H. Duggan's Atlantic Social Credit caucus.

"I am of the opinion that the signing of such a pledge would be a precedent in British parliamentary government as we know it," Mr. Chant declared in the statement.

"We have no former representative government in this province and the best that it enacts are dictated by individualism from Great Britain who have not shown that they hold the confidence of any appreciable number of their own fellow-countrymen and have not been elected by or are in any way responsible to the citizens of our province."

SYDNEY N.S. Aug. 25—(CP)—The league-leading Cape Bay Miners dropped at 8-4 decision to Sydney Mines Ramblers in the Cape Breton colliery baseball league today while Dominion Hawks dropped New Waterford Dodger further into the cellar, 7-4. Ramblers win sent them half a game ahead of Sydney in the battle for second place.
