

The rains came bringing cooling relief to heat plagued victims of Windsor, Ont. But rains were so heavy that they tied up traffic and brought just about everything to a standstill. Subway under New York Central tracks, seen here, was closed, to traffic when it became flooded with water.

Everything but the children were tied up by flood. They found enjoyment in splashing through deep pools covering roads and sidewalks, much to distress of their parents. Miniature cloudburst which flooded cellars, sewers, proved to be another problem for many parents.

IN RESPONSE—Cadet Ralph Stephenson of Jena, La., and his 1950 June bride-to-be, June McFarland, of Yonkers, N.Y., both 24, view some of the thousands of letters from persons accepting Stephenson's invitation to attend wedding at West Point Chapel — which holds but 1,200. It all began when the couple won $4,600 on a radio giveaway program and the cadet, in his excitement, invited the entire listening audience.

Forced to jump when a power boat in which they were going fishing exploded at Thunder Bay, 12 miles north of Fenelon-Quinte, Ont., Sheldon Green, four, and Sandy Chalk, six, are shown with "Peter Smith," family dog. Rescue boat arrived just in time.

Amid bagpipes and dancing girls, the Highland games were held recently at Fergus, Ont. Athletic events, which were a great attraction, were interspersed with music and dances. Popular dance at games was Highland Fling which is being executed here by this bevy of bonnie lassies.

RECALLED—Anatoli Lavrentiev, above, Russian ambassador to Yugoslavia, has been recalled to Moscow. His recall led to speculation that the Soviet Union plans "grave action" against the government of Marshal Tito. However, Soviet spokesmen denied that Russia would break diplomatic relations with Tito, saying a new envoy would be named to replace Lavrentiev.

They had to wait a long time but the eight sons of the Marshall Baltazar family in Chicago finally have a little sister. The three-day-old new arrival, Bertha, is held in the arms of mother, Hope, as her brothers crowd around offering toys as gifts. Boys are (left to right): Marshall, Jr., 13; Robert, 11; Edward, 9; Joseph, 7; Frank, 6; Lawrence, 5; Anthony, 3; and two-year-old Arthur who still wears long curls. Mrs. Baltazar, wife of a band leader, is 30. Little Bertha weighed 6 pounds at birth.

Eyes of the world are on co-ed Mary Lou Barnes, 19, of Columbus, Ohio, seen here in three poses, who was out of bed four days after she was stricken with what her doctor said was poliomyelitis. Doctors who used a drug called glyoxylyde, said her recovery was "miraculous and swift." However, drug is black-listed by American Medical Association. Ten days after drug was administered to girl she was back at school.

W. E. MASSEY, Deputy Provincial Treasurer.
