CINEMA VIEWS AT KENSINGTON — Mr. C. H. Buntain of Charlottetown entertained a party of friends and neighbors at the home of Mr. Tyndal Semple on Thursday night, 17th inst., with a "movie" film. Mr. Buntain being a devotee of the "sport of Kings" it was quite in the natural order of things that the "movie" should occupy a prominent part of the evening. The first picture shown was "The Island Fair" and races. It was a revelation to the audience, all the glamorous luxuriance of California or the sunny south. Beautiful sunshine, people dressed in light summer attire. Two of the most active officials of the "Fair" were seen fraternizing with one another on the streets of the "Island." A glimpse was afforded of some of the most prominent drivers, among whom were Col. D. A. MacKinnon (Heatherbell); Billy Hood, Sydney N.S. (Calumet Budlong); T.N.S. Semple (Plucky Scott); Earl Avery, Woodstock (Bud Wenger); Wellington McNeil (Larkin) and several others whom many fans recall. Among the latter in the toughest race in the world, the "red" test for man and beast. There were also shown of light racing in the tropical coral island of Bermuda, also of every-day life in that elysium of summer tourists. The Coronation film was magnificent. Most likely the audience could not get such a view in the city of London at the time. Truly we are allowed to live in a wonderful age. The most genial of us can enjoy privileges that kings and emperors could not fifty years ago, or less. Mr. Buntain, accompanied by Mrs. Buntain has spent some winters in the south and indulges in his favorite of talking motion pictures. He seems to have the attributes of the philanthropist, in that he looks for no material remuneration save the kind looks and appreciation of the pictures by his audience. After the "show" Mr. Buntain engaged with the assembly in an informal conversational account of life and activity in the West Indies. British possession of Bermuda, which was much appreciated by all. —K

ISLAND VISITOR — Mrs. Charles Romer, of New York, who has been visiting friends in West Devon on left last week on a visit to friends in Nova Scotia. She will be joined by her brothers, Dr. J. R. MacCleave of Digby, N.S., and Rev. G. J. MacCleave of New York. They will visit their old home in Stewiacke and other parts of the province. —S

RETURNED HOME — Mr. and Mrs. Davis Lidstone arrived in Summerside on Friday evening from Wolfville. They are both graduates of Acadia University and intend to make their home in Summerside. Mr. Lidstone is a son of Ex-Mayor Lidstone and Mrs. Lidstone of Summerside and was recently appointed to the teaching staff of the Summerside High School. His wife formerly was Joan Knowles of Kentville, is being cordially welcomed to the town. —S

SPEAKS ON Y. M. C. A. MATTERS — Mr. Harry Ballantine, National General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Canada, addressed the directors of the Y. M. C. A. Board on Friday evening in the Town Hall, Mr. Norville Luck, General Secretary of the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. accompanied Mr. Ballantine. Mr. R. S. P. Jardine, president of the Summerside Board, presided and outlined what had been done by the newly appointed board and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. He then called on Mr. Ballantine who outlined the essential factors to be considered when establishing a Y. M. C. A. He stated that the important thing to be considered is not a Y. M. C. A. building with a Christian outlook, but a man trained in Y. M. C. A. work. An association can get along without a trained leader, who is imbued with a Christian outlook, well educated, preferably a university training along sociological lines. Y. M. C. A. membership is not limited to any one Christian faith and its constitution is so drawn as to include any who believe in general Y. M. C. A. principles. A general discussion followed regarding necessary equipment and costs of operation and maintenance. The general opinion of the meeting was that the movement would be well supported and would prove a valuable asset to the town. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the visitors. —S

DONATES BOOKS — Patients in the Prince County Hospital are deeply indebted to Miss Eleanor Green, president of the Ladies Aid of the Hospital for a beautiful collection of books for the Hospital library. The books include many historical publications as well as light reading matter. The collection is a library in itself. Miss Lavers, the Superintendent is very grateful to Miss Green for her very handsome gift. —S

ACTIVITIES ALONG THE WATERFRONT — The New Northland, arrived in Summerside over the weekend carrying a passenger list of 100 tourists. This is the first influx of tourists to visit the Island this season. Mr. John E. Campbell, agent for the Clarke Steamship Co. arranged to have the tourists shown over the principal places of interest during their brief stay. The S. S. Zenda from the Great Lakes docked at Hamilton's wharf on Saturday afternoon bringing a cargo of flour. The cargo is being discharged at Summerside and the steamer will then go on to Charlottetown to leave the balance of the cargo. The S. S. Marga, which had been discharging 2400 tons of coal from the Virginia Mines, left late last Thursday for Newfoundland, where she will take on a cargo for Montreal. —S

CONFIRMATION CEREMONY — His Lordship Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Sullivan visited St. Paul's Church, Summerside, yesterday afternoon and administered the Rite of Confirmation to 210 children. The Church was filled to capacity with the parents and friends of the candidates. The impressive ceremony was carried out with all the ritual of the Catholic Church. His Lordship was assisted by Rt. Rev. Mgr. G. J. MacLellan, V. G., and Rev. Eugene Murray, Curate of St. Paul's Church. After the Confirmation ceremonies His Lordship delivered an eloquent and timely address to the children on their Confirmation and to the parents on the responsibilities which are theirs in setting a good example to their children that they might develop into earnest Christians and good citizens.

CHURCH BUILDING AT KENSINGTON — Mr. Stephen McAulay, contractor and builder of the new Roman Catholic Church at Kensington, has a good crew of men at work. The building is 40 feet, with vestry attached. The cement foundation was finished last week and the frame is now in course of erection. Everything concerned with the building operation appears to be going like the proverbial clockwork. No noise but that made by the workmen's tools. Not a voice heard above a whisper. Mr. McAulay appears to be so familiar with his work, that nothing short of an earthquake would disturb his equanimity. The edifice is situated on the Malpeque Road extension of Main Street and will be quite an addition to the architectural beauty of the town. —K

Playing At Capitol Theatre, Summerside

NEW HIT HAS JEAN HARLOW, WILLIAM POWELL, MYRNA LOY, SPENCER TRACY

Jean Harlow—William Powell—Myrna Loy—Spencer Tracy all in one picture! There's a collection of outstanding film names, each of which is capable of rulling a motion picture cast in his and her own right. Only once in a movie moon is such a stellar aggregation of stars gathered together for one production. Maitre-Godwyn-Mayer has assembled them for its extravagant production of "Libeled Lady," the new season "special" which comes to the Capitol Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

It is well known fact that when a film company loads four of its greatest personalities into one picture, that picture has what it takes. "Grand Hotel" and "Dinner at Eight" are outstanding examples of star-studded hits of the past. Now comes "Libeled Lady," an engrossing story of an heiress slandered by a metropolitan newspaper and suing for libel to the tune of five million dollars! The move involved four principals as well as the newspaper's managing editor, the girl whom he is pledged to marry, and a very clever gentleman of the Lothario school who has achieved a unique reputation for his unrivaled ability to quash just such libel suits.

Of interest in connection with "Libeled Lady" is the fact that its stars while having never before been assembled for one picture, have worked opposite each other as costars. Miss Loy and Powell first achieved co-starring success in "The Thin Man," and recently created a triumph in the sensational "Great Ziegfeld." Miss Harlow and Tracy were the principals of "Riff-raff."

LEBLANC-CAMERON NUPTIALS
One of this month's prettiest weddings was solemnized at St. Paul's Church, Summerside, on Wednesday morning, June 16th at 7 o'clock when Miss Beatrice Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon LeBlanc was united in marriage to George Clement Cameron, son of Mrs. Cameron and the late Alexander Cameron.
The youthful bride who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of pale blue satin, touching the floor and in pink tullea also made on princess lines.
The groom very capably performed the duties of groomsmen. Beautiful music for the nuptials was rendered by Mr. Lawrence Gallant, organist of St. Paul's who also played the wedding march, while at the offertory a solo was pleasingly sung by Mr. LeBlanc.
After the ceremony which was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends a delicious buffet breakfast was served at the home of the bride to fifty invited guests after which complimentary remarks were made by Rev. Father Murray and Mr. Adrien Arsenault to which the groom very suitably responded. Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. J. Robinson, Charlottetown, grandmother and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Summerside, Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc, Marmaduke and Mrs. R. A. McKenna, Elmisdale, sisters of the groom.
The popular young couple will reside in Summerside where they have the best wishes of a host of friends for their future happiness.

What I mean is this: The less account of the merchant from the non-payment of debts causes the necessary increase in the price of his goods upon those who do pay, to make up for the loss through those who won't pay. You and I who pay for what we buy—and of course all of us here tonight do this—have to make up to the merchant, in the price we pay, for his loss from those who buy and won't pay. We have also to pay for the office force, the collecting accounts, the numerous government expenses—national, provincial, county, and city—made necessary very largely because there are some people who won't do right unless there is a governmental force to compel them. We pay the expense of making laws to restrain those who want to indulge in wickedness; we pay the cost of the courts, police, jails, penitentiaries that are necessary to the enforcing of laws on those who would not otherwise obey them. For protection against ungodliness, even down to the cost of locks and keys, in simply enormous.

TRACES CAUSE OF HIGH COST OF LIVING

not always on the day in which the deed is done.
"But they grind exceedingly small; Though with patience stands He waiting.
With exactness grinds He all."
Jesus said: Whosoever heareth those sayings of Mine, and doeth them, I will liken unto a man that built his house upon a rock. The floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house and it fell not; for it was founded upon a rock. Whosoever heareth not my sayings of Mine, and doeth them not, I will liken unto a man that built his house upon the sand. The floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it. The floods came and the wind blew, and great was the fall of it. The sun of prosperity may shine today, but there cometh a stormy tomorrow, and then it will be seen whether or not we have built on a rock, whether we are going to stand or fall.

No, you can't do the wrong thing and get away with it. "Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap." There is a moral order in the universe, and the moral laws are just as universal and just as regular as the movements of the tides or the sweep of the stars. The distinction between right and wrong is clear, universal, eternal. Righteousness always brings blessing, wrong-doing is always followed by suffering. It would be just as sensible for a man to believe that he can tell a lie or commit a crime and escape loss and misery as it would be to believe that he can leap overboard in mid-ocean and expect the waters suddenly to become buoyant and to bear him up. The moral order is just as real and just as inexorable as the physical. No wrong goes unpunished. Retribution and judgment are just as certain in the moral as in the physical order. Everywhere and forever truth and righteousness issue in blessing; everywhere and forever error and wrong end in misery and death. Paul was correct when he said: "Godliness is profitable unto all things."

According to the latest estimates the crime bill of America is $15,000,000 annually. As most people are honest, it is apparent that the criminals constitute a very busy minority.
Ungodliness is expensive. It is the most expensive thing on earth.
For example, it took the public a long time to find out that the saloon did not pay. We thought it was necessary to the business prosperity of a city. It paid revenue into the city treasury. But when the public began to count the real cost of the saloon, in the form of the loss of the economic value of citizens, as well as the cost of legislative and judicial expenditures made necessary by the saloon, and also the expense of pauperism, mental and moral delinquency, and criminal delinquency, and all the other resulting elements of crime, then the public awoke to the fact that the saloon did not pay, and they banished it.
I mention this only because it is an illustration of my point that all ungodliness is expensive.
Take the world war as another illustration. Whatever may have been the immediate cause of this war its primary cause was wickedness. It was the result of anti-Christian teaching—teaching which was the complete reversal of the sermon on the Mount, and that wickedness—as we all know—was a terribly expensive thing in both money and men.
The man who won't pay his debts is one of society's expensive luxuries.
What I mean is this: The less account of the merchant from the non-payment of debts causes the necessary increase in the price of his goods upon those who do pay, to make up for the loss through those who won't pay. You and I who pay for what we buy—and of course all of us here tonight do this—have to make up to the merchant, in the price we pay, for his loss from those who buy and won't pay. Trees Endangered By Satin Moths

Entomologist, R. R. Hurst, Pathologist, of the Dominion Experimental Farm, visited O'Leary a few days ago at the request of the Minister of Agriculture to examine some juniper trees that have been damaged by the Larch Case Bearer.

It would be possible to control this by spraying, the officials state, but as spraying would be expensive when the value of the trees is taken into consideration, they could not advise that such be undertaken.
When in O'Leary, attention was drawn to the large number of satin moths that are defoliating the poplar and willow trees in that section, and they thought it was a pity that some attention could not be given to the preservation of such trees, which have taken such a number of years to grow, and have such a beautifying effect on the landscape.

The officials recommend as a spray for this purpose, arsenate of lead, 5 pounds to 100 gallons of water, to which is added 2 pounds of soap, dissolved in half a gallon of water. As the deprecation of this moth is Provincial wide, it is urged that every person having yellow or poplar trees, give this matter some attention. It is a little bothersome to spray tall trees, but with small hand sprays, it is possible with a long ladder, to move the can up to the top of the trees and give them a good spraying. Good results can be accomplished with a power spray on the ground.
The people are banding their trees with the object of keeping this satin moth from crawling from the ground into the trees. Little or nothing is accomplished by this method, it is advised. The eggs are laid in the rough bark of the trees, so the banding has little or no effect.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Living of a vital and soul-satisfying experience of God.
Teacher Training Certificates were presented to five Sunday School teachers and forty Certificates to members of the Young Worshipper's League.

The Junior Choir showed remarkable evidences of appreciation of sacred and classical music and careful and expert musical training by their musical director, Miss Vera H. Malcolm Campbell, Mrs. Bar and accompanist, Miss Helen Calbeck. They led the morning's worship of music with Flower Carol Service. Numbers, given with childhood's enjoyment and clear sweet voices, were Chorus by Junior Choir, "Garden of Jesus," "Shaw," soprano solo, "The Original Spring Song Carol," (Neale) by Miss Bernice Ward, and duet, "A Little Seed Lay Fast Asleep," Misses. Aletha Saunders and Marguerite Brehaut.

The evening service was in honor of Family Life and Pastor Denton spoke most appealingly and sympathetically on the appropriate theme, "Home, Sweet Home," basing his remarks on 1st. Samuel 2:30. "And they went to their own home." Mr. Denton made a strong plea for the strengthening of home and family ties, which of late years have been seriously threatened by disrupting influences, as the home is basic to the well-being of civilization. A true home is a place where parents and children dwell in an atmosphere of high ideals, understanding, appreciation, respect, sense of duty, wholesome fair-play and active co-operation, all interwoven with and dominated by a true and abiding love imparted by a genuine and inspiring faith in God, whom all his children lovingly address as "Our Father."

formed a partnership that the future Justice was to call, half humorously: "McInnes, McInnes and McInnes". His wit was renowned.
Practised in Halifax
A year after he entered the firm of Drysdale and McInnes, he was made a King's Counsel. For the next 15 years, until his call to the Supreme Court in 1918, he practised law in Halifax.
To his work he applied the same determination and energy that made him a star player on Dalhousie's early football teams. One of the ablest advocates of his generation, in the words of many lawyers, he became, after his appointment to the bench, "not a Judge but an institution."
In 1921-22 he acted as Local Judge in Admiralty.
Although pressed with work on all sides, he never failed to fulfil the demands made upon him. He was President of the Nova Scotia Barriers' Society for a year and served for some years as President of the Overseas Club.
Relaxation he found in the peace and quiet of a country home at Nine-Mile River, Halifax County, where a stream ran through his property and where he went when the pressure of work became too great.
In 1898 he married Mabel White, a first cousin of Mr. Justice A. S. White, of the New Brunswick Superior Court. One of Judge Mellick's brothers, John T., was for several years head master of the Academy at Amherst, N.S., and his sister, Mrs. Mary Mellick Archibald, was Principal of Mount Allison Ladies' College.

HALIFAX, June 20.—(CP)—Hector McInnes, K.C., recognized generally as dean of the legal profession in Nova Scotia and head of the McInnes clan in the province, died suddenly at his home here Saturday. He was 77.
Death followed a heart attack. The previous day he had been at his office as usual and planned to leave Saturday for Toronto to attend a meeting of the directors of the Bank of Nova Scotia of which he was vice-president.
Mr. McInnes' death preceded by only a few hours that of Hon. Humphrey Mellish, retired Supreme Court Justice. The two had been life-long friends and for years were partners in the same law firm, McInnes, Mellish, Fulton and Kenny.
Born at Brule in Pictou County, he spent his boyhood on a farm granted to his grandfather in 1802 and which still is in the family's possession. From those days until his death, he never lost his interest in the Scottish people who settled in that part of Nova Scotia in the early days.

The people are banding their trees with the object of keeping this satin moth from crawling from the ground into the trees. Little or nothing is accomplished by this method, it is advised. The eggs are laid in the rough bark of the trees, so the banding has little or no effect.

Pretty Wedding At Summerside

One of this month's prettiest weddings was solemnized at St. Paul's Church, Summerside, on Wednesday morning, June 16th at 7 o'clock when Miss Beatrice Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon LeBlanc was united in marriage to George Clement Cameron, son of Mrs. Cameron and the late Alexander Cameron.
The youthful bride who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of pale blue satin, touching the floor and in pink tullea also made on princess lines.
The groom very capably performed the duties of groomsmen. Beautiful music for the nuptials was rendered by Mr. Lawrence Gallant, organist of St. Paul's who also played the wedding march, while at the offertory a solo was pleasingly sung by Mr. LeBlanc.
After the ceremony which was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends a delicious buffet breakfast was served at the home of the bride to fifty invited guests after which complimentary remarks were made by Rev. Father Murray and Mr. Adrien Arsenault to which the groom very suitably responded. Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. J. Robinson, Charlottetown, grandmother and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Summerside, Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc, Marmaduke and Mrs. R. A. McKenna, Elmisdale, sisters of the groom.
The popular young couple will reside in Summerside where they have the best wishes of a host of friends for their future happiness.

What I mean is this: The less account of the merchant from the non-payment of debts causes the necessary increase in the price of his goods upon those who do pay, to make up for the loss through those who won't pay. You and I who pay for what we buy—and of course all of us here tonight do this—have to make up to the merchant, in the price we pay, for his loss from those who buy and won't pay. We have also to pay for the office force, the collecting accounts, the numerous government expenses—national, provincial, county, and city—made necessary very largely because there are some people who won't do right unless there is a governmental force to compel them. We pay the expense of making laws to restrain those who want to indulge in wickedness; we pay the cost of the courts, police, jails, penitentiaries that are necessary to the enforcing of laws on those who would not otherwise obey them. For protection against ungodliness, even down to the cost of locks and keys, in simply enormous.

No wonder you complain against
