ANNUAL MEETING OF RED CROSS SOCIETY

Reports of the Years Work Submitted. Judge Hazard President of the Provincial Branch Emphasizes the Need of Financial Assistance and More Enthusiastic Support.

The annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island division of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms with the President, Mr. Justice Hazard in the chair. After preliminary business the annual reports of the various officers of the Society were read and adopted.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Judge Hazard; Vice-Pres—Mr. F. R. Hearty; Secretary—Dr. S. R. Jenkins; Treasurer—Mr. D. A. McKinnon.

Delegates to Central Council—Miss Carrie Holman, Mr. McCarey, Mr. W. F. Tildmarsh. Judge Hazard in submitting his report as president of the society said that too much stress cannot be laid upon the fact that this year will probably be the turning point in the existence of the society.

The time has about arrived when the work must be acknowledged or it will cease. The time has come for the government or the public, or both, to give assistance. The fact seems to be that unless the lead is taken by the government the difficulty will still exist of procuring subscriptions, and this support should be forthcoming within the next six months.

During the year just closed good work has been accomplished and apparently appreciated by the most of the people of the Province, or at least by those who have been sufficiently interested in the welfare of their children to really understand the nature and importance of the work performed, and instructions given by the staff of Public Health Nurses, who have been untiring in their efforts for the public good.

The examinations of the pupils in the public schools in the Province, or as many of them as could be overtaken, the holding of conferences and the distribution of health literature, have been the chief features of the year's undertakings. These together with the visitations of the homes, and the attention given to the children therein under school age, and the advice given to mothers and prospective mothers have fully occupied the time of the staff of Public Health Nurses, who have been untiring in their efforts for the public good.

From the examinations made at the very high percentage of defects found to exist the call upon parents and others giving the charge of children to have these defects remedied has become loud indeed. Many of the troubles with which children are afflicted, are but slight today, but if not remedied while the child is young are sure handicaps to their future lives, and should under no circumstances be neglected.

The good health of its people is the greatest asset of any country and its promotion should be a first charge upon the attention and resources of both people and Government. Prosperity and progress depend largely upon every citizen of normal capacity being physically fit to take his or her share of the burdens of life. This being the case it is necessary that nothing be left undone to give the child a healthy body with which to start out in life. What is now being done by the Red Cross Society has in view as one of its chief objects the procuring for every child a chance to secure this necessary outfit, by having pointed out the way, and the means to be taken to avoid the dangers which lie ahead, and it will remain largely with the parents and representatives of the people to say what will be done.

Great interest is being shown by the children in the Junior Red Cross and so far nineteen Junior Branches have been formed with a total of 424 members. The Junior Red Cross Fund is all spent on needy children and none of it is used for office or administration expenses. Out of this fund, 29 pairs of glasses were purchased for children who otherwise would not have been able to get them.

Our office was moved in June from the Market Building to the G. W. V. A. building, Grafton street where more suitable rooms were obtained.

In March Miss V. M. Macdonald, National Director of Red Cross Emergency Service visited our Society and addressed a meeting of the executive and prominent citizens, who were invited to be present, on Emergency Service and Disaster Relief. We also had a visit from Miss Jean Browne, Director of Junior Red Cross for Canada. Arrangements were made to have her address the Teachers' Convention. She also spoke at some of the city schools on Junior Red Cross work.

Rafet also is anxious to solve the fate of the former monarch's numerous progeny, as well as that of 20 princes and princesses of the Royal blood. Since the Sultan's flight, the Nationalist Government has been supporting these women, in addition to 100 orphans and many servants. The Government now has decided that these people must shift for themselves.

"It ought not to be difficult to find husbands or helpmates for these women," said a palace functionary today. "They all were selected for their beauty, youth, and figure. Most of them were gifts to the Sultan from Governors of the Provinces. They have matchless complexions, dark eyes, and long chestnut colored hair. ABLE HEALTH ADDRESSES AT THE STRAND THEATRE

Dr. Robertson and Dr. Wodehouse of Toronto Deliver Stirring Messages on Subjects of Vital Importance.

At a largely attended meeting in the Strand Theatre last night splendid addresses were delivered by Dr. Wodehouse, representing the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis and Dr. Jas. Robertson, C. M. G., secretary of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Judge Hazard, president of the Provincial branch of the Red Cross Society occupied the chair and introduced the speakers, whose addresses were preceded by the exhibition of interesting health films. Mr. Jos. McCarey, president of the local branch of the Anti-tuberculosis Association, was present on the platform.

The saddest thing has happened in this province and exists today than anywhere in Canada, continued Dr. Wodehouse. "To think that you have an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis here and that you are dismissing it, and that at the same time you have the highest death rate of any province in Canada from this disease, is a very distressing thing. Do you realize it? You have less than 80,000 people according to the latest statistics. In this province if you spend one cent per head per year for administration of the disease, making special mention of the home plan as perhaps the cheapest and most beneficial of all now in use. He said that tuberculosis is a home disease and once it has been discovered in a family unless means are taken immediately to prevent it, it will continue in that family until it has killed every member of it.

The speaker stressed the fact that tuberculosis is a child's disease and is especially fatal to children of one year or less, and it is here that the important work must be done. It is an established fact now on this continent that practices in Public Health actually have an effect which can be checked or recorded, upon the decrease of incidence of preventable disease and deaths caused by them. It is known economically just how much plant, personnel, and time should be allotted to efforts to control certain diseases. These standards of apportionment for budget allotment, are available for reference, and are the result of observations of expert authorities in conjunction with members of known efficient health departments.

In view of these facts it was decided in one province that the minimum amount which could be justified for expenditure in order to diminish unnecessary sickness, suffering, and associated loss, should be for cities, 70¢ a head a year, and for other municipalities, 25¢ a head.

The same municipality should in keeping with the standards established as referred to, spend at least 15 per cent to 17 per cent of their total Board of Health budget (exclusive of treatment costs) for activities directly applied to anti-tuberculosis work, for clinics, follow-up nurses, records, administration, and for a portion of medical school inspectors and nutritional work.

The speaker referred to helpful methods which are being carried out in other provinces in the establishment of sheltered employment for convalescent patients, mothers pensions and preventorium for children. He praised the progress made along anti-tuberculosis lines in Ontario which in proportion.

The people of Prince Edward Island are very capable individuals, continued Dr. Robertson, but they are very ineffective as a community. Their quality is first rate, but the management of the conditions of living are not so good. We should strive more to become "a community of souls" such as Belgium showed herself to be during the war. We have not yet begun to become

Dr. Robertson Dr. Robertson was warmly applauded when he rose to speak. He said he was glad to find himself once again on "the island". He had come several times on different missions but always with one aim in his mind—the welfare of the children of the province. His present visit was for a similar purpose, but more direct. His purpose was to advocate for all the people, and especially for the children, good health, which would find its expression in good citizenship. He referred to the good work of the provincial health nurses here and to the alarming fact that they have found 85 percent of our school children with some ailment other than toothache. We should wake up here and take the necessary measures to insure your children growing up with proper health opportunities.

Dr. Robertson concluded amid applause by assuring his hearers that the province in its attempts to fight tuberculosis would receive every help possible from the Ottawa office.
