If Back Hurts Use Salts For Kidneys

EAT LESS MEAT IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR BLADDER BOTHERS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. We have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house TO LIFT THE LUBSITANIA (Halifax Chronicle.)

Calamity is the mother of invention. Owing to the large number of valuable ships sunk by submarines in comparatively shallow water near the British Isles, special attention has lately been given by British inventors to the improvement of salvage methods. The present system involves the use of lights to the scene of operations and a complicated series of underwater operations which make the proceeds so costly and hazardous that in many cases the venture is neither feasible nor profitable.

An entirely new method was recently tried, with conspicuous success, on a vessel which has been sunk by enemy action off the coast of Scotland. The salvage boat had on board two flexible pontoons made of special canvas and cable, and each weighing about one ton. These pontoons were fixed to the hull of the sunken vessel and inflated with compressed air, raising the vessel slowly and permitting it to be towed into shallow water for beaching. Each pontoon when inflated is capable of lifting 100 tons, and makers are now confident of being able to make similar pontoons with a lifting capacity of 200, and even 500 tons.

THE BACON SITUATION

H. S. Arkell, Live Stock Commissioner, who has recently returned from trip to Europe where he has reviewed the live stock market situation, has expressed his views regarding Canada's position in the October number of the Agricultural Gazette. He states that the London agents of our Canadian packers reviewed the disappointment the orders for Canadian goods—bacon, eggs, etc.—for which they could obtain but a tenth of the product they required. The unwarranted high price of hogs in Canada during the past month is, but a reflection on the reputation of Canadian bacon as compared with American, and demonstrates the efforts of our Canadian packers to maintain their connection with old established clients in the face of short supplies. Since Denmark, within a year will again be a factor on the bacon market our only security for the future is full production and such a substantial export supply as must command recognition by its volume and quality. Short hog production is unquestionably the most dangerous policy Canada can adopt. This is true of eggs as well as bacon.

ROTARIAN BALL GAME.—As a result of Major Fred Smith's visit to the Rotary Club yesterday a practice ball game for Rotarians was held in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium last night. A dozen Rotarians turned up and under the tuition of Major Smith and Rotarian Sidenius three games were successfully and enjoyably played. The Directors of the Y. M. C. A. have resolved to feature business men's physical exercises and an hour once a week between five and six o'clock every Thursday will be set apart for that purpose.

THEY MAY GET A SURPRISE.—Gee Ahearn, who is allowed to use up considerable space in the Halifax Mail, spouts as follows in the last issue of that paper: The Manager of the local hockey team which will invade Springhill, Amherst and Charlottetown during the New Year, has already signed up five players, and after giving the bunch the once over, I feel sorry for the Ramblers, Miners and Vics on the Island. Talk about speedboys, well this bunch will go so fast that the invaded towns will think that Ottawa Senators are in town.

DEVASTATED FRANCE AND HER POULTRY NEEDS

Speaking at the International Poultry Conference held in London, England, last March, M. Ch. Voilletier of the French Ministry of Agriculture, said:

"In the eleven departments invaded in 1918, whose total surface is 6,876,595 hectares (about 15.2 million acres), there is, from the recent returns made to the Chambre des Deputes, 2,837,000 cultivated hectares (about 6.12 million acres), more or less devastated."

"To this area invaded in 1918, we must add that invaded in 1914, 796,000 cultivated hectares (about 1,800,000 acres)."

"In a study of the question which we published at the beginning of 1914, we gave a likely figure of the population of the poultry yards in France, kept for the production of eggs, and that of young chickens, 65 millions of hens, one million of ducks, and 250,000 of guinea fowls."

"As the total surface of France is 52,952,000 hectares (about 110,200,000 acres), there will only be an average of one hen per hectare. But the northern Departments had a cultivated surface, rather important, in which small and general culture were predominant."

"When saying the figure of four millions for adult poultry, the statement is less than the truth, nevertheless this figure can help to fix the mind on the rapidly with which poultry yards can be restored."

"It is not such a deficit that it cannot be quickly filled, if only the stock was fully maintained in the remaining poultry yards in France. That has, however, diminished by 50 per cent. If we admit that it was previously renewed by a third or by a quarter, a minimum of three or four years would be necessary to produce again in the North of France the previous number of fowls."

Danger! Look with no Longing Eyes at "Other Men's Wives"

That it is a dangerous thing to look with longing eyes on other men's wives, is the moral brought out in this latest photoplay by Thos. H. Ince.

She was as poor as a church-mouse, yet she hob-nobbed with millionaires. That is she nobbed with them until she found out what their game was. Then poor as she was, she beat them at their own game and won the very man—But you ought to see that in the picture to appreciate it.

PITIFUL END TO CAREER.

From a position of affluence, popularity and public service which won him a seat in Parliament and a Knight, Sir Luke White is ending his days as hood, Sir Luke White is ending his days as the inmate of a work-house infirmary in Driffeld, England.

Clever enough to rise from poverty to a noted career, injudicious investments brought him low, and at the height of his political power he was forced to confess himself bankrupt.

He carried down with him numerous trusting constituents, and his liabilities of $135,000 included $95,000 in loans from poor people who had confided their all to him. The shame of having thus wrecked the savings of those who believed in him completely unnerve him. Now he is dependent on public charity, his spirit utterly crushed, and he is one of the most pitiful figures in the north of England.

Born in Deighton, near York, in 1845, he was an office boy at fifteen for a solicitor, who paid him about 90c a week. After eight years in that service, of course with increasing income, he became managing clerk for another solicitor in Dr. Field. In another six years he was admitted to the bar as solicitor, and in the same year he succeeded to the practice of his employer, who had died.

He speedily became known as a local preacher and speaker for a large district, and he was highly popular and successful. For years he was chairman of the Local Board, and then of the urban District Council.

Then he went to the East Riding County Council. In 1896 he was appointed one of the coroners for East Riding. He acted as election agent for Sir Angus Holden, Liberal member of Parliament for the Buckrose division, and when Sir Angus died in 1900 White was chosen as his successor. In 1908 he was knighted.

He continued to divide his time between his attendance at Westminster and his business in Yorkshire, but as he gave more time to his Parliamentary duties than to his private affairs, his practice suffered. The war brought out the fact that he was in financial distress, and last fall he resigned his seat and filed a petition in bankruptcy. It appeared in the bankruptcy proceedings that some of his poor constituents had confided money to him to put into war loans. Friends provided for him for a while.

ing 1,000,000,000. Suppose that in the Summer of 1870 a paying teller had started counting $1 bills. Counting at the rate of 150 a minute, a working eight hours a day, 365 days a year, allowing for Sundays, holidays and a short vacation, he would have handed out his last bill in the Summer of 1916.

BE GLAD YOU HAVE NOT A BILLION.

What does a billion mean to you? Well take the Brooklyn Bridge—one of the engineering wonders of the world—as a basis of comparison. Thirteen long years were required to build it. Thousands of lives went into its making. It cost $21,000,000. Yet with $1,000,000,000 we would have sufficient to build forty-eight Brooklyn Bridges, says the Popular Science Monthly.
