Scores Operation Of F. C. A. Act In Island Province

Following is the text of the statements by Senator MacArthur on the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, as given in the Hansard report of the Senate debates, May 18, on the occasion of the second reading of the statute as amended at the present session:

Hon. Creelman MacArthur: Honourable members, I agree with everything that has been said by the right honourable leader on the other side in respect of this legislation, particularly his reference to conditions that obtain in my own province of Prince Edward Island. Last year I had on the Order Paper a motion dealing with this very subject, but illness prevented me from taking it up. The occasion is not so urgent now, because I am satisfied that the Act will be terminated so far as some provinces are concerned; and I believe that Prince Edward Island will be the first to receive the amendment. My good friend and deskmate (Hon. Mr. Hughes) discussed this matter last year and told something of our experiences in Prince Edward Island. "In the first place, this legislation was never intended to apply to a province like Prince Edward Island. It was intended for the drought areas of the Western Provinces, but when the people discovered that it was a Santa Claus measure it became the subject of a racket. The whole countryside in Prince Edward Island has been stamped, the Act is nothing but a joke, and the morale of the farmer has gone. "We had three men on the board down there, one of whom was a judge. If you read the discussion which took place in the other House you will see that it is questionable whether a judge should be a member of a board of that kind. We cannot criticize judges, but I may say that if we had had a good business man of some fairness and sense of equity on the board we never should have experienced the trouble we had. "I have been in close touch with the administration of this Act from its inception. The administrator of the legislation is Mr. Gordon, an expert financial man, who comes from my province, and he tells me that he has ten times as many complaints from Prince Edward Island as from all the other provinces put together. "Of One Mind" "If I had dealt with this matter last year I could have spoken for an hour and a half and told you of things that you would find hard to believe: things contrary to common sense that have been done in the making of compositions. One of the three members of our board was supposed to represent creditors, but the three members were of one mind—they were all for the debtors, and the situation became such that creditors never bothered to appear to defend their cases but let them go by default. One member of the board, who never had earned $5 a day, was paid $6,000. He was in favour of the farmers in every case. I am entirely in sympathy with farmers, and I know that there were a few good decisions, but I could show you twenty that were unfair for every one that was fair. Yet we hear of letters being received by the administrator stating what a wonderful piece of legislation this is, and that its operations should be expanded. Even now, in another place, a private member is bringing in a bill for amending this law rather than for restricting it. As was said yesterday by the right honourable leader on the other side (Right Hon. Mr.

Meighen), the whole status of recipients of relief has been changed. Farmers owing money feel that this law entitles them to come and get relief. In my younger days a man who owed money used to be expected to pay it off, even if it took him a very long time, and he had some satisfaction in doing so; but now it is a common thing for a man to say that he is entitled to be relieved of his debts. A big merchant who had some 106 cases adjusted, every one to his detriment, told me he had been speaking with a man who was solvent and in good condition, but who said he was going before the board. The merchant said to him: "Why are you doing that? You are solvent." And the man replied, "Yes, but I have not made any money on my farm this last year or two. The law gives me the right to go before the board, doesn't it? That is the prevailing idea, that there is a legal right." Hon. Mr. Hughes: "Yes, that is the idea." Hon. Mr. MacArthur: "On the board in Prince Edward Island there was no one representing creditors; so the administration became a racket, and the board was known as 'the Soviet Government.' I can tell honourable members that unless this Act is made inapplicable to our province by the first of July there will be a great deal more said about it. New Brunswick does not want this Act and other provinces do not want it. It is emergency legislation, which has outlived its usefulness." Right Hon. Mr. Meighen: "Hear, hear." Hon. Mr. MacArthur: "Just compare the situation in our province with that in Nova Scotia. In that province the population is six times as large, and yet there were not nearly so many cases as in Prince Edward Island." Hon. Mr. Hughes: "One-fifth of the number." Hon. Mr. MacArthur: "Apple growing, for instance, is a branch of farming which for some reason or other has been suffering hard times for some years in Nova Scotia, yet we find that the cost to the country for the operations of the Act in that province has been relatively very small. I asked the administrator how this remarkably good showing of Nova Scotia, as compared with Prince Edward Island, could be accounted for, and he said: 'Well, part of the result is due to Judge Hall, a member of the board. Many a farmer who made application for a composition was spoken to very plainly by the Judge. He would say: "Your father would turn over in his grave if he knew you came here and tried to get rid of liabilities for your obligations. Get rid of your car, instead, and work as hard as you can and pay off your honest debts.' That is the kind of attitude that should have been displayed in Prince Edward Island, but it was not. The three members of the board there would take a stand for the farmer from the drop of the hat every time. So, as I say, proceedings under the Act became a racket. I want to say again that if the Act is not made inapplicable to Prince Edward Island very soon, a great deal more will be heard from representatives of that province."

After 10 months' work, Phillip Osmond and his sons finished the schooner they built in a Toronto garage, then found they had no means of getting it to water. They built it of odds and ends in preparation for a cruise which will take Osmond and his family back to Newfoundland, from which he came to Canada 10 years ago. A neighbor provided means for cartage and the craft was launched in the bay (UPPER). It will be sailed by Osmond, Elzear, 19, and John, 16 (LOWER), two other sons and a daughter, if he can find another $50 to complete outfitting it.
