Did't Get Far On Proposed World Circling Sea Trip

(Special to the Guardian) NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The "Carthage" ("Shark") was towed back to port yesterday. At the wheel, thirsty and despondent, was Demetrios Sleglakie, who quit his job in a restaurant to embark last September 14, upon a circumnavigation of the globe.

In his tiny ship, with a one man crew, Sleglakie had made 104 miles of the 30,000 he had set out to cover. The gulf stream had been formidable; the wind had been capricious; the water tank had sprung a leak; the sextant had fallen overboard.

So the mariner, driven to desperation by thirst and the loss of his chief navigating instrument, had to hoist the white flag of distress. Captain Jack Johnson, of the fishing boat Montauk, towed him back to the berth at the Battery whence the "Shark" sailed 15 days ago, cheered bon voyage by Sigelakie's Greek countrymen who had contributed $2,000 to his round-the-world venture.

"A glass of water," were the skipper's first words as he stepped ashore. Then he announced that next June, when the gulf stream might be less obstinate, he would refill his water cask, ship another sextant and set forth once more.

DEATH LURKS IN A KISS

CHAUVIN, Alta., Oct. 3.—Does death sometimes lurk in a kiss? A few weeks ago little Shirley Drake died of infantile paralysis. Mrs. Christian, a relative, kissed the dead child on the mouth. A day or so later the young woman became seriously ill and now is dead of the same disease that struck the child.

Railroads Protest Amiable Motorists Riding Their Friends

(United Press) ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 3.—Generous motorists who give free rides to neighbors, and strangers who regularly solicit "lifts" rather than pay car fare, are seriously protesting to advertising in newspapers and their cars to offset the "lift" practice. Small city properties are suffering most, Mr. Welsh says. Falling traffic is bound to mean higher fares, if nothing more serious, he insists. Advertising now being used to offset the "lift" habit stresses these points: Motorists gain nothing by giving free rides, and are responsible for accidents to their passengers; free motor rides drain railway receipts and compel curtailment or abandonment of service; curtailment or abandonment of service affects property values first, and many motor car owners own property; many persons solicit free rides solely to save car fare.

"The cold facts are that kind-hearted motor car owners unthinkingly are helping to drive small electric railway properties to the wall by their misdirected generosity," Mr. Welsh continued. "The association is in contact with virtually every electric railway in the United States and a very large majority of them say great inroads are being made on their receipts by the free ride practice. Two classes of persons are preying on the motor car owner in this connection. They are neighbors who just fall into the habit of riding downtown with him, and the out-and-out ride panhandler who waits along the roadside and openly solicits free rides. The motor problem is the hardest one for electric railways and motorists to compete with. Motorists generally, most of whom understand the primary economics of business, admit that they know giving free rides is hurting electric railways, but they say they dislike to say 'No' to their neighbors, many do refuse rides to the 'regulars' who hail strangers along the roadside.

"The industry has attacked this problem with display advertising and will continue to do so. We do not question the right of any motorist to give free rides, but we don't think he should enter into competition with his electric railway when he has nothing to gain and can only injure his community by his generosity.

Other problems to be discussed at the convention which will draw electric railway men from all parts of the United States, include cooperation with buses, financing of electric railways, and traffic congestion.

THESE BONDS ARE A DIRECT AND PRIMARY OBLIGATION OF THE PROVINCE OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. Although it is the smallest province in the Dominion, Prince Edward Island is the most densely populated one and proportionately the richest. The soil and climatic conditions are ideal for agriculture. Farming and stock raising are the principal industries. Fishing is also important and extensively developed. The public debt is remarkably low, the net debt per capita being under $16.—the lowest of any Canadian province. The credit of Prince Edward Island is such that its bonds, which seldom appear on the market, command the highest rating.

We offer these Bonds for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of our Counsel of all legalities.

Satisfactory Year In U.S. And Canada Noted By Y.M.C.A.

(United Press) NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Data available on 1,693 Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States and Canada, reporting for the 1924 Year Book and Official Roster, just issued, show the past association year to take rank with, and in several important directions to exceed the record year of 1921. George B. Hodges, who has directed the collection and classification of association information for many years, states that the reported volume and quality of association work as a whole has been the largest and best in association history, and much larger than was anticipated.

The largest annual increase in membership yet recorded is shown in a gain of 9.5 percent. The total membership of the reporting associations is 988,522, of which 244,629 are boys.

A gain of 11.6 percent to 134,977 in the number of men and boys in swimming and life saving classes, and a gain of 10.4 percent to 11,784 in the number of men and boys in physical education classes, are the features of an expanding year in the physical work of the associations. There were a total of 349,307 different men and boys in gymnasium classes, a gain of 3.1 percent.

Marked increase in the number of men and boys affiliated with Y. M. C. A. Bible classes is reported. A total of 232,943 for the year is a gain of 24,000 or 11.5 percent. Aggregate attendance at Bible and religious meetings reached approximately 9,549,000, an increase of 11.6 percent.

Endowment funds increased by 8.3 percent to $17,308,000, while the property debt increased by only 4.6 percent. An increase of net association property to $159,521,000 8.1 percent in the year, indicates the volume of property additions and is believed to mark the end of the deflation period of 1922-23.

In a foreword Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A., states that at the present time the Building Bureau of the committee is retained on some 75 building projects, and points to the multiplication of branch buildings both in large and middle-sized cities and the evolving of building plans and projects for cities or isolated communities of under 15,000 inhabitants. The Financial Service Bureau of the Committee, he says further, reports campaigns for funds for new buildings and for clearing off building indebtedness aggregating over $14,000,000. "It is a striking fact," Dr. Mott adds, "that in spite of all criticism and other handicaps, the associations today are raising sums which before the war would have seemed absolutely impossible." The latest "impossibility" is $3,000,000 subscribed by St. Louis citizens of all ranks and creeds for a city wide Y. M. C. A. development program.

Most of the Y. M. C. A. work in many of the countries of Europe is an outgrowth of wartime activities. In some places the association work has been entirely transferred to national control, American secretaries acting largely in an advisory capacity. In foreign countries outside of Europe and the Near East, the 384 associations directly related to the American movement have a total membership of 125,000.

"The various local boards and national committees in many of these foreign lands," says Dr. Mott, "have achieved such strength that it may be truthfully said that the early vision which commanded us when we entered upon the foreign work, that of developing autonomous, independent, self-supporting movements, is fast being realized."

Business With Russia Found Disappointing By Berlin Merchants

(United Press) BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Germany's withdrawal from the Russian commercial field becomes more pronounced every day. The Stines interests make no concealment of the fact that they have practically ceased all effort to do business with soviet Russia, and have very slight investments in that country. Every day the German press contains letters and articles narrating the difficulties which Germans have encountered in attempting to carry on business relations with the soviet government, and reflecting the disappointment that the Rapallo treaty did not bring the business in Russian promised by Rathenau, Wirth, Meißner and other German political leaders responsible for the treaty.

A German wholesaler who has just returned from Leningrad contributes a letter to the Berlin Zeitung am Mittag in which he says the ability of Russia to export decreases exponentially. "It would be a crime," he says, "to export cereals from Russia now when new famine is expected. There is no foreign money coming into Russia through the sale of exports, and the importation of foreign goods is stopping. Why? Because the principle of the government is that everything needed within the country has to be provided by the state agencies.

"Any foreigner is regarded as an intruder and is under suspicion," the writer continues. "Any foreigner carrying a company invested business deal a foreigner handles $500,000 in a Russian branch. We may be classed as 'speculation.' The natives dread contact with money, have better uses for our foreigners because they know their capital had cannot be kept on Russia as constantly watched. Hoteliers are state-owned, and guests under constant control. Every letter is censored. Russia is a country of dictatorship under which business is impossible."

The writer comments on the retreat of American interests from Russia, especially the manufacturers of farm machinery who had large factories in Russia up to the time of the Bolshevik success. He says America's finance is especially hostile to the soviet regime, and has induced the French to refrain from trying to do business there.

"The German made some effort to gain Russian 'business' the writer continues, "but he is retreating likewise from day to day because the sharing system of the soviet leaves no profits. The only foreigners who work for the future and remain in Russia are the English. Recently a British re-writer continues, "Any foreigner carrying a company invested business deal a foreigner handles $500,000 in a Russian branch. We may be classed as 'speculation.' CRIME GROWS IN CANADA

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The total number of cases tried by the various criminal courts in Canada in 1923 was 164,131, as compared with 163,930 during 1922, says a government report just issued. Of these, 4,879 were acquitted in 1923 against 5,590 in 1922, leaving the total number of convictions 159,252 for 1923 compared with 158,340 in 1922 an increase of 912.

Clynes Takes Wallop At Communist Group

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A notable political declaration has been made by Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes in which he tacitly declared that the Labor party would war against communism, saying "The Labor party has again clearly expressed its attitude of hostility to the communist methods, which seek to subdue all classes by the military domination by one class in each community.

"Any tendency to a revolution in Britain will not come from the success of Labor, but might arise through the stupidity and untruthfulness of those who persist in advertising the communists as a part of the Labor movement.

He added that the revolution at which the communists aimed in Britain more than in any other country would produce such a state of terror and starvation that the starvation would linger long after the revolution had ended.

Scheme For Better Prison Life

(United Press) THOMASTON, Me., Oct. 2.—Every one of the two hundred convicts in the state prison here has taken a pledge to work for the success of the new system in effect this week whereby rules designed to moderate the prison discipline have been drawn up. These rules were compiled by the state prison commissioners with the advice and consent of Governor Baxter. The payment of nominal wages to each is perhaps the most important innovation. The wage schedule is in three grades, calling for payment of 30, 40 and 50 cents a day, with each man to be advanced as rapidly as he shows efficiency. A man working in the prison for five years at the maximum wage would earn $780, of which $390 would be sent to his family or other dependents. Of the remainder he would have $120 for his own use and $260 would be given him on his release.

Prison Commissioner Charles S. Michborn says he believes the better work and increased production will pay the cost of these wages. He asserts that the prisoners have promised assistance in stopping waste adding.

"To show what they can do, they went into the broom shop one day and doubled the output."

A new rule which Governor Baxter said would make the dining room "a place of food and cheer, no longer a tomb," does away with the requirement of silence in the workshop and at meals. Recreation is made compulsory on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. An excellent athletic field has been provided by filling in an abandoned lime quarry in the prison yard. The men must attend chapel services and one night a week they must meet in the chapel for singing.

No punishment is to be inflicted by other than the warden or deputy warden without a hearing in excess of 24 hours at which the person complained against shall be given full opportunity to present his defence. A welfare and Honor League is established under which the prisoners have chosen five of their number, including one life prisoner, as governors to supervise the conduct of the men on the athletic grounds and to appoint the monitors to keep order elsewhere.

The Key To Prosperity An Advertisement to Young Men Carnegie, Rockefeller, Hill—financiers who have succeeded in a marked degree—say that the key to prosperity is the ability to save in youth. John Wanamaker laid the foundation of his colossal fortune with the proceeds of his endowment insurance policies. No other method of saving has been found superior to the endowment policy. It involves almost compulsory saving, yet if taken cut in The Mutual Life with the splendid annual dividends applied to reduce the premiums, the policy is not difficult to carry. Certainly not too difficult for a young man who is determined to succeed. At the end of the term of the policy—say 10 years, 15 years, or 20 years—the principal is available for re-investment. It becomes a partner to toil night and day for you and to help you to success. Ask The Mutual Life Agent about Mutual Endowments For Young Men. The MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA, Waterloo, Ontario. H. A.
