DAY GHOSTS

An old Southern planter was discussing the hereafter with his body-servant.

"The first one that goes, Sam, must come back and tell the other what it is like over there."

"Yes, Massa. Dat suits me exactly, Massa; but if you go fust, would you please come back in the daytime?"

A Modern "Ugly Duckling"

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, April 17.—An interesting little love story is told in the report of H. M.'s Office of Woods on the attempts to establish bird sanctuaries in London parks.

In Hyde Park a gadwall duck turned up two winters ago. It was not long before he wooed and won a young mallard, who took pity on the alien and risked her British nationality.

The marriage seems to have turned out well, for last summer the happy pair were seen on the Long Water guarding one tiny duckling. The intrusion of this alien seems to have been hotly resented by the other mallards in the Long Water, and attacks were made on the young couple and their duckling.

But Mr. Gadwall held his own with ease, and the mallards who came to be rude to their compatriot, who had forfeited her nationality, had to quack their derision at a safe distance.

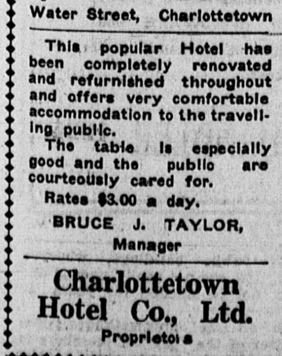
"Back was Very Painful I am now Well Again"

Mrs. Wm. Walker, Webbwood, Ont., writes:



"I was sick for several months with my stomach, I had pains in the back, and how I used to dread wash day, for my back would pain so that I couldn't lie down when night came. I also had gas on my stomach, and my appetite was so poor that sometimes I did not care whether I ate or not. The doctor gave me medicine, of which I took a number of bottles without benefit. At last I started to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and although I have only used three boxes, I am quite well again."

K. of C. WHIST.—About 150 players were present at an enjoyable whist held last night in the Knights of Columbus Home. The following were the prize winners: Ladies 1st prize, Miss Hilda Gallant; 2nd prize, Mrs. Abram Gallant. Gentlemen 1st prize, Mr Jas. Callaghan; 2nd prize, Mr. Walter Perry. The lucky chair was held by Mr. L. Doyle. A feature of the evening was a dainty buffet lunch served by the ladies of St. Elizabeth's Aid.

WELL KNOWN COMMERCIAL MAN.—Mr. G. Lowell Myers of F. McAvity & Sons, St. John, N. B. accompanied by Mr. J. Henderson also of the above firm, have been in the city for the past few days in the interest of their firm. Mr. Myers who is well known in Charlottetown has been transferred to Western Canada and Mr. Henderson is succeeding him in the Maritimes. Mr. Myers was a consistent rooter for the Madison base-ball team any time he happened to be in the city last summer, himself being a former second baseman with the St. Peters of St. John. Whenever he happened to be in the city, Mr. Myers always looked up the boys and renewed old acquaintances and incidentally made new friends. Lowell as he is familiarly known, hopes to make another visit to Charlottetown before leaving for the west, when the boys intend to give him a real good time before saying good-bye. Mr. Myers leaves this morning en route to St. John via Summerside.

ENTERTAINMENT AT EMERALD.—The entertainment and dance held on Monday evening, April 21st, in Emerald Hall, under the auspices of B. I. Society was a grand success financially and otherwise. A short program was put on consisting of instrumental music, solos, duets and a dialogue. While it is unfair to specialize yet we cannot fail to mention the singing of the little Misses Lamb. Those two little girls sang a duet and altho of tender years they showed great talent and careful training, and can we leave out Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean who were so ably impersonated by Messrs. McMahon and Mathieson. To say that they brought down the house would be putting it mildly. Mrs. P. A. McMahon and Mr. G. S. McKenna whose reputation as singers has long since been established sang beautiful solos and had to respond to hearty encores. The dialogues "A Fair Encounter" by Miss Alice and Miss Margaret Deigan was well taken, each showing great ability and cleverness. The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. E. Haslam, Miss Lucritia Mathieson, Miss Florence Power and Mrs. P. A. McMahon. The B. I. S. wish to thank all those who took part and helped to make the entertainment the success it was. Espceially do they wish to thank Mrs. Fidelle Perry and Mr. Austin Murphy who served ice cream and cake during the dance and Mrs. P. A. McMahon and Messrs Geo. Power and Wilbert Lawless who furnished the music for the dance. The proceeds go to pay for the repairing of hall. Much credit is due Mr. Peter A. McMahon and Mr Jas. Murphy, the Hall Committee, for the efforts they are making to bring this society to the standing it should be.

Women Brave Wilds For Art's Sake

(Dominion News Service)

LONDON, April 23.—Two years ago two London artists, desiring new subjects slaled to Jamaica.

Except for a few weeks which they spent together on the coast after their arrival in Jaimaica, the artists—Miss V. W. Jones and Miss V. H. Bradshaw—went separately on their adventures and lived alone with the natives in their villages.

Miss Jones—a brunette with a calm, self-confident air—stated recently that sh ewas "not a bit scared of the natives." Often she would be alone with one of them in the jungle painting his portrait, and he would "sit as though in a trance."

At first they thought I wanted to put the paint on their faces, and they were amazed when they saw themselves reproduced on canvas. They are an extraordinarily witty people, and, while I painted, the onlookers would make uncomplimentary remarks to the sitter.

Once, while staying in a fishing village called Ocho Rios, I became very ill with fever. Three most wonderful black women looked after me as though I had been their daughter, but their remedies were terrible. They made a concoction of boiled herbs and forced me to take a bath in it. It was black and horrible—but it cured me of my fever.

Miss Bradshaw had many exciting adventures, including a fall in a motor-car over a precipice, a "header" from a buck-jumping mule into a deep river, and an unwitting bath in an alligators' breeding place.

"But I loved every bit of the time I was there," she said, "and we both want to go back."

Methodists Require $1,943,250 For Year

TORONTO, April 23.—It was shown by the reports presented at the annual joint meeting of departmental secretaries with the general superintendent, held in the Wesley Building in Toronto yesterday that the financial requirements for enterprises of the Methodist Church in Canada for the connexional year 1924-25 would total $1,943,250. It was stated the major item would be $1,225,000 for missions, an amount similar to last year, although the Mission Board estimates of expenditures had been increased considerably by pressure from both the home and foreign fields.

Superannuation will require $260,000 from circuits and missions and $140,000 from ministers nad probationers. General conference fund requirements are $48,000 as against $53,450 last year. For religious education $40,000 is being asked or $3,000 of a decrease.

The secretaries stated that loyalty of Methodists to the connection in recent difficult times had prompted the boards to refrain from seeking such increases as actual needs would have warranted.

Other board requirements are unchanged as follows: Education, $150,000; evangelism and social service, $75,000 and church and parsonage loan fund, $5,250.

GARDEN OF THE SEA

Oh, Garden of the Gulf, thou art so dear to me;
Thy balmy air and thy refreshing breeze
Blows softly from the water all around,
Where many kinds of lovely fish abound.

It is a Garden full of love and glee,
Where wanderers always find it kind and free;
And many who have travelled far away
Are happy to come back and herein stay.

This is a Foxy Island you all well might say,
For I guess there's not it's equal in all the world today,
It's foxes here and foxes there and foxes everywhere
Till the Island's been made famous by the large word "millionaire."

Its summers are most beautiful; the days are long and fine,
And the nights are more than perfect with plenty of "moonshine."
Our summer resorts are well equipped for tourists from far and wide
So come and make yourselves at home on our fair P. E. I.

Our roads are open every day for autos and sedans,
And you'll enjoy an excellent trip from Borden to Cardigan,
And all the other highways are in first class tip top shape,
So, come—friends—come and have all the pleasure you can take.

Let arms yield to the civic gown; let the laurel give place to eloquence.

Britons Traded With Norway 900 Years Ago?

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Proof of the intercourse existing between the British Isles and Norway 900 years ago is contained in two interesting archaeological discoveries just made on the Bukn Islands, situated in the Fjord of Bukn, about 20 miles northwest of Stavanger, Norway, according to advices here to-day from Christiania. The first discovery, which was made by two laborers at a place known as Joseng Farm, in west Bukn Island, consists of about 320 coins. Approximately 160 of these are of Anglo-Saxon origin, and with one exception were minted during the reign of Aethelred II "The Unready," A.D. 975-1013. Six copies are somewhat crude copies of the Aethelred coins and one belongs to the reign of his father, Edgar A.D. 959-975.

The second discovery was that of a magnificent golden buckle about three inches in diameter which was turned up in the soil on the Nedrebo farm, on East Bukn Island, at nearly the same time that the Joseng coins were found. The buckle is in three sections. The upper surface is of gold, richly ornamented with a design in filigree of Norwegian workmanship. The rear surface is of bronze, and the two are bound together with a thin silver wire. Apart from a magnificent golden spur found years ago on the Christiania Fjord this buckle constitutes the finest example of goldsmith's work of the Viking age which Norway possesses. There is some ground for believing that the design on the rear surface of bronze is of Irish origin. In this respect the buckle forms an interesting addition to the many objects of Celtic origin found in the course of time in the ancient soil of Roseland.

Invites the Prince To Visit Stampede

(Canadian Press)

CALGARY, Alta., April 17.—Mayor G. H. Webster has sent a cablegram to the owner of the E. P. Ranch at High River, who is now in England, where he is known as the Prince of Wales, to visit Calgary again this summer in his capacity as an Alberta rancher. In the cablegram, the Mayor extended to the owner of the E. P. Ranch the heartiest greetings on behalf of his fellow-citizens of Alberta, and invited him to visit his ranch this summer; if at all possible, during the time of the stampede in July.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

To Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Barrett and family.

Dear Friends:—We the members of the Cymbria Women's Institute wish to convey to you our sincere sympathy in the great sorrow which has come to you in the death of your beloved daughter. We cannot understand why God in his love takes so many young lives to himself but God's ways are not our ways and we know that He doeth all things well. It is gratifying to know that she has but a short time previous to ourselves participated in the journey which we all shall have to make sooner or later. There is the consolation that no more physical suffering must have to be endured, that bodily infirmities are at an end, that a new and brighter existence has begun. In time of affliction such as yours we realize that human sympathy is shallow and of but little worth. We therefore commend you to a merciful providence who has said "I will not leave you comfortless, I will come again that where I am there you may be also"

Signed in behalf of Cymbria Women's Institute.

Mrs. J. B. Craswell,

Death Yesterday Of Mr. Fred E. Muzzy

A despatch announcing the death of Mr. Fred E. Muzzey in Springfield Mass. was received yesterday by Mr. John Anderson. The late Mr. Muzzey was well known here, having large interests in the fox business and had made many personal friends while on the Island. He was born about sixty years ago in the state of Vermont, of English extraction. During his youth the family moved to Illinois and engaged in farming. Being the eldest son, he worked on the farm until about twenty years of age when he qualified as a school teacher and taught school for a short time. He then entered a store as a clerk, later becoming a commercial traveller from which position he was promoted to the management, as vice-president of a large hardware manufacturing concern. For years he continued in that position, forced to retire about twelve years ago owing to a break down in health.

His health improving again, Mr. Muzzey took to travelling, making extensive journeys to the East, visiting China, Japan Phillipines India Continental Europe and extensively in Great Britain. He also travelled and visited every State in the American Union and every Province of Canada. In 1914 he came to the Island to look into the fox business. Becoming interested he returned in 1915 and started a fox company. He started another company in 1916 and a third in the following year when he amalgamated the three companies into one under the name of the Bankers' Amalgamated Silver Black Fox Company. He secured ranches, one at Sherwood where he bought out the ranch built by Mr. John B. Roper and another at Alberry Plains under the management of Mr. Shaw McMillan. These he continued to operate up to the time of his demise, remaining from the start in the position of president of the company.

Two years ago Mr. Muzzy's wife died suddenly, and her death manifestly affected his health, which continued poorly until his death. He visited the Island twive a year regularly up to last year, when he did not make his fall trip. When here last he did not seem to be at his best, although his headth permitted him to keep up his business activities.

The late Mr. Muzzy was a man of restless activity. He engaged in many enterprises, some of them proving successful and some otherwise but on the whole, in the last few years, conditions were giving him a good deal of concern. He was planning to make a visit here at an early date and his friends were expecting his coming until the sad news was received by telegram of his death.

The burial will take place in Genese, Illinois, in the family plot. A noted incident about this plot is that a few years ago Mr. Muzzy built a cemetery chapel there for the use of all denominations at a cost of $6,000. Now it is his own lot to have the burial service performed over him there. He was a member of the Congregational Church of Springfield, Mass. where for the last twelve or fifteen years he has resided.

The late Mr. Muzzey was a man of very wide business experience. He travelled extensively and read extensively. He possessed a character of stirling honesty and honor. Where he met business losses they came from a very scrupulous desire to take over every obligation developing on him. Readers of the Guardian will remember the many excellent articles he contributed during his visits here on the fox industry, containing much practical wisdom and business insight. Rotarians will also recall the interesting addresses he treated them to on his visits here. He was of a very social disposition and entered heartily into the enjoyment of these meetings.

The late Mr. Muzzy is survived by a brother and sister.

WONDERFUL WEMBLEY

LONDON'S NEW SOCIAL AXIS.

With the bright light of the prestige of the King and Queen of England shining graciously on the British Empire Exhibition, Wembley Park, only a few miles from the centre of London, will become the meeting place of fashion. It is the royal desire that this gigantic Exposition shall be, during the season, the scenes of such fetes and pageants and balls as the British have never before conceived.

Ever since the splendid days of the Tudors, entertainment in the form of Pageantry, has been dear to the British heart and now that plans are coming to fruition for the most important of Exhibitions, the lighter side appears in all its attractive and traditional phases.

It is the enthusiasm of the King, his consort and the Princes and Princesses, which now inspires society to outdo itself and provide pictorial splendours, that will surpass the Shakespeare Ball of Coronation year and the Harrow Pageant of 1923. Experience is a useful aid in these matters, and organizers, committee members, costumers, artists and musicians are rallying to the cause to give of their best and evolve a series of really magnificent revels.

From the inauguration of the Exhibition this month, when Their Majesties in state will drive from Buckingham Palace to declare the show open, there will be no cessation in especially arranged festivities, fit to entertain the strangers from over seas.

The vast grounds designed by the finest architects, will lend themselves to the occasion of merry making and dancing. The dancing palace, which will be decorated and illuminated by experts, will be the largest ever built and arranged with boxes and retiring rooms in a way that comfort is assured. In size, it will be twice that of the famous Albert Hall, where five thousand have been known to assemble. Every practical idea in the way of arrangements has been applied. There will be dressing rooms and restaurants, so that visitors may be able to change to evening dress and dine in luxury before the night revels begin.

Given so much in the way of material preparation, there remains the human touch to turn the spacious halls into scenes of gaiety and spontaneous amusement. It is at this point that one feels the friendliness of foresight, which emanate from the Throne, and the King and Queen, as the heads of the Empire, are virtually the host and hostess to all the visitors. Their wishes will be observed to the very letter and the quiet British hospitality will be shown by all who take part in the arrangements.

Welcome committees are being formed everywhere, and the chief acting head is Their Majesties' daughter-in-law, the Duchess of York. Already the Duchess has shown her mettle in the intricate pasture of royal responsibility. Simple, dignified and intelligent Her Royal Highness has social tact in a rare degree. Moreover, she teems with ideas and being very young, she is bound to infuse into the British Empire Exhibition entertainments all that modernity and charm which she exemplifies. From her central committee will orient numerous others, all ntent on extending the warm hand of friendliness to the visitors.

In every way, the King and Queen delight in making welcome their guests from overseas and great importance attaches to their reception.

Such institutions as the Royal Colonial Institute, the English-Speaking Union, the Overseas League and others have elaborate plans prepared, and the official British Committees, co-operating with them, are emphasising their purpose in tightening the hands of guest and host.

As the British pride themselves on their quickness to take into their homes, strangers on trust, so will this fine impulse be followed during the months of the Exhibition. And so the study of one's guest's interest and comfort will be thoroughly pursued and appeals will be made to both the serious-minded and light-hearted travellers.

All the fun and nonsense of the historic English fair, magnified into vast proportions will tempt the grown-up into forgetting his years, while delighting the "kiddies". As the very word Empire suggests, the scope of diversion will be limitless.

And so, society will transfer its remise from the reposeful Ranelagh and Hurlingham clubs, the stately West End Hotels and even the drawing rooms of the great houses, to this enlivening Exhibition. Costume and charity balls will be given, to a great extent in the halls of Wembley, and the games and competitions will be played and fought in the giant Stadium.

"Never a dull moment" may well be the motto of this mighty enterprise and perhaps more than any other World's Fair will the tastes of women be catered for. With this in view, the cleverest and most imaginative women are sitting on the various committees and their voices are harkened to, as never before.

New Firm Will Be Boon to Housewives

The Guardian has pleasure in calling attention to the new firm of Messrs. Henry McFarlane & Company who are announcing that the furniture repairing and upholstering branch of the Beer & Weeks business will in the future be carried on by them. The new firm will devote its attention not only to furniture repairing, but also to the transferring of freight and the crating of household effects, besides shipping the same; also the laying of oil cloths and carpets, picture framing and the putting up of window shades and pictures. Expert furniture movers and a horse carefully trained for the purpose are employed in moving furniture and the most fragile objects will be safely handled.

The business will be continued at the present quarters and teams will call for and deliver furniture and so forth. They will hire out the celebrated Hoover electric cleaner by the hour or the day.

Mr. McFarlane has been in the furniture repairing business in connection with Beer & Weeks establishment for the last ten years. He has had a long and varied experience in the furniture trade and can be thoroughly depended upon.

The firm will retain the experienced and skilled workmen of Messrs. Beer & Weeks and it is expected that The Henry McFarlane & Company will meet with gratifying success in this department.

JUST AS GOOD

"You're rather a young man to be left in charge of a drug shop," said the fussy old gentleman. "Have you any diploma?"

"Why—er—no, sir," replied the shopman, "but we have a preparation of our own that's just as good."

LOST—THE EAST WIND

An Irish maid came to her mistress and said: "Faith, ma'am, 'tis sorry I am but I'll be troublin' ye for me wages. I'm l'avin' the day."

The mistress pressed her for a reason.

"'Tis scared of the master I am, he's that quare in his head."

"Why, Mary, what on earth do you mean?"

"Well, ma'am, 'twas yisterday that I found him on his knees. He was peerin' here and peerin' there, and I says to him, 'Kin I hilp ye, or?" An' thin he says to me, he says:: 'Yis, I'm lookin' fur the Red Dragon an' the East Wind. Kin ye see thim anywhere?' An' so, ma'am, ye'll plaze be ginin' me my wages, for I'm scared to stay."
