TO CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Massey have as their welcome guest the latter's sister Miss Georgie Webster, R.N., of Boston, who arrived on Friday to be present at the golden wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Webster, Marie. Miss Webster leaves on return Wednesday morning.

PAINFUL INJURIES—The many friends will be sorry to hear that Miss Blanche Hughes and Miss Muriel Hughes, Prince street, were the victims of a serious accident on Saturday afternoon when they were knocked down by a runaway horse. The ladies were walking along Queen street, near the Bank of Commerce corner, when the horse, cleared of its express wagon, galloped along the sidewalk separated the ladies, knocking both of them down.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. FRANCIS HAGAN On the morning of October 26th, 1936, the angel of death overshadowed the community of Kelly's Cross, and conveyed the soul of Francis Hagan to its eternal reward at the comparatively early age of 67.

Although in failing health for the past five years, he had in his usual manner, participated in the social and domestic activities until two days previous when he was stricken by apoplexy. His sudden demise came as a shock to his immediate family, relatives and friends. Being a practical Catholic he modelled his life on the principles, emanating from the Catholic faith. He was prepared and fortified for his journey to eternity by the last solemn rites of Mother Church, administered by his parish priest, and spiritual adviser, Rev. J. C. Pire, an aid and consolation in bearing the loss of a kind husband and father. A public minded man of industry, integrity, and unselfishness, his life was spent in the interests, betterment and welfare of church, state and home. Starting at the "bottom of the ladder" he eventually acquired and improved by application of his industry, a sizeable property on which, with his own skillful hands, and ability he erected a comfortable and up-to-date home, a token of his love for home and family and a fitting monument to his memory. He was a man of temperance, conservatism and charity, and his fairness in dealings and associations with the public, won for him the respect, admiration and friendship of a large host of acquaintances—a heritage to his posterity.

He leaves to mourn their loss, besides a sorrowing widow, five daughters and five sons, namely: Mrs. Wendell P. McKenna, Enfield, P. E. I.; Mrs. Boyd Gallant, Portland, Me.; Sr. Reta Marie, St. Joseph's Orphanage, Halifax, N. S.; Sr. Anna Josephine, Reserve, C. B.; Mrs. George Cooke, Rosedale, Mass.; Thomas, Boston, Mass.; Mark, Souris, P. E. I.; Mathias, R. C. M. Police, Kamloops, B. C.; Joseph, Kelly's Cross, P. E. I. and Lou; at home. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Pire, P. P., and his moral remains were tenderly borne to the grave in St. Joseph's Cemetery by his five sons and son-in-law, Mr. W. P. McKenna, to rest in peace, after a life of unflinching toil and sacrifice, to await a glorious resurrection. Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. May he rest in peace.

church here has put aside his 36 year old pulpit gown and is wearing a new one presented by his congregation. He said the old garment had served him in United States, Australia and Canada.

Armstrong-MacNutt Nuptials

(Winnipeg Free Press, Nov. 26) Marked with simplicity and dignity, the lovely wedding of Nora Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, to Mr. Erskine Keir MacNutt of Charlottetown, P. E. I., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Preston MacNutt, Malpeque, P. E. I., was solemnized Wednesday at 4 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents, 339 Kingway avenue. Against a background of ivy and cybotium ferns, maiden-hair and standards of Madonna lilies, softly lighted by tall ivory candelabras, an improvised altar was arranged for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. W. L. Armstrong, of Ottawa. As a string quartet, under the direction of Pelham Richardson, stationed in the hall, played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" the bride came slowly down the stairs, who gave her in marriage. Her exquisite wedding gown of ivory brocade satin was made on simple lines, the long skirt flaring from the knees into a wide circular train in the back, which was finished with a scalloped binding of satin. The bodice featured a high draped neckline, and long legs of mutton sleeves slimly fitted from wrist to elbow. A braided tulle of the satin marked the waistline. Her veil of ivory bridal net was caught into a becoming cap with triple satin bands across her hair, and finished with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley, with showers of the lilies of the valley and of maidenhair fern reaching to the hem of her gown. Mrs. T. Bruce Ross attended her sister, and chose a lovely gown of azure blue satin, the high neckline in the front showing soft folds of satin, and the short sleeves were puffed. The back, cut slightly lower was buttoned to the waistline, and ended with a large bustle bow. The skirt, softly flaring, ended in a train. She wore a triple bandeau of the satin in her hair, caught with matching blue gardenias. She carried a sheaf of cream roses and maidenhair ferns tied with illusion net, matching the roses in tone. Mr. Charles G. Armstrong was groomsman to Mr. MacNutt. An informal reception was held. Chrysanthemums and giant daisies in autumn tones, and garlands of smilax decorated the reception rooms and halls. Later, Mr. and Mrs. MacNutt left for Quebec City, where they will spend a short time before proceeding to Charlottetown, where they will reside. Mrs. MacNutt travelled in an imported frock of black wool, made on slim lines, and featuring a vest of black Gaiyak, caught in the centre front with Bacarat green leather buckles. The tone of green was repeated in the velvet Ascot tie. Her hat was a black velvet model with a slight brim. She wore a long Persian lamb coat made on slightly fitted lines, and featuring Bishop sleeves. The slashed collar had fan tuckings. She wore a corsage of Tallisman roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Armstrong, mother of the bride, chose a gown of Coronation blue imported crepe, made on slim lines. The neckline followed the new squared line and was scalloped at the edge, and the long fitted sleeves showed slashings edged with the scallops. A soft girde of Petunia velvet marked the waistline, and her hat was smart turban model in matching tone. She wore white Hybrid orchids tinged with violet. Mrs. Fritz Erzinger, of Ottawa, sister of the bride, wore an imported model of black crepe embellished in a lover's knot pattern of satin. The bodice showed a high neck-line, finished with a narrow collar piped with Coronation blue, and the three-quarter length sleeves were puffed. She wore a brimmed hat of black velvet and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Christie Smith, Toronto, sister of the bride, chose black lace, flowered in a Dresden pattern in tones of American Beauty and azure blue, buttoned from neckline to hem in the back with emerald studded buttons. The sleeves were elbow length. Her hat of black velvet showed a pointed brim in the front, and she wore red roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. J. P. Hogan, Grimby, Ont., also a sister of the bride, was crowned in a black velvet princess model, showing a circular neckline with a yoke with white, gray and black bugle beads. The back featured a deep slashing, and the sleeves were elbow length. The skirt flaring from the hipline, showed a tiny train. Her hat was a black velvet model and she wore Token roses. HEAD OF HILLSBORO W. I. The annual meeting of Head of Hillsboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Lodge Birt on Friday evening, Nov. 6th, with an attendance of eight members and ten visitors. The meeting opened by singing the Ode, followed by repeating the Creed in unison. The roll call was answered by "A General in the Great War", or a "Peace Motto". The minutes of last annual and previous regular meeting were read and declared adopted. The president's address outlined briefly the activities of the Institute last year, and thanked the members and officers for their assistance and co-operation. The secretary then gave the financial statement, which showed a balance on hand of $32.76. The sick and school committees gave their reports. The following officers for the ensuing year were then duly elected: President—Mrs. Gordon Douglas. Vice-pres.—Mrs. Geddie Douglas. Secy.—Mrs. Louis Cameron.

Organist—Mrs. Harvey Douglas. Directors—Mrs. Lodge Birt, Mrs. Thomas Brazel and Mrs. Harvey Douglas. Auditors—Miss Edith Cameron & Miss Etta Jardine. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president, Mrs. Geddie Douglas, and also to the other officers for the past year. Nine members paid annual fees. Mrs. Lodge Birt, Miss Etta Jardine and Miss Edith Cameron were appointed on program committee for four months. Mrs. Gordon Douglas invited the members to her home for the December meeting. Program for the evening consisted of a paper on "Our Heritage" read by Miss Etta Jardine, a paper on "Women Lack Interest in World Affairs" read by Miss Edith Cameron, and a duet "Bonnie Doon" by Mrs. Harvey Douglas and Mrs. Louis Cameron. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Brazel and Misses Gladys and Reta Birt. After extending a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess, the meeting closed with the National Anthem. DISCONTINUE ACTION LONDON, Nov. 27—(CP Cable)—The parties to an appeal involving the validity of the Canada Temperance Act in three Ontario counties agreed today before the judicial committee of the privy council to discontinue the proceedings.

Offers Course In Diesel Engine

The Saint John Vocational School is offering a two months day trade course in the Diesel Engine. This course is open to mechanics whose background and experience make it possible for them to profit from the instruction. Not more than fifteen can be accommodated, and the course will not be opened unless a sufficient number of qualified candidates apply. The work will be presented under three heads by three thoroughly qualified instructors: 1. Diesel Theory. This covers high and low speed, two and four cycle engines including special work with various types of modern equipment now on the market. Instructor, Mr. Herbert Cassidy, graduate of Wentworth Technical Institute, Boston. He has had much practical experience in the Diesel Engine Department of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Fore River Plant, and as assistant designer for Canada Diesel, Saint John, N.B. 2. Diesel Practice. This covers the operation, care, repair and servicing of two and four cycle engines. Instructor, Mr. John MacLellan, machinist and service operator on Diesel engines with the firm of J. Fred Williamson, Ltd., Saint John, Manufacturers of Canada Diesel.
