Rampage Was Short-Lived

CAMDEN, N. J., June 25.—A lad of 10 years got drunk, took his father's revolver, some cartridges, and a hatchet and went calling on neighbors today.
For several minutes he was monarch of his neighborhood near here. Every one hid behind locked doors as he issued threats to shoot.
Then police arrived after a hurried call. Frank Funk, the boy, dashed across a field near his home, threw away his weapons and ran into the house. The officers found him in a clothes closet.
He said his parents were gone, he found a bottle of liquor and drank it.

C. N. R. Official On Tour Of The Maritimes

(Special to the Guardian)
MONCTON, N. B., June 25.—On a tour of the Maritime Provinces in connection with the co-operative system of management, relative to maintenance of way matters on the Canadian National Railways, M. S. Blacklock, assistant chief engineer, W. A. Duff, engineer of standards; Captain Beyer, Consulting Engineer to the American Federation of Labor and George Cummings, representing the maintenance of way employees, arrived in Moncton this afternoon and will leave on the early morning train for Halifax. They will be accompanied on their tour of the Maritimes by F. O. Condon, principal assistant engineer of the Atlantic region of the Canadian National. After visiting Halifax they will go to Truro and from there to New Glasgow, then to Prince Edward Island, after which they will visit Campbellton and Edmundston before returning to Montreal.
The co-operative system of management in connection with shop crafts and maintenance of way employees on Canadian National lines has proven very successful and has been extended to other railway lines. The system was first tried out in the Moncton shops of the Canadian National and the results achieved led to its being adopted throughout the system.
Mr. Manion's address was rich with punning and anecdote, contrasting vividly with the more measured remarks of Mr. Henry, the evening's "Raison D' Etre," but contributing at the same time in no small measure to the enthusiastic ovation that the latter had bestowed upon him by his followers.
Mr. Henry, cautious to the core, as ever, broke no new ground in his address; committed himself to no new policy; in fact, rather startled his hearers with the declaration that his Government's policy for the future would be to guard completely and improve services along the various lines.
Mr. McCrea expressed the honor he felt in succeeding Premier Henry's nomination. He also referred to the record of the Conservative party both in opposition and in power, where, he said, it ably discharged the duty which it owed to the people in all the varied activities of Government. "Is it any surprise," he asked, "that when a new captain was required for the ship of state we should have turned to Mr. Henry and asked him, as the first mate, to take the wheel. He is competent, cool, cautious and courageous. He knows the storms that buffet the ship of state on the political sea, and he is the right man in the right place. The life of a public man is not an easy one. He renders services not known by many and there has been no more able public servant in the service of the people than Hon. George S. Henry."
Mr. McCrea touched on the vast resources of Ontario, especially mentioning those of northern Ontario. "In committing this great heritage, left to us by providence and our forefathers, to Mr. Henry we have been wise. In years to come we will point to this day as one of wisdom in selecting him as our leader."
Before Mr. Henry rose to accept the nomination the veil was dropped from a large banner behind the platform, revealing the legend: "From the farm lands of Ontario and over the King's highway, comes the chosen leader, Hon. George S. Henry, trusted of the people, and confident in the hope of greater progress and prosperity."
TORONTO, Ont., June 25.—When 5,000 people sat down to dinner at the Conservative party convention in the Royal York Hotel last night, it constituted the largest number that has attended a banquet in the

Nurses Graduation At City Hospital

An enjoyable entertainment was given under the auspices of the Charlottetown Hospital School of Nursing in Rockford Square Assembly Hall last evening in honor of the graduation of five nurses of the institution. The Hall was artistically decorated in the class colors of pink and gold. The Hon. W. J. P. McMillan, M. P., presided and in opening the proceedings referred to the advance in the knowledge of preventive medicine through such institutions as schools of nursing and the amount of attention devoted to it in the press. These nurses who are graduating tonight had been studying the profession in theory and practice for the past three years and having successfully passed their examinations were entitled to their diplomas. In the present day efficient nurses were as necessary as skilled physicians and surgeons and the Charlottetown Hospital school of nursing was prepared to stand behind these graduates and guarantee their efficiency. His Excellency the Bishop having presented the diplomas the Rev. George Daly, C.S.S.R. addressed the graduates giving a very impressive message to the young ladies on their entering this the threshold of their chosen career. They had completed the full course and were now in a position to give the necessary assistance in times of sickness, but they must not think they had learned everything there was to learn about their profession. They must continue to be students reading and studying at every opportunity with a view to understanding the most modern way of dealing with old disease and providing continually for the uplifting of their noble profession. The Governments of the various Provinces were becoming more and more strict in regard to public health requirements and expected demand efficiency on the part of nurses engaged in professional work in their institutions and public health centres. It was necessary therefore to keep abreast of the times but more than that was required of a nurse. She must develop her motherly instinct which she possessed just for the purpose of attending to helpful little ones and those who were sick. They should be devoted to their calling, giving their time night or day as required. In addition to the practical work as nurses there was the spiritual side of the profession. It was given to nurses to serve on the border line between the material and immaterial. They should be careful then, and while having a great respect for life to give attention to the spiritual needs of their patients as well. He warned them to be careful in work

NEGOTIATIONS FOR TRADE TREATY

Between Canada and Mexico are Proceeding At Present Time—Sir Henry Thornton Before Committee.

(Canadian Press)
OTTAWA, Ont., June 25.—Negotiations for a trade treaty between Canada and Mexico are proceeding at the present time, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals told a parliamentary committee today. The Department of Trade and Commerce is carrying on the negotiations which were opened by a high official of the Mexican Government, approaching Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways.
Would Sell Fleet
OTTAWA, Ont., June 25.—Canada should sell its merchant marine fleet, Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways today recommended to the Parliamentary committee on railways and shipping. Abandonment of all routes excepting those to the West Indies would be the only feasible financial alternative. Millions of dollars had been lost in the past. The boats were antiquated and uneconomical to operate and Sir Henry thought it would be cheaper to tie them up at once, rather than continue their operation.
The fleet consists of thirty vessels, which operate on both the Atlantic and the Pacific, running to South America, Australia, New Zealand, the West Indies and in coastal trade.
Any decision to abandon the fleet really would be made by the Government, said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. The recommendation, however, was welcomed. The committee took no definite action, but possibly may do so at a later meeting this afternoon. There was no suggestion of discontinuing the West Indies service, which is separate from the merchant marine, it was explained.
The West Indies service consists of twelve boats, including the five "Lady" ships. In fact Canada has treaty obligations to continue them.

Fliers Exhausted After Long Hop Over Atlantic

Second Pair of Aviators to Cross Ocean In Two Days, Bring Their Plane "Liberty" Down At Bremen, Germany Last Night at 9.40 After 32 Hours In The Air.

(Canadian Press)
BREMEN, Germany, June 25.—Otto Hillig and Holger Holris, the second pair of American trans-Atlantic fliers to land in Germany in two days, came down at Bremen at 9.40 o'clock tonight, 240 miles short of Copenhagen, the goal of their flight across the ocean.
They were utterly exhausted and Holris was on the verge of collapse from the strain of keeping the ship aloft for thirty-two hours and more. Hillig, after a telephone conversation with the chairman of the reception committee awaiting them at Copenhagen, wanted to go on to Denmark with another pilot who knew the way, but Holris insisted he would be able to start in the morning, so both fliers went to bed, leaving orders that they were not to be disturbed.
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 25.—Otto Hillig, who landed with Holger Holris at Bremen, Germany tonight in the trans Atlantic monoplane "Liberty" telephoned to the airport here that he would continue to Copenhagen immediately, arriving probably between one and two a. m.
