ARBITRATION PACTS MAY BE AMENDED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10.—Friends of the British and French arbitration treaties in the Senate have reached the conclusion that it will be necessary to amend the conventions in order to get favorable action upon them.

This conclusion is the result of the consideration of the documents by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which has taken them up in vigorous fashion.

No effort was made to have the treaties reported and it became extremely doubtful to some of the administration whether such a course would be wise at the present time.

Despite all these objections it became evident, however, that the power conferred upon the Joint Commission is the only real obstacle to early action.

Several Senators expressed unalterable opposition to this provision and that the paragraph should be eliminated, or at least materially modified.

No motion was made to this effect, but if there had been a vote it probably would have carried.

The magnitude of the extent of this criticism will be brought to the President's attention and some Senators will urge the cancellation of the provision.

NO PUPPET PEERS ARE NOW NEEDED

Since Veto Bill Has Passed, People's Will Has Prevailed, Will Prevail

SPECIAL TO THE GUARDIAN. LONDON, Aug. 11.—There will be no creation of "puppet Peers," as the four or five hundred noble Lords in posse, whom the Liberal Government would have created had the Parliament Bill been rejected by the Upper House last night, were dubbed by the Unionists.

When their strength came to a test of votes the No-Surrenderites were found to be less numerous than they claimed to be.

This in view of the Liberals the will of the people has been made to prevail.

SPECIAL TO THE GUARDIAN. LONDON, Aug. 11.—Premier Asquith's Government last night enforced its will upon the Peerage by a narrow vote of 131 to 114.

By this vote the House of Lords decided to accept what the Liberals contend is the will of the people, and adopted Viscount Morley's motion not to insist on the Lords' amendment to the Parliamentary Bill, which practically limits the power of the House of Lords to a two year suspensory vote, and vastly increased the prerogatives of the House of Commons.

The great constitutional struggle which began when the house of lords nearly two years ago, rejected the budget of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, is ended for a time, at least, with the great change to Great Britain's working constitution since the passage of the reform bill, the process of voting consumed nearly an hour and the result trembled in the balance until the last moment.

The "die-hards" mustered greater strength than the prophets anticipated and the experiment owes its victory to the votes between 20 and 30 conservatives who threw in their lot with the liberals to save their own caste from loss of prestige by a great increase in its numbers and the king from the necessity of the exercise of the royal prerogative, from which every one believes he was most anxious to be saved.

The Archbishop of Canterbury and York and nine bishops also lined up with the government, also the ecclesiastical lords generally kept aloof from party questions. The bishops of Bangor and Worcester went with the Halsburyites, "the last ditchers."

It was noticeable that the highest level supporters of the government, The Duke of Norfolk, Leeds, Marlborough, Newcastle, Northampton, Somerset and Westminster voted with the opposition, while the remainder abstained from voting.

When the voting began a thrill of excitement marked the appearance of each notable, but none was greater than when Lord Rosebery appeared as a supporter of the government.

As soon as the result was known several members of the house of commons rushed from the galleries and into their own chambers and whispered the news to the members. A great cheer followed, the announcement of the government's victory.

The question of the hour is what effect to-night's decision will have upon the future fortunes of the conservative party. Viscount Morley's definite announcement that enough peers would be created permanently to swamp the upper house if the government did not prevail apparently swayed a few waverers and decided the issue.

By the Laws, Says Steel Magnate Perkins. Financier Frick is Retiring

SPECIAL TO THE GUARDIAN. WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Geo. W. Perkins, financier and director of the United Steel Corporation, made some striking recommendations today with reference to the Government's control of corporations before the House Steel Trust investigating committee.

He declared that existing laws were seriously threatening the big business interests and their rigid enforcement was rendering it impossible for corporations to continue operations in conformity with the statutes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The resignation of Henry Frick from the directorate of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. was announced.

It is understood that he will also retire from other large corporations with which he has been prominently identified for many years, including the United States Steel Corporation.

THE POPE'S CONDITION IS SLIGHTLY BETTER

ROME, August 10.—Dr. Petacci and Professor Marchia Fava visited Pope Pius early today and found his general condition improved. This was attributed to the removal of the patient from his usual small bed chamber to more spacious quarters which, according to the pontiff's own expression, affords him the feeling of being in the open air. The walls of the room are twenty feet high.

The pope was somewhat worried over the illness of his sister, Rosa, who suffered from the effects of the unusually hot weather. He asked Dr. Petacci to visit her. The other two sisters, Anna and Marie, and the pope's niece, Gilda, are caring for both patients, and frequently went from one to the other throughout the day.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, who went to his summer residence at Monte Mario late yesterday, returned today, not wishing to be long absent from the Vatican while in the present condition of the pope continues. Despite his illness, his holiness today ratified the decision of the consistorial congregation presented by Secretary Cardinal De Lai, making several American appointments.

The efforts of the physicians now will be toward restoring fully the strength of the pope fearing that otherwise there may be a fresh complication of the throat and bronchial troubles.

Eight years ago yesterday great throngs gathered at the vatican to meet the venerate and newly-elected pontiff at the moment of his coronation. Yesterday, however, owing to the illness of the pope only a few of the cardinals, the members of the diplomatic corps and members of society were present in the stately chapel, where mass was said in honor of the anniversary. Prostrate on his bed of sickness, the pope is reported to have said, that the absent he was there in spirit.

A light operation on the pope's knee may be necessary.

SHARK SHOT AT HORTON LANDING

KENTVILLE, August 9.—While engaged in work on the new railway bridge over the Gasperau river at Horton Landing today, the workmen noticed a shark passing underneath. Frightened by the noise he dashed to one side of the river and for a time became stuck in the mud. Procuring a gun they fired three shots, all of which took effect. He sank to the bottom dead, but was not held when the tide went down, and is now on exhibition on the station house platform.

It is about eight feet long and weighs about 400 pounds. It is worthy of note that several sharks have recently been seen around the coast of Kings county.

It has been suggested that they are the advance guard of Mr. Taft's reciprocity and are looking for Canadian raw materials.
