Summerside's new radio station CJRW, owned and operated by the Gulf Broadcasting Co. Ltd., was officially opened last evening by His Honor Lieutenant Governor J. A. Bernard and a lengthy program of studio entertainment was given, including transcribed contributions of a station from other Maritime stations.

Mr. Harold E. Gaudet, president of Gulf Broadcasting Co. Ltd., made a few introductory remarks and introduced Lieutenant Governor Bernard who expressed his pleasure at being present at the inauguration of this station, which is a milestone in the progress and development of the community. He referred to the important role played by radio in community life and said that public service broadcasts have an important part in the day-to-day activities of a station.

"The history of radio is one of the most remarkable stories in the annals of science and few sciences can claim more rapid growth and gigantic strides in development than radio," His Honor said. He congratulated the shareholders and directors of Gulf Broadcasting Co. Ltd. on their initiative in providing Summerside and the surrounding districts with a radio station of the calibre of CJRW.

He declared CJRW officially open and wished it much success. Mr. Gaudet in opening the program referred to recent evidences of progress in the Town and said that the new radio station would be another asset to the community. He felt that a great deal of credit was due to the business men of Summerside and the surrounding area who have made possible this new station with its benefits to the community. He outlined the careful planning that was necessary to bring the new station into being and said that the studio would be open to visitors at any time.

"We have secured the best equipment obtainable and propose to supply listeners with the finest entertainment possible" he said. Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, M. P., parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Fisheries said that a broadcasting station is an important institution in the life of a community and can play an important part in its development. It also has a great responsibility and he felt sure that the management of CJRW was aware of that responsibility and will live up to the great traditions of broadcasting. He concluded by offering his best wishes for the success of the station.

Acting Mayor Henry Wedge expressed the pleasure that the people of the Town feel at having His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor in their midst. "A new radio station for Summerside, this is surely good news," he said. He wished the shareholders and directors of Gulf Broadcasting Co. Ltd. every success and congratulated them on providing this important service to the community. "We shall be ready to do what we can to make this new venture a complete success," he said. He hoped it would be a credit to the western Capital and that the gentlemen of Gulf Broadcasting Co. would be proud of it.

Domestic Science Dept. Opens At S'side High School

At the Summerside High School auditorium yesterday afternoon a large representation of parents was present at the official opening of the domestic science department. The guest speaker, Dr. L. Shaw, LL.D., Director of Education, was introduced by Mr. Clarence Mercer, superintendent, who reminded those present that this was Education Week in the school to Mercer likened the school to a producing plant because, as he said, "we are producing something for the market, that product being the individual boy or girl in the school. Like any other business, once in a while we like to demonstrate our wares." Mr. Mercer called the attention of his audience to the display of handicraft which lined the four sides of the auditorium, a visual demonstration of the creative talents of the boys and girls of all the different grades in the school.

Dr. Shaw said that here in Summerside School Mr. Mercer and his staff and the Home and School Group, have started something, and today parents have come to see what has been done. "We are all familiar," he said, "with the conventional class room, the class room which of course must never be discarded, but somewhere we have got hold of the idea of an all around education and Summerside School has started something to develop this education idea. Here in this auditorium" he continued, "you see the evidence of the creative talents of the pupils of the school are displayed were viewed with amazement by the large number of visitors. Although space does not permit an outline of the displays, each and every grade have submitted something of a highly constructive nature. There one may see models made by the pupils depicting the history of transportation on land, sea and air. A replica of Summerside harbor complete with shore outline, wharves, lighthouse, Holman's Island, etc., brought most favorable comment. Huge maps of the world, Prince Edward Island and the United States are on display which are actually professional in appearance. On the large auditorium stage the artistic creations of the Junior grades are shown and although the general excellence of the work would make individual mention unfair, the still portrait of Indian life by Master D. Lidstone, age 10 years, showed talent far beyond his years.

The Superintendent, Mr. Mercer, cordially invited the general public to visit the school auditorium during the balance of the week to view these exhibits and see for themselves the work that is being done to foster the varied talents of the boys and girls attending.—S.

Dr. Shaw reminded those present that they were gathered together for a more or less informal opening of the domestic science department, where pupils will be taught homemaking. He pointed to this department as an example of the school working together in one great process.

The domestic science department will be in charge of Miss Ruby McNeill, daughter of Dr. John F. McNeill, Summerside. Miss McNeill was formerly of Macdonald College, Quebec. Last September she received her Degree of Master of Science from McGill University.

Parents and visitors were served a most delicious buffet lunch in the domestic science room and after a visit to the manual training room where pupils so inclined may demonstrate their planning ability, the visitors viewed the many exhibits in the auditorium, which will be on display for the balance of the week.
