Lucky Winner

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 1.—Christopher Melghan, of Toronto, started suit at Osgoode Hall today against Mrs. Grant Longman. As a "first informer" he seeks forfeiture of all property which might become Mrs. Longman's by lottery.

This forfeiture, plaintiff says, is asked upon any ticket or mode of chance on the Irish Free State hospital sweepstakes, known as the Manchester handicap. The action is brought under section 236 of the criminal code.

Mrs. Grant Longman held a ticket on North Drift, winner of the Manchester November handicap, run Saturday. Mrs. Longman was in Cleveland when she heard of her good fortune and left for Toronto yesterday morning. Her ticket will bring her $125,000. Mrs. Longman said today the ticket was bought for her by her father, who lives in London, England. She was uncertain of the amount she would receive and stated her father bought the ticket in her name because she was "lucky" as a child at church bazaars and similar affairs. Her father would look after everything, she said.

Melghan is unknown to Mrs. Langton.

MEALHON—The Boston Globe says that James McDonald, a Prince Edward Island horse fancier, who had been visiting his son, George, in Newton, has returned home, taking the trotter Dillington, and the pacer, Edith Direct, with him.

ESTRY PROTECTION SERVICE

Successful Demonstration Given at Lucerne-in-Quebec

(Canadian Press)

At the recent convention of the managers of the various Forestry Protective Associations of the Province of Quebec, held at Lucerne-in-Quebec, the members were given an opportunity of witnessing a working demonstration of the new Marconi Radio Telephone for forestry protective service. The perfecting of this equipment which has been developed solely in Canada by the engineers of the Canadian Marconi Company, marks the introduction of radio into still another field of usefulness, wherein, it is believed, it will perform a much needed and valuable service.

Throughout the demonstration a special Marconi 15 Watt transmitter was used. This was set up at the entrance to the park and a special Marconi 5 Watt set was transported to a point 15 miles distant. Communication was very distinct and clearly showed the possibilities of radio in this work.

The complete equipment which is regularly installed consists of a central station capable of covering consistently an area of between 75 and 100 miles. This serves as a main exchange. Circled about this are several stations of lower power that act as intermediates and in the area covered by each intermediate, listening posts are installed.

The rangers carry, as part of their equipment, a portable receiver. The weight of this, complete with batteries, earphones and its protective case, is only 19 lbs. To tune in on the station covering his area is much simpler than tuning in on the average radio set as the dial is semi-fixed.

To enable the ranger on the trail to call in, sub-station transmitters are installed at convenient points. These sub-stations are battery operated and are housed in weatherproof cases.

One of the big advantages of radio telephone in forestry protective work is that it is not dependent upon wires. Wires have always been a source of worry to the fire ranger inasmuch as they are often blown down in storms and as has often happened, they too fall prey to the flames during a conflagration, thus cutting off all means of communication with other rangers or the central station.

With the radio telephone the work of the rangers is directed from one central station. Scheduled broadcasts are sent out and each ranger is sure to get them. During a fire the intermediate station is used to report progress and the call for more men, if required, is sent out from the central station. One big advantage of the intermediate stations is that they too can be transported by truck or aeroplane and placed at a point of vantage. Thus the reports to the central station are more constant and regular during a fire.

This equipment, which is made in Canada by the Canadian Marconi Company, costs in many cases less than telephone equipment and, once installed, there is no worry and very little maintenance cost.

By the interest which has been shown in this equipment by the various Provincial governments and those interested in forestry protective service, it is felt that the Canadian Marconi Company have made a very material contribution to the efforts of saving our forests by perfecting wireless equipment practical for this work.

Communists

Are Ousted

(Canadian Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 1.—Eight persons were arrested, a mounted police officer was unhorsed and struck on the head with a stone and two other persons received hospital treatment for head injuries Saturday in the second attempt within a week by Communists to hold a demonstration in downtown Grand Circus Park.

The Communists had been told they could hold their meeting in an uptown park because a downtown gathering would impede traffic. Shortly before 11 a.m. a crowd estimated by police to number 2,000 men and women appeared suddenly in the centre of Grand Circus Park. Before they could organize or attempt any speech making 100 policemen cleared them from the park.

Mayor Frank Murphy said he believed the police used "good judgment and due regard for the rights of all." "Our Communist visitors will learn," he said, "that the laws are not to be flouted and the rights of the majority trampled upon, and this will be done without abridging the right of free speech and free and orderly assembly."

Chicago's Civic Finances Nil

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 1.—Twenty three thousand city employees will receive no pay after today, Mayor Anton J. Cermak said unless wealthy citizens come to the rescue. The Mayor called a meeting in his office and requested many of the city's large taxpayers to be present. He will call upon them to purchase tax anticipation warrants to supply much needed cash for the treasury.

The employees for whom there will be no cash include 10,000 police and firemen and 2,500 employees of the election board, library, and municipal tuberculosis sanitarium. There are more than 10,000 employees in other departments. In addition, there are 18,000 school teachers and other school employees who have received only one month's cash pay since last May. Many of them, however, accepted "scrip" issued by the Department of Education and acceptable for purchases at some stores.

No Action Taken By Wage Board

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec 1 (By the Canadian Press)—The Department of Labor has not yet taken action on the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway company for a board of conciliation to act in a dispute between the company and its railway and steamship clerks and freight handlers, over a proposed wage cut. Officials of the Department said today that the matter was under consideration.

It is understood that the company proposes a ten per cent cut in the wages of these employees who number about 7,000. Persian Balm is alluringly fragrant. VALUE OF FISH MEAL

Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, in discussing the nutritive value of fish meal states "The use of fish meals in the rations of all classes of live stock and especially in those for pigs and poultry is steadily increasing. These meals may, perhaps, be regarded primarily as sources of protein, but the fat, the mineral content and the iodine are also constituents of very considerable value in stock feeding." He points out also that edible fish meals must be made from fresh fish. The flesh of the fish is the most valuable source of protein, while the mineral content is highly valuable.
