GETS ANOTHER YEAR FOR JAIL ATTEMPT

OTTAWA, Jan 9—Cherrier Cyr made an unsuccessful attempt today to escape from the Hull jail. The prisoner, who was recently sentenced to serve three years in penitentiary, had sawn two bars in his cell and had tied his blankets together preparatory to lowering himself out of the window. But for the fact that Turnkey E. Haouette had heard unusual noises in Cyr's cell, the prisoner might be at large. Cyr's attempt was not only frustrated, but he was brought before Magistrate Millar in Hull and after pleading guilty to a charge of attempting to escape was sentenced to serve another year in the penitentiary.

The many friends of Mr. Albert Tremire, Hampshire is pleased to learn he is recovering after his recent serious illness.

Keep minard's liniment in the house

After Ten Years
BY MARION RUBINCAN

DESPAIR

Chapter 43

Very few 21-year old girls have faced just the situation Patty faced that morning. She was alone in the office, the unopened mail before her, Humphrey's note in her hand.

She had to explain something of what had happened to the men in the lumber yard, a group of them, hired by the hour by Humphrey, when he had timber to ship, were loading huge planks on the river boat.

She had to do something about the office. A vague idea flitted across her mind of herself taking over his lumber business, running it, soliciting orders, getting out advertising, and supporting her mother and sister. Something had to be done!

But first of all Millie had to be told.

She found, when she slipped into her blue sweater to go back that her hands were trembling. Mechanically she went to the little mirror to put on her hat, her face was dead white. When Patty was pale, the blue veins seemed to show under her skin, her eyes had a way of staring from the pallor of her face. She was pretty even in her fright, for Patty was the blessed type that never loses its attractiveness.

She pulled on the soft blue hat and started back to the house.

Someone greeted her on the street: "Hello, Patty, seen a ghost?"

And she smiled, afraid the townspeople would know what had happened, simply by seeing her face.

Millie greeted her at the front door.

"What's wrong?" she cried, her own face already pale as ashes. I've phoning the office and they say no one answers. Where's Humphrey. Patty what's happened Mother, oh, Mother!"

Millie, without knowing or guessing what had happened, had worked herself on the verge of hysterics because she could not get an answer to her phone call. Patty's hurried step and white face completely unnerved her now. She ran back into the house, her shrill scream bringing Mrs. Parke from her work upstairs.

"Something's happened, I don't know yet. Humphrey"

"Humphrey's all right," Patty cried catching her sister by the arm and holding her so she would listen.

Mrs. Parke, who had rushed down the steps expecting to see a corpse brought in, stood now clinging to the banister, her own face gray white and her shrewd little eyes almost popping from her head.

"Oh, oh, what's happened"? she was saying over and over, not even knowing what she was saying. And when Patty, the only calm one, made them understand Humphrey was safe at least, Mrs. Parke sank down on the steps, trembling from shock and nervousness.

"If he's all right, why do you carry on so?" she asked, tears coming from her eyes. "Why do you get me upset when you know my nerves wont stand it!"

Millie too, had sank down on the hall bench, one of those oak and mirror affairs with an umbrella stand at one side and a cane rack at the other and brass hooks sprouting all over it to hold hats and wraps.

"Listen!" Patty began distinctly, feeling as though the weight of the office and the family had fallen on her shoulders at once. "There's nothing to get excited about. Humphrey has gone."

Oh-h-h" Millie began a wail that was rising more and more shrilly. Patty interrupted.

"has gone on a trip." There was silence. "It's sudden. He's left things temporarily in my charge."

"I trip! Why didn't he tell us, getting us all upset this way. I never closed my eyes all night!"

Millies natural reaction to a long period of intense worry was resentment a the cause of her undeserved suffering.

But it was too much for Patty. Her sense of justice triumphed over her desire to break the news gently to her family. She took Humphreys note from her sweater pocket and handed it to Millie.

Millie read it slowly. Dead silence had succeeded the excited sobbing of the two women, who had really been worked up to real hysteria.

In dead silence she handed the note to her mother.

For once Mrs. Parke faced a situation about which she could say nothing. For once Millie was overawed.

The silence grew as nervously unbearable as the excitement had been.

Then Millie began to sob softly, hunched up on the hall rack, an image of despair. Mrs. Parke began crying too. And Patty, affected by them felt the tears coming. She turned and went into the living room.

"What am I going to do?" Millie was sobbing. "Why did he go off like that? What am I going to do?"

She followed Patty, hunting support and consolation in the girl's presence.

Avoid Perils Of Dyspepsia

In Place of Starving or Suffering Try the Plan of Full Meals and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Most everyone has gone through the misery of a sleepless night from dyspepsia. A host of such people found they could eat what they liked without sour risings, belching, gassiness, heaviness, palpitation or restless nervousness due to indigestion if they simply settled and soothed the stomach with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after eating and before retiring. If you are subject to such misery get a 60 cent box of these tablets today and you will fairly revel in the freedom from your old time enemy.

To the Electors of the City of Charlottetown

dies and Gentlemen:—

Agreeable to the request of electors representing every Ward in City, I shall place myself in nomination for the office of Mayor a Civic Election to be held on February 8th, and take this opportunity soliciting your influence and support on that occasion.

Having been closely identified with the financial affairs of the city as auditor—for many years, and, after a service of EIGHT consecutive years at the Council Board as Councillor for Ward Five,—during which time I served two years as Chairman of the Police Committee and six years as chairman of the Tender and Property Committee, was also member of the Market Committee for two years, Light Committee for four years and for four years was assistant on the Finance Committee, I respectfully submit that my civic training should greatly assist me in the administration of the office which I now seek at your hands.

Owing to the hearty co-operation of the various Councils, the City has undergone a wonderful change during the last eight years. While it is true the financial burdens have somewhat increased, yet, the work completed has been of a thoriughly permanent nature, and employment was given at a time when most needed.

For the next two years—at least—our finances will not permit of programs entailing large expenditures; yet, there is much work to be done in linking up our principal streets, and re-building with gravel our extension and side streets which have necessarily been somewhat neglected during the last few years—owing to lack of proper material.

There is also a great necessity for more concrete sidewalks, and they should be put down as early as conditions will permit.

Our Firemen are entitled to greater consideration. If we cannot afford to pay them, the city should at least provide them with a reliable Fire Alarm System, which, I am told need not be expensive—yet efficient.

Gravel for our extension and side streets: The time has arrived when a co-operative effort should be made to re-open the City Gravel Pit at Surrey, where hundreds of thousands of tons of the choicest grades of gravel are to be had. The Railway is searching for gravel for ballast; the Provincial Government is importing such material from Nova Scotia, and the City had been doing the same. Why not get together, and as a result use our own material and give employment to our own people? Our laboring men deserve this at our hands, for, were it not for the honest work performed for the wage paid we would not be in a position to boast of having constructed our Permanent works so cheaply.

Our Electric Lighting will be readjusted this year according to a contract already entered into by the Council, and a much better service may be expected.

A different system of Civic Assessment must be put in force in order to get more equitable valuations.

No PLACE IN CANADA affords greater attractions for the Tourist and Health seeker than Prince Edward Island, and his headquarters should be Charlottetown. We must unite in getting that trade

Let our policy be progression within our means, and it is because I feel that I can be of greater service in forwarding the interests of Charlottetown that I respectfully ask you to elect me as Mayor.

The Ballot Act presumes that no Candidate shall make a personal canvass. To do so destroys the secrecy of the ballot which should be with the voter and his conscience. I have always respected the intention of the Law, and intend doing so in the coming election. Consequently if elected, I shall feel that you have of your own free will so honored me that I shall be in duty bound to render you in return the very best service within my power.

Thanking you in anticipation of your support,
I am faithfully yours,
L. B. MILLER

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets,) especially prepared for this purpose.

Representatives Of Germany Are To Go to Cannes

CANNES, Jan. 9—Representatives of Germany some time next week will come to Cannes to discuss with the supreme council the reparations proposals to be prepared by the Allied statesmen. This was decided upon at the second day's session of the council yesterday and notification to this effect was despatched to the Berlin government, stipulating, however, that the German experts go to Paris first and there hold themselves in readiness for the call.

The work of the council slowed up today when the thorny reparations question came up. By the experts it was maintained yesterday that there was an agreement in principle, but the members of the council announced that further deliberation was necessary, after which the council would receive the experts' report and make its decision.

The experts, it is learend, have reached an agreement providing for remission of cash payments by Germany, providing for the payment of 500,000,000 gold maks in cash and 1,000,000,000 gold marks in kind each year over a period of years.

In the course of the deliberations Great Britain for abandonment of her twenty-two per cent of the first two payments in 1922 asked Belgium to renounce in part her priority claim so that France can share in those payments, demanding at the same time that France ratify the August agreement where by the first billion gold marks, now in the hands of the reparations commission, would be applied in the payment of Great Britain's and Belgium's occupation expenses to the exclusion of France.

Mr. Lloyd George also resisted all suggestions that action be taken to obtain stronger guarantees from Germany, as asked by France, such as a commission on the German debt, to control customs, monopolies and tax receipts.

Montcalm Will Come To Halifax

HALIFAX, Jan 9—Halifax is soon to see the new C. P. R. fuel oil burned Montcalm, of 15,000 tons, according to advices received yesterday by T. A. S. DeWolf and Son, the C. P. R. steamship agents at this port. She is now on her way to St. John on her maiden voyage and on her return to England will call at Halifax for passengers and cargo including a heavy shipment of apples, sailing from here for Liverpool Feb. 2.

Another C. P. R. passenger liner scheduled to sail from Halifax for Liverpool is the Metegama which is due at St. John today from Liverpool. Her sailing date from here will be Jan 14 with passengers and freight.

Most of the crew of the Minnedosa, which left her Wednesday night for Liverpool are to join the new liner Montcalm following her arrival back at Liverpool from this side.
