kept for such a purpose. There the body we find in James' overalls at washing or mending-time, neighbors with others of their kind. Each spring I promise that center of the junk, over a waste-gate. Then I restrain the impulse. James or Jack would be sure to ask for something they could swear they had seen in that box. So I let it stay for days like this. James was ever from her house across the fence—only a minute to divide oatmeal with us. Our supply was low, Judy said to me: "What good are Scotch folk without their 'catna'?" "Catna" I finished for Judy. People of mixed descent eat up their porridge—cereal to Judy—with the best of relish at Alderlea.

Maritime Women's Club of Montreal

The Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Inc. at their regular February meeting held in Tudor Hall, listened with much interest to the brilliant lecturer, John Dando, lecturer in English at McGill University and one of which it is said is a student misses an English lesson when John Dando lectures on the subject of "The Browings." These two people came vividly alive as he talked of them. The lecturer was Mr. Harold G. Hodgson, bass, accompanied by Miss Bertha Rogers.

Dorothy Dix Says—

He doesn't bother to find out anything about her character and disposition, yet he asks what are going to determine whether she will keep his nose to the grindstone all of his life, or help him build up a fortune. And girls show even less discretion in selecting the men with whom they are tying up for a lifetime. Every day we see them signing up on the dotted line of a long term contract with men whose middle names they do not even know.
Practically every enterprise goes through a period of bleak discouragement in its beginning. The rosy hopes with which its founders entered into it are not being realized. The partners get a little on each other's nerves, but they know they have a good thing if they can make it work, so they stir up their loins and strengthen their backs and struggle until they do make it work.
The same tactics would bring the same results if they were applied to the marriage partnership. There would be very few divorces if husbands and wives would make the same effort to keep their marriages going concerns that they go to run a peanut stand.

The Danger of Coughs Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often of a grave nature, and unless attended to immediately may, eventually, cause serious trouble.
On the first sign of a cough or cold the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help get rid of the trouble.
Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm, and stimulating the bronchial organs is such that the cough may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.
Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 8 times as much, 90c, at all drug counters.

Eating Too Much? Exercising Too Little?

Most People Do and Pay the Penalty!
Many who feel "under the weather" are often guilty of overeating, especially rich, fatty foods. This often leads to a system overloaded with toxic waste, a dull, tired feeling and eventual overweight.
A favourite British method of keeping fit and trim despite rich, heavy food is to take Bile Beans nightly. These small all-vegetable pills are so gentle they are called "The Medicine That Wakes Up Nature." Most people eat too heavily, exercise too little, so get BILE BEANS from your druggist and resolve to keep fit and youthfully active.

Cornwall

Mr. Frank Jewell of Canajoharie, N. Y., is at present visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jewell, Sr., of North River. This is Mr. Jewell's first visit to his native island in 15 years, and quite naturally he notices many changes. Mr. Jewell operates a large dairy farm about two miles from the town of Canajoharie. The acute shortage of farm help makes it necessary for him to return home each year. For his parents it proved to be a happy event, bringing together the original family circle of ten—Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Sr. and their eight sons, seven of whom operate farms within a five-mile radius of North River. Today, when most families are scattered like autumn leaves, this family circle remains unbroken, and all but one live within a few miles of their birthplace.

The many friends of John Matheson, Clyde River, will be sorry to learn that he is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

This War—Four Years Ago

By The Canadian Press
MARCH 6, 1941—British column occupied Fer-Fer, Italian Somalia. Greeks evacuated citizens from threatened Thrace and Macedonia. Announced 40,000 Italians, including 21 generals and one admiral, in prisoner-of-war camps in India.

Mr. Peter Inman of this village recently observed his 83rd birthday. He is still hale and hearty and looks a full score of years younger than he is.

Another local resident at present in hospital is Mrs. Charles MacLean, Clyde River, who it is reported, will soon be well enough to return to her home.

cases these are part of a world-wide fashion. You will see longer capes, above print dresses, lined with matching print. There is something easy and accommodating about a cape when it is not voluminous, for it keeps you cool, covered, and this is desirable in some part of its charm.

RED CROSS LODGES

Bring Them Together

THE first Red Cross Lodge was constructed twenty-five years ago by the Canadian Red Cross, adjacent to one of our military hospitals, to provide a home away from home where convalescent patients may meet socially with their relatives and friends. It has been found that these frequent, happy visits with their loved ones in an atmosphere of cheer, home-like comfort considerably aids the convalescence and rehabilitation of our wounded servicemen. To provide for the convalescent patients of this war, a Red Cross Lodge will be built wherever needed. New Lodges already under construction are modernly equipped with spacious lounge and games rooms, canteens, snack bars and various other comforts—rich Red Cross Hostesses in attendance to see to the comfort of the men.

Some of the Lodges have the added feature of serving as hostels to provide much needed overnight accommodation for next-of-kin visitors, especially women and children.

Every Red Cross Lodge that is constructed for our wounded men is an expression of deep appreciation of all Canadians to those who have bravely fought and sacrificed for freedom. The need for more Red Cross Lodges is great, and more and more of our wounded are returned to Canada for convalescence. To carry on with this vitally important war work, the Red Cross calls upon every loyal Canadian for support. Let your response be immediate and generous. Help your Red Cross to meet the largest mercy task in its history.

RED CROSS LODGES
Bring Them Together

Destination and Wants are so urgent and desperate in the liberated countries, that the Minister of National War Services asked the Red Cross, with the collaboration of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund representing the War Charities of eleven of the United Nations, to include funds for this relief in the national appeal.
