—PASSING OF LIFE LONG RESIDENT OF BEDEQUE—One of the most highly respected citizens of North Bedeque passed away on Monday morning, in the person of Mr. Fenwick LeFurgey. Mr. LeFurgey was 72 years of age and had been in poor health for over a year. He was a life long resident of North Bedeque, the son of the late Alexander LeFurgey. He was noted throughout the district for his kind and charitable nature. From a young man he took an active interest in the life of the community. He was one of the most successful farmers in Bedeque. He was an ardent worker for the Conservative party and many friends throughout the province will regret to hear of his passing. There are left to mourn besides his widow, formerly Miss Susan Hall of Wilmot, three daughters and two sons, namely Mrs. Reginald Barwise of Bedeque, Mrs. T. B. Gillespie of Carleton, Dr. LeFurgey of Alberton; Harold of East Royalty and Miss Alma at home; also one sister, Mrs. Henry Scates of St. Eleanors and two brothers, David of LeFurgey's Shore and Maynard of Summerside, to all of whom much sympathy is extended. The funeral takes place on Wednesday at 2 p. m. from his home to the Baptist Cemetery at Bedeque.—S.

VICTORIAN STYLES GLADDEN HEARTS OF CORSET MEN

BELVIDERE, Ill., Sept. 21.—The trend toward fashion styles of 1880, such as that of the Empress Eugenie hats, is responsible for a boom in the corset manufacturing industry, according to officials of a local corset company plant here.

Officials believe the boom will last indefinitely and as a result, they have made arrangements for the opening of a plant in Australia and two of the local machine operators will go there to get things started.

Today's corsets, officials explained, are somewhat different from those in vogue in the 80's. There are no stays in the new garment, and as a result women will not have to have their waists pinched by tight lacing. They are made by an elastic material, which holds the figure.

Accessories

A new way of grouping accessories is gaining favor in Paris. A flower of the neckline of an afternoon dress and the corresponding color note will be gloves.

A unique collar being shown at one of the select houses shows a lapel on the right side much like that on an ordinary coat suit, with the left side completely plain. The lapel has two one-inch slits in it through which is slipped a loop of ribbon, or leather, depending upon the weight of the material used in making loop of ribbon, or leather, inserted in a band that forms the top of the purse.

There is a handkerchief of chiffon floating in the fashionable breeze that even Parisians say they have never seen before. It has little flowers of silk set on, the petals of which stand out in relief from the body of the handkerchief. The first time it made its appearance at the Ritz it was held in a silk-gloved hand that exactly matched it, and the cuff of the glove, shaped exactly like the train on an evening gown, was of real lace. A tiny bow of silk was set on the back of the hand at the intersection of silk and lace.

Modern Babes Fine Specimens

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21. (U.P.)—Today's babes are growing into the finest specimens of humanity the world ever has seen, in the opinion of Mrs. Florence Hale.

Miss Hale, president of the National Education Association, credits the fact that their parents had "unbridled liberty" during the World War for the healthy condition of the babes.

"Mentally, morally and physically, the next generation will surpass preceding generations," Miss Hale said.

"I believe the modern girl," she declared, "brought up without inhibitions, will make the ideal mother. And I further believe because of her knowledge, her ability to face the facts of life squarely, there will be a return to a stricter moral code than we have now. The boys and girls of today have seen and know the evils of license. It is but a natural reaction that in training their own children they will remove the dress and give them only the best."

BEES FLY 75,000 MILES FOR 25 CENTS' WORTH OF HONEY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 21.—(U.P.)—A one pound square of honey normally sells for 25 cents. Bees fly between 50,000 and 75,000 miles to gather that amount, according to Dr. William C. Wilson, on whose three farms 6,000,000 bees dwell.

Other interesting facts revealed when bees have to fly from one-half to one mile for the nectar.

A queen bee "at her best" lays from 1,800 to 2,400 eggs a day.

The eggs she deposits in 24 hours weigh more than she does.

A bee often will fly from six to eight miles for one drop of nectar.

A bee will sting to protect her home, "but it's hard to pick a scrap when she is away."

Jellied Fish Salad

Either red or a good pink salmon or tuna fish may be used for these gelatine moulds, which require:

- 1 tall tin fish
 - 1/2 tablespoon salt.
 - 1/2 tablespoon mustard.
 - 1/2 tablespoon flour.
 - 5 teaspoons sugar.
 - 2 egg yolks.
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons butter
 - 1/4 cup vinegar.
 - 1/2 cup milk.
 - 1/2 tablespoon gelatine
 - 2 tablespoons cold water
 - Few grains cayenne
 - Finely cut celery if desired.
- Remove the fish from can, rinse and flake it, removing skin and bone.

Make a cooked dressing of the next eight ingredients—or if you prefer, substitute any proven favorite of your own in like quantity. To make this one, mix the seasonings well with the flour and sugar, then add the egg yolks, butter, vinegar and milk, and cook in the double boiler, stirring constantly until it has thickened smoothly.

The gelatine should meantime soak in the cold water. Add it to the hot dressing, stir until dissolved, then strain.

Add the fish and perhaps a few grains of cayenne or a little paprika. A little very finely cut celery is also good broken pecan meats are delicious too.

A slice of stuffed olive or of hard-cooked egg may be set first in the bottom of each individual mould, before filling with the mixture.

Put in cold place to set and chill. Serve on lettuce, with a little additional dressing to which whipped cream may be added.

U. S. Golf Ready for New Young Champion

Francis Ouimet won back the national amateur golf championship after 17 years at Beverly Country Club, but the stage was set for a new generation of golfers to dominate future tournaments. "Future champion" was written all over young Billy Howell, of Richmond, Va., who was playing in his first tournament, as he carried Ouimet through 37 holes of his hardest match. Ouimet won, 2 and 1, but only after the match was deadlocked seven times and the Boston veteran was trailing an opponent the only time in the tournament.

Only 19, Howell was unheard of outside his own vicinity until he beat Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb., who eliminated Bobby Jones in the first round of the 1929 tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif.

Howell beat Goodman, 2 and 1, in an 18-hole match.

"I was never so nervous in my life as when I played Goodman," said Howell afterwards. "I thought if I could beat Goodman I wouldn't care whether I won another match or not."

Not only did he beat Goodman but he defeated Owen Covey, Salt Lake City, Utah, 3 and 2, in the second round and Lester Bolstad, St. Paul, 3 and 2, in a 36-hole quarter-final.

Bolstad led 2 up at the end of the morning round of 18 holes, but was taken ill with indigestion during the lunch hour. When it seemed doubtful whether Bolstad's condition would permit him to continue the match, Howell offered to forfeit it to his opponent.

"I don't want to play anyone when they are ill," said Howell, "I had rather lose than win that way."

"Howell is tall and thin and weighs 128 pounds. Despite his slight build he seems to stand up well under tournament pressure.

Some of the other discoveries of Beverly were Gus Moreland, Dallas, Tex., cotton clerk who shot a 149 in the qualifying round but lost in his first match; Johnny Shields, diminutive Seattle youngster, who lost to Ouimet in the first round; Frank Connolly, a former caddy from Mt. Clemens, Mich.; Dick Martin, Big Ten champion who conquered George Voigt, New York veteran in the first round, and then lost to Lester Bolstad, and Samuel Parks, Jr., U. of Pittsburgh star who shot a 149 in the qualifying but fell before Jack Westland, who went on to the finals.

Fascist Boys Waging War On Malaria

ROME, Sept. 21. (U.P.)—The Ballia, or Fascist boy groups, in the Rome province have been organized into a special sanitary corps to fight the malaria in the Roman district.

The disease, which 20 years ago wrought havoc in the district, has been largely exterminated, but there are still zones where the ignorance of the peasants allows its spread.

Divided into squads, 3,000 Fascist lads, of from 12 to 15, have been organized by Dr. R. Escaler, chief public health officer, into a small anti-malaria army.

The boys, who are trained along semi-military lines, are assigned various sections of the campaign, to see that all the sanitary requirements for banishing malaria are observed.

The Ballia boys see to the fitting of mosquito nets at the doors, chimneys, and windows of the cottages and houses. They mend torn nets, which the peasants are inclined to neglect. They clean up pools and stagnant ponds, or sprinkle them with oil.

LEGAL AID SOCIETY FOR NEEDED

MEMPHIS, Sept. 21. (U. P.)—A "Free Legal Aid Society" to benefit needy persons who are unable to hire lawyers to defend them, has been organized here by nine young attorneys. The society was formed when it was discovered that out of 4,000 cases heard in four magistrates' courts, only 40 acquittals, or dismissals, of charges were obtained.
