URGES CUT THROAT INTERNATIONAL TRADE CEASE

United States Plan Of Economic Nationalism R. Agriculture Received With Conflicting Views.

(C. P. Cable, By Guardian's Special Wire) ROME, Oct. 24.—Bouquets and brickbats were thrown alternately today at the United States' conception of a world planned economy in agriculture, as delegates to the general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture in turn praised or assailed it.

Giuseppe Tassinari of Italy, Fritz Koehler of Germany and Adam Rose of Poland also more or less lined up with Rexford Guy Tugwell, United States No. 1 "brain-truster" and under-secretary of agriculture, who had presented the American plan earlier. Tugwell had pleaded for an end to "cut-throat international trade," and had suggested economic nationalism continue while nations worked out concrete international plans.

But F. K. McDougall of Australia and M. J. Irgens of Norway found much to criticize in Tugwell's speech. McDougall remarked on the "equilibrium" with which Tugwell suggested that economic nationalism was a corollary to international planning, saying economic nationalism is "building up industry that had no economic justification would work permanent harm."

"Tugwell, from the American standpoint, can afford to regard economic nationalism with relative benevolence," said the Australian. "He draws a most interesting picture of the world temporarily engaged in a rapid readjustment and finds it natural that in the preliminary of national states the problems should be isolated by keeping the door shut."

"The relative calm of the United States cannot be shared by agricultural exporting countries," Irgens quoted Tugwell's statement that "free trade is one of those simple, naive ideas which have an appeal to the untutored imagination," and commented that free trade still appealed to him. "Europe's happiest

MORE CANADIAN PEARS—Imports of Canadian canned pears into the United Kingdom increased during 1933 as compared with the previous year, according to the statistics of the Department of the Canadian National Railways. Pine-apples constituted over one-quarter of the imports of canned fruits and vegetables into the United Kingdom, 93 per cent coming from Empire countries. Imports of these commodities into the United Kingdom are showing a decrease due to the expansion of the English canning industry.

CORN HUSKERS DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Large Audience Hear Famous Orchestra In Great Entertainment—Leader, a Former Islander.

Living up to all advance notices, George Wade and his Corn Huskers delighted a capacity crowd at Prince of Wales College last evening with a varied entertainment of old time and modern music.

To say the audience thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment would be putting it mildly. Many complimentary remarks were heard upon the ability of this internationally known orchestra with the wish expressed that they return in the near future for another engagement. Versatility seems to be the keynote of the orchestra, each member playing two or more instruments with equal ability.

Under the direction of Mr. Wade, the Huskers rendered pleasing selections all during the evening interspersed with several solo and duet numbers. "The Red River Valley Cowboy" however, proved to be the hit of the evening, his efforts drawing down the house on every appearance.

Of interest to Islanders, it may be noted that Mr. Wade is an Islander by birth, born here at Summerside, but migrating to Western Canada at an early age. Interviewed, Mr. Wade stated that it was a pleasure working for such an appreciative audience, and was looking forward to the time when his band would return for another engagement.

Hubbard assured. Mr. Mutch, endorsing the speaker's attitude, said, "this matter is of most vital importance to Prince Edward Island. Shippers there are faced with the problem of selling to West Indies customers who buy mostly in small lots. Carloads are out of their buying scope."

"At present we have to be represented by some one in Halifax to re-ship for us. In fact, the procedure is so difficult and expensive that attempts by Prince Edward Island to develop trade with the south have been nearly abandoned."

"We have to wait days to make connections. Our butter, eggs, cheese and potatoes, awaiting the arrival of the boat at Halifax, turn into losses. In summer we are not given the protection needed in the cars at Halifax."

"If the C. N. R. would issue through bills of lading from Prince Edward Island—available also to other points in the Maritimes—it would be a great help," he said. Mr. Oland suggested that Mr. Hurd and Mr. Mutch confer with Rand H. Matheson, transportation manager of the Transportation Commission, before the matter is referred to the policy committee.

APPOINT COMMITTEES—SAINT JOHN, N. B., Oct. 24.—Three committees were named by George B. Oland, President of the Maritime Board of Trade, at the opening session of its annual meeting here today. Bennett Declares Snowden "Very Moderate" In Memoirs

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was more entertained than aroused when he read the reference to himself in the memoirs of Viscount Snowden of Ickornshaw, published today. "I think he was very moderate," Mr. Bennett said, and he recalled, for the benefit of a group of newspaper men, the numerous encounters he had experienced with the stern-visaged chancellor of the exchequer at the Imperial Conference of 1930.

"The difficult thing to impress upon them at that conference," the prime minister said, "was that they had been enjoying preferences in Canada for 30 years." It was true, he said, that at times the discussions had become acrimonious. But in his dealings with Mr. Snowden there had eventually been a spirit of give and take which had left them on the best of terms and they had separated with expressions of mutual admiration which, on his part, had not altered.

of Halifax, chairman of the Transportation Commission of the Maritime Board of Trade, in an address before the board today. He also personally favored a survey of the possibilities of an amalgamation of Canada's two railways.

"This truck and bus competition, at first ignored, is now a real menace as the excellence of the roads permits long haul and door to door delivery and, while it is admitted that this is a convenience to the shipping public it is a serious detriment to the railroads. The truck and bus service, unhampered as it is by public utility and other regulations and control, and enjoying as it does the advantage of practically free use of a roadway paid for by the people of Canada, is undoubtedly in a preferred position."

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—That "stinking feeling" in the pit of one's stomach isn't just a figure of speech. "Apprehension of mental shock causes the stomach to 'drop' and become flatter in contour. Dr. A. C. Ivy of Northwestern University, Chicago, said tonight in an address before the New York Academy of Medicine.

I personally have seen by x-ray the stomach of a student drop in response to a threat and rise again and resume motility on provoking laughter by passing the threat off as a joke."

Urging a greater scope for the commission, he said: "I am fully convinced that the future progress of our Maritime Provinces, in step with the other provinces of Canada, can only be assured by having the aid and this can only be brought about by our Transportation Commission enlarged and strengthened at all times."

Old Dutch is what I always use, Neither pans or sinks does it abuse But gives a polish clean and bright, Being made of scratchless seismotite, No better cleanser can I choose.

Written by Mrs. Iva D. Lloyd, Liverpool, N.S.

Old Dutch is unique in the service and satisfaction it gives. No other cleanser can equal Old Dutch because one of its important, valuable ingredients is seismotite... a scratchless cleaning and polishing material which is absolutely different in its cleaning action from anything else, and therefore in the results it gives.

You can use Old Dutch on any surface water will not harm. It doesn't scratch; cleans quicker; saves your time and energy.

Saves you money, too, because its flaky, flat-shaped particles cover more surface and do more square yards of cleaning per penny of cost. Try Old Dutch.
