Her bright and cheery disposition won her a host of friends where ever she went. SHE KNEW HER PLACE

A woman, one of the 30,000 British working for the Y. M. C. A., was assigned to scrub the Eagle hut floor in London. She had done little manual labor in her life, but accepted the job without protest, and went down on her knees with a pale of hot water, a cloth and a cake of soap. Soon the water in the pail was black. A man in uniform passed. The woman looked up and asked if he would mind emptying the pail and refilling it with clean water. There was a pause, then this reply: "Dammit, madame, I'm an officer!" This time there was no pause, but like a flash the scrubwoman retorted. "Dammit, officer, I'm a duchess!"

EDMUND WARREN

Deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, Albany, in the sorrow which has come to them in the death of their son Edmund, who passed away on Oct. 30th, after an illness of one short week of influenza.
