ABEGWEITS DEFEAT MT'L. CANADIENS 12-2

Outskate And Outplay Visitors By Wide Margin

Wide Open Hockey Displayed In Free Scoring Exhibition Game.

Held to a 2-11 count in the first period by a close-checking Canadian team, the rampaging Abegweits swarmed all over the visitors in the next two sessions at the Forum last night to hang a 12-2 defeat on the Montreal squad.

Full in spots, the game nevertheless was fast throughout. Abies were the better team, displaying another of their brilliant passing games that kept young Claude Bourque in the Canadian cage hopping around like a jack-rabbit.

Although the losers were short several of their regulars they put up a stiff battle all the way through and lacked nothing in gameness, trying just as hard at the start as they were at the finish.

The Abie line of Getliffe, Brennenman, Deslets and Jimmie Kelly took the scoring honors last night for the locals, accounting for nine of the twelve counting, Getliffe being leading goal-getter with four while assisting in two others.

Bourque kicked out two hard drives from Deslets in the first twenty seconds from well inside with Sargent robbing Malenfant a minute later. The visitors however scored the first counter of the game at the three minute mark.

Abies inside their zone but they couldn't get the puck over that elusive line at the goalmouth. The Abies were just at full strength when Deslets made it ten, taking Brennenman's pass at the line and back-handing the disc past Bourque.

KOENECKE IS OUTSTANDING OUTFIELDER

Sets Up New Record of Only Two Errors In 318 Games.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer (By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Although the National League's batters performed few outstanding feats during the 1934 season, the fielders had a big time.

Len Koenecke, the $75,000 Giant "castoff" picked up by Brooklyn Dodgers, established a new record for patrolling the outer pastures when he made only two errors in 318 chances in 121 games for an average of .994.

Chicago Cubs, club fielding leader with a .977 average, set the new club mark by making only 137 errors, one fewer than the Braves a year ago.

While Koenecke's brilliant fielding gave him a good margin over his nearest rivals among the "regular" outfielders who played in 100 or more games, George Davis being second with .968 and Paul Wagner next at .965, competition among the infielders was generally close.

The averages of the first basemen had to be carried out to an extraordinary point before Bill Terry, New York, and Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, at .985, competition among the infielders was generally close.

Along The Sidelines (By Fat Power)

LAST NIGHT'S game was another example of how hard it is to stop the Abegweit machine when they hit their scoring stride. The usual criticism of the visitors being "set-ups" will no doubt be heard in many quarters today but last night wasn't the first time Abies have snowed a team under a big score—Moncton Hawks and Beavers were victims before and they are by no means weak in hockey material.

YVON RENAUD also made his first appearance in quite a while but the joy didn't affect him to any great extent. While he was in there all the time and several times used his body with telling effect, Jimmie Kelly was also used more last night and responded with a goal and assist.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order to Jackie Kane, Abegweits' brilliant center, whose marriage to Miss Alice Purcell takes place this morning. We extend to Jackie and his bride the wish for many happy years of wedded bliss.

NO FURTHER word has been received from St. Louis Eagles by Pete Kelly and the future hockey plans of the Abie wing are still in the uncertain stage. Pete, however, expects definite word shortly and local fans are eagerly awaiting the decision.

THROWN CLEAR "I was thrown out of the window and landed on my side," said Rice, "but I wasn't badly hurt. The rear of the coach was all buckled up. You can see the steam from the locomotive. It was terrific. The second car, the one I was in, shot ahead and it telescoped into the third car from the rear. It went in to about the fourth seat of the third car."

RICE aided in getting six persons from the wreckage, pulling them through the same window from which he was flung. He then helped get four men out of the smoking compartment.

RICE praised the courage of a man trapped between two of the cars, who calmly gave instructions to rescuers as they worked frantically with acetylene torches. The man, believed to have been George A. Wilkie, Sr., of Toronto, was pinned high in the wreckage where the cars seemed to "pyramid." Wilkie is in hospital suffering from severely twisted knees and a wrenched back.

ENGINEER B. Burrell of the Express was lauded by passengers for his quick thinking in cutting his engine loose from the trailing cars when he saw a crash was imminent. He applied the emergency brakes when his train suddenly swerved into the siding, but the distance was too short.

When he released the couplings between the engine and cars, the shock was lessened for his passengers. Persons on the Express said they felt only a jar at the impact, and that the lights in the coaches went out. No one on the Express, known as the "Maple Leaf" was hurt.

Townpeople in homes hundreds of yards away heard the crash and the cries of the injured. They hurried to the scene and were followed by ambulances and private automobiles.
