

GOVERNMENT BUSY GETTING THE ESTIMATES READY NOW

Uncertain Whether There Will Be One Session or Two. Caucus Will Decide

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—(By Wire)—With the return of the Ministers next week Cabinet sittings will be resumed.

The Government will then be busy until the opening of the House getting the estimates into shape to submit to Parliament.

An effort is being made to get the estimates for next year ready, but those remaining for the present year will have to be first disposed of.

It will not be decided until after the House opens whether there will be one session running over the holidays to put through the estimates for the coming year, or whether the first session will deal with the estimates left over from last session and another session be called in February to deal with the estimates for next year.

There are likely to be caucuses on this.

OVER 33,000 HARVESTERS WERE TAKEN OUT WEST

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2.—The Tribune says—Correct figures have just been obtained showing that 33,612 grain harvesters were taken into the prairie provinces by the three local railroads this fall. Of these the Canadian Pacific sent 18,323 to Alberta and Saskatchewan, while the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific handled 8,075. The three companies together brought 7,214 into Manitoba.

All told, the Canadian Pacific carried 22,247 over its lines, while the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific brought in 10,000 via Duluth and Emerson. The balance went from Winnipeg.

Of the total of 22,427 brought in by the C. P. R., 2,700 came from the United States through North Portal.

This is the largest number of harvesters ever hauled by these railroads. Previous to this year the record was held by 1909 when 25,000 were brought to the west to handle the crop.

The total of 33,612 consists entirely of genuine harvest hands who went to work on the farms and does not include any women or children.

THINKS SMALLPOX NOT CONTAGIOUS

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—That smallpox is not contagious, was the rather startling statement made by Mayor Chertier, of Aylmer, yesterday, when interviewed as to why the proper precautions are not being taken in that town against the spread of the disease.

"In my opinion," stated the mayor, "there is no necessity for closing the schools, for the reason that I don't think that the disease is infectious. I think if a person is to catch it they will catch it no matter what precautions are taken."

CARE OF THE TEETH

Dr. Samuel A. Richardson a leading authority on bacteriology in a recent lecture discusses at some length the importance of keeping the mouth in a state of cleanliness. He shows clearly that diseases such as typhoid, diphtheria, tonsillitis, etc., are carried into the system through the mouth. He asserts that great care should be taken to regularly cleanse the teeth at least twice daily with a good tooth brush and advises the use of an antiseptic powder or paste which will combine the part of cleanser and microbe destroyer. The ideal preparation for this purpose would seem to be "Rexall Pearl Tooth Powder" which imparts to the teeth

AWFUL SIGHTS SEEN AT HANKOW

HONG KONG, Nov. 3.—(By Wire)—Delayed despatches from Hankow describe the situation there on the night of Nov. 1 as appalling.

A conflagration was sweeping over the city and fighting was in progress in several quarters, between considerable bodies of rebels and loyalists.

The Imperial batteries were throwing explosive shells into the battle quarter while the rebels on the other side of the river had brought long range into play and were firing on the loyalist positions.

The fighting was clearly visible from the European concessions and several stray shells dropped in the British concession but without damage.

PEKIN, Nov. 2.—The German Legation today received a wireless message from the vicinity of Hankow stating that the Imperial forces are now burning the natives city of Hankow; and confirming yesterday's report to the Chinese War Board that the Imperial troops massacred men, women and children during several days fighting.

It is evident that the Manchou soldiers are infuriated over earlier Chinese successes, and that they have got out of the hands of their officers.

Letters from a correspondent at Sin Yang Chow written some days ago declare that General Yin Tehang's troops were beyond control. They are described as insubordinate, and as having looted a village North of Hankow. General Yin Tehang, who has been removed from his command at Hankow, to become chief of the general staff, returned to Peking today.

It is believed that Yuan Shi Kai arrived at the Imperialist headquarters.

WHAT PAPER TO READ

(Contributed.)

One of the largest items of expense in the making of a dependable morning newspaper is the obtaining AND VERIFYING OF FACTS in connection with the news. Facts are sometimes hard to get, sometimes they cost a good deal of money. Always, in the making of a real newspaper, THEY MUST BE OBTAINED at whatever cost of effort or expense. Conjecture as to facts and details, in such news events as accidents and disasters, is a serious shortcoming in a newspaper, involving, perhaps, needless anxiety for hundreds of people.

ARAB WOMEN PERPETRATE ATROCITIES

Worse Than Arab Men in Execrable Treatment of Italian Prisoners

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(By Wire)—English correspondents from Tripoli confirm the statement that the Arabs are perpetrating atrocities like those which made the Abyssinian campaign a by-word of horror.

Arab women are far worse than the men, in their execrable treatment of the wounded prisoners of any white race, and the horrible female villanies are enough to destroy the last shreds of chivalrous feeling on the part of the soldiers who comrades suffered thereby.

GOV'TS MUST ACT FIRST

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—That no adequate provision can be made for the proposed celebration of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, Oct. 31st, 1814, between Great Britain and the United States unless the British Parliament and the United States Congress take the matter in hand, is the opinion of Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, Secretary of the American Society. It is not improbable that Congress will be asked this Winter to appoint a committee to represent the United States making proper arrangements for the celebration.

Dr. Trueblood believes that the signing of the Rush-Bagot agreement in 1818, when Great Britain and the United States practically abolished all armaments on the Great Lakes, was an event of equal importance with the signing of the Ghent treaty, and it should receive equal attention when the celebration is held.

AN AMERICAN POPE TALKED OF IN ROME

ROME, November 1.—Comments on the approaching conistory, when seventeen cardinals, including three from the United States, will be created continue to emphasize the significance of Pope Pius's decision to grant America four representatives in the sacred college.

By some it is asserted that the way is being paved for the advent of an American pope.

By such it is pointed out that the largest aggregation of Catholics in the world is in the United States and its possessions, the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Guam.

Not only are Catholics of America superior in numbers, but in deep religious feeling, piety, loyalty to the Holy see and in wealth and generosity.

An Irish-American pope is suggested for the day when it shall be considered no longer necessary for the papacy to be held by an Italian.

Objections made by some that Mgr. Kennedy, being an American, cannot be appointed apostolic delegate at Washington, are confuted by the fact that the present pope for the first time made a departure from the rule.

He nominated Mgr. Fruehwirth a papal nuncio to Munich, an arrangement which is working well. Moreover, Mgr. Kennedy is described as a Romanist to the backbone.

Faculty and students of the American college are rejoicing, especially after the elevation of Archbishop Farley and Cardinal O'Connell, as they are alumni of the college.

The former was one of the original thirteen students when the college was founded by Pope Pius IX. The latter was both student and a rector and is the first rector to be raised to the purple.

EXPERT ARTICLES ON GERMAN ARMY

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The "Times" has been publishing a thoughtful series of expert articles on the German army manoeuvres and remarkable conclusions are reached. The army is declared not to equal the reputation it is commonly held. The new naval enthusiasm is damaging in its effect upon the army and the popular navy is now attracting officers more than the army, whose development has been starved by sheer lack of funds. The nation, moreover, is declared to be becoming less military and more commercial. The corps officers are less simple in their life and tastes and less exclusively professional than formerly. Commerce is beginning to attract the class that hitherto regarded the army as a career for a gentleman.

The army appears to have trained itself stale. The ceaseless round of intensive training has reduced it to a machine, while individual freshness and initiative are crushed out. The cavalry is said to be equipped with out-of-date material, and is slow and ineffective in its methods of firing appears so inferior that the army can make no profession to superiority to the French army. Its history of origin does not present signs of superiority over the best foreign models, and in some ways it does not rise above the level of the second-rate.

BAVE BURNED TO DEATH BY GREASE

MONTREAL, Nov. 2 In his innocent play round his mother's skirts, while she was cooking, little Elmarranda, but 17 months of age, met a terrible death. The family live in a little house at No. 17 Imperial ave. Mrs. Nichola was preparing supper and was heating on the stove a flap containing a quantity of grease. Suddenly the pan of grease tipped. Mrs. Nichola reached to extinguish it with a cloth. The pan partly overturned spilling out some of the blazing fluid. This fell upon the young child and immediately his clothing was enveloped in flames. He fell in a blanket, he had been fataly burned. It was but a short time before death relieved his agony. Fortunately the fire was not communicated to the woman's clothing or to the furniture of the little kitchen or the simple overturning of the pan would have caused a still greater tragedy.

THE WIDENING VISION

The Church is beginning to see further than it did in former days. The man whose eyes were focussed upon his own small community, and whose religious world had a radius of less than a mile, now sends quick glances across the continents and oceans and gets glimpses of world problems. The man whose ideas of religion were confined strictly to purely spiritual exercises has now come to see that religion has a broader sweep, and compasses all the possible life of man. And this wider vision is a gift

Particulars of Sad End of U. S. Consul Appointee Here

NEWARK, N. J. Nov. 1.—After surviving the bullets of the guerrillas while Governor of the District of Lanao, on Mindanao Island, in the Philippines, and bearing himself with great credit in the recent insurrection in Honduras, Allan Gard, of Clark place, Orange, American Consul to Ceiba, Honduras, surrendered to madness Friday and died by his own hands. Frenzied by a tropical fever, he shot himself through the head. The fever had made such ravages upon his system that he was compelled to move his bed into his office, and had it placed near his desk so that he might continue to serve his country. But he did not leave his post until sure that another was ready to fill it.

According to a cable from Ceiba, received last night, besides a small photograph of himself, which was torn into four pieces, Mr. Gard left the following note on his desk: "Yes, it has come to this; if you cannot trust an man kill him. Procrastination, carelessness, neglect, cowardice—bah."

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gard, parents of the Consul, received word of his death yesterday afternoon. The telegram they received from Washington did not mention suicide, but told that the government would send the body home.

Inability to find a person competent to give the least assistance in the South American port compelled Mr. Gard to endure his sufferings until Washington could send aid.

North ago, President Taft, learning of his condition, notified Mr. Gard that he had made him Consul to Charlotte, Prince Edward Island, where he hoped the climate would speedily return to a man who had so valiantly served his country.

In a letter to his parents that was full of despondency over the inroads the fever was making upon his system, the young man told of pains in his head. He wrote that he was bearing up and would stay at his desk, "although now I am so weak that I have my bed against the desk. I must do it for there is not a soul here within thousands of miles that can help me." He referred to his new appointment and the pleasure it gave him to contemplate a visit home and recovery.

Previously Mr. Gard had gone home with bullet wounds in legs and arms.

Mr. Gard was shot by a Moro guerrilla chief on the Island of Mindanao, where he was civil Governor of the district of Lanao, at the age of 35, the youngest Civil Governor that ever served for the United States. When attacked he had successfully governed for nine months, gaining in friendship of the Moros by his fair dealing and wise ruling when questions arose that threatened disturbance.

How the young man ingratiated himself into the hearts of the Mindanaos shows his versatility and that the government had lost a valuable official. Shortly after graduating from Yale University, where he completed a scientific course in 1901, Gard went to the Philippines and was appointed head of a school

INSURANCE RECIPROCIITY

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Yesterday in the House of Commons, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, defending clause 26 of the Insurance Bill, which provides that insured persons emigrating to the Dominions shall have the right to take their transfer value to similar societies abroad, described the provision as an attempt to bring about reciprocity with the Dominion and foreign countries in the matter of insurance. This was to be regarded rather as a general offer to the Colonies than as a final settlement.
