MISSION BAND CONCERT—A very delightful concert was given on Thursday evening by the Mission Band of Trinity United Church in Epworth Hall. The program was under the direction of Mr. Harold Nicholson, December 1st. Miss Margaret Davies accompanied on the piano for the many charming songs sung by the little tots who were heartily cheered at the conclusion of each piece. Rev. Mr. Davies presided.—S

HANDICRAFT FOR PRISONERS—Miss Laura Hughes, Charlottetown, is in Summerside working on a plan to secure knitting machines and additional books for the library of the County Jail. She has been instrumental in equipping ten of the thirty-five jails in the Maritime with libraries of about one hundred books each. Miss Hughes' idea with regard to the knitting machines is that it will teach the inmates of jails a worthwhile handicraft, and the books of their industry can be used to advantage by the Red Cross Society and other organizations supplying soldiers with various articles for their comfort.

PERSONALS

Christmas Carols Through the Ages

DECK THE HALL WITH HOLLY

"Deck the hall with boughs of holly,
 'Tis the season to be jolly,
 Don we now our gay apparel,
 Troil the ancient Christmas carol . . ."

In the Yule season, celebrated in Britain before the Christian era, a winter festival was held. Halls were decorated with holly, ivy and mistletoe, and the Yule log was lighted. This traditional Welsh song reflects the spirit of these celebrations.

18 Shopping Days Till Christmas

Use Mince's for dandruff.

Tignish

Mrs. Melville Hemphill had the misfortune of falling and injuring her hip.

Miss Eleanor Hogan left for Montreal on Monday, November 27 where she intends to spend the winter.

On Wednesday evening the farmers of Tignish and vicinity gathered together in the Institute Warehouse to hold a meeting in connection with farming and the hog industry. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Clay of Charlottetown and by Mr. Reid of Kensington. Quite a large number of farmers attended the meeting.

Miss Charlotte Dalton has returned to her home in Tignish after spending a few months visiting friends in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Claud Kinch spent Wednesday in Charlottetown visiting her daughter, Jeanette Kinch who is taking Commercial at Notre Dame Academy.

Mrs. Clarence Morrissey has gone to Summerside where she intends spending some time as the guest of Mrs. J. J. McNally.

Mrs. A. J. MacDonald who was a patient in Prince County Hospital has returned to her home in Tignish where she is convalescing after a month's illness.

Mrs. James Kinch of Tignish is steadily improving from her serious operation in Prince County Hospital.

The many friends of Mrs. Ernest McTague are glad to know she again is able to be out after her prolonged illness.

STALIN

Diplomatic quarters were inclining to the suggestion of originating with Germany, or resulting from the natural fear of Denmark, Sweden and Norway that they might be next in line for Soviet "proposals."

If, as some contend, the Russian invasion of Finland may prove to be a decisive point in the second great war, its exact role is not yet apparent to diplomats and political observers in the British capital.

Moscow's decision to use force against Finland has brought about a sharp cleavage among ruling Soviet politicians, the diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch wrote today.

Not only are "moderate" and "imperialist" elements at odds, but the use of force is so unpopular among the Russian masses that the Kremlin concealed the existence of war as long as it could, the correspondent said.

"Stalin's great fear is that eventually Britain, France, Germany and Italy will combine against Russia. It is this fear that won him over from his earlier determination to achieve his objectives in Finland solely by means of diplomatic 'pressure,' the correspondent said.

"Against this possible combination of European powers he wants to build what he calls a 'wall around Russia' to shut off the bourgeois world."

The correspondent said the Soviet Union's aims in Finland are:

SCORE DIRECT

"A direct hit was scored. Parts of the submarine and other wreckage were thrown high by the explosion and the surface of the sea became coated with oil over a large area. The aircraft remained over this position for five minutes to look for survivors but none was seen."

Britain's new policy of seizing German exports was her answer to the German magnetic mine which has been placed indiscriminately in sea lanes of the North Sea and off the east coast by submarines and planes. It is designed primarily to prevent Germany from building up a supply of foreign currency through sale of her goods.

This economic retaliation for Germany's mine warfare was expected to have profound effect on the war and may shorten it appreciably by hitting Germany in one of her most vulnerable spots, her shaky financial system.

The Heiligoland raid was the first British air attack since Nov. 23 when Royal Air Force bombers machine-gunned Nazi seaplanes at their Borkum base in the Frisian Islands.

The first bombing attacks of the war on German naval bases were at Wilhelmshaven and Brunsbuttel at the entrance to the Kiel Canal Sept. 4 when a German pocket battleship was damaged.

A week later a raid was made on the Isle of Sylt, site of a big German air base off the west coast of Schleswig-Holstein and bombs missed hitting the Hindenburg dam.

On Sept. 20 German warships were attacked off Heiligoland, and another raid over Heiligoland and Wilhelmshaven was announced Nov. 27.

Prime Minister Chamberlain delayed operation of the reinforced blockade until tomorrow to soften the effects on neutrals.

Seek New Markets

British business groups have been asking the government for aid in capturing Germany's South American markets which the blockade is expected to affect seriously.

Such trade measures are scheduled for discussion this week in the House of Commons which is to hear war reports from Mr. Chamberlain and Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty. Parliament is to discuss also whether to hold secret sessions during wartime.

Special trains today carried 5,000 parents from London to the countryside where 500,000 children are in refuges as protection against air raids. The parents travelled at half-fare in the first of a series of such excursions.

The Rink Committee for the coming season was appointed during the past week, and is composed of the following: Ronald MacDonald, (Chairman), Maurice Smith, Hubert O'Hanley, Francis MacAuley, Orestes McGuigan, Guy Sullivan, Linus S. Rossiter, Leonard Burke, and Ernest J. McGarey.

Basketball: The first section of the league was completed at the beginning of the week. Grace XII and XI tied for first place with six points each. The Seniors with four points, nosed out the Juniors by one point to gain second position. Occupying the cellar was the Sophomores—Freshman team with one tie.

Debates: In the resolution that the Honor System should be introduced into St. Dunstan's University, Noel Regan and P. P. Aylward won the judges decision over the negative speakers, Hubert O'Hanley and Leo Rositter. The debate was criticized by Leo Rositter. Five minute speeches were delivered by David Gorman and Leo McDonald.

St. Dunstan's has again joined the City Hockey League. Rev. A. O. Murphy, coach of the Red and White team, has been appointed president of the League.

Thomas Holland, Editor-in-Chief of "Red and White" reports that all departments of the College Magazine are almost ready and will go to press next week.

A notice announcing that the mid-year examinations will be held from Dec. 16 to 21st, (inclusively) has been posted on the College bulletin boards.

 NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Harlem's little Father Divine brooded tonight over whether he might not just "evaporate" for 1900 years' in disgust over a lawsuit that may expose the secrets of his wealthy religious cult.

"Father is very disgusted," said one of his disciples. "He may just evaporate."

"It paid all this money," said the complainant, Mrs. Verinda Brown, a cook, "in the belief that unless I did so I was doomed to everlasting misery . . . and that by giving the money to Father Divine, I was depositing it in his heavenly treasury and was in that way assured of eternal life."

Mrs. Brown, who said she was also acting for four or five other "angels" with claims totalling about $22,000, said her interest in Divine's "peace, ain't you glad?" movement began to curdle when the preacher became "too grasping" and demanded most of her husband's wages.

influences hostile to the U. S. S. R." Soviet offers during territorial negotiations with Finland prior to hostilities, the press asserted, would have protected the Finns. The negotiations broke down 10 days ago when Finland's representatives refused to accede to Russian demands.

The newly-concluded mutual assistance pact, signed in Moscow by Otto Kuusinen as head of the "democratic republic of Finland" set up in opposition to the Helsinki pact, granted Russia all the demands which had been made during fruitless negotiations.

(Apparently Russia's program for Finland calls for creation of a friendly government, nominally independent, and cession of some strategic territory without complete annexation by the Soviet union.)

The crew of an unnamed Admiralty trawler reported sinking of a German submarine and possibly a second off the east coast last week. After sinking the first U-boat, the crew said they attacked another with depth bombs and that oil patches indicated they had been successful.

Bury Son Seek To Adopt Lad Responsible

HEPBURN, O., Dec. 3—(AP)—A father and mother buried their 16-year-old son today—and to take his place sought to adopt the youth who killed him.

Obstacles stood in the way of their effort to blend compassion with sorrow, however.

Budford Loney disobeyed his mother and went hunting with 16-year-old Art Combs Wednesday. They had played together all their years in this village of 300.

Something happened. Budford's shotgun discharged and Art Combs, crouching in a road before him dead.

Budford, freed temporarily from jail where he was held for investigation, went hunting with 16-year-old Art Combs today at the cemetery. His dark eyes reflected the grief of losing his friend.

"The Combes asked him to fill the emptiness in their home."

Budford wasn't certain what to do. His mother, Mrs. Pearl McClaren, who bore Budford by a former husband, said "I want Budford."

The consent of both Mrs. McClaren and the probate court is necessary for adoption.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Junior Choir had charge of the music of the morning, rendering a most efficient service under the direction of John Inch, Mus. Bac., organist and choir-master.

The Rev. Harvey L. Denton, B. D., preached a sermon particularly addressed to the younger of his congregation, taking as his subject the question "Just Living?" It has been said that some people make the world, the others just come along and live in it. It is ours to choose whether we shall help to make a better world or just be satisfied to exist. "I always go with the wind," said the vanguard. "You can be a world maker if you fill to the extent of your power the place where God has set you. Abraham was a world maker, the pioneer of faith who saw the vision and accepted the challenge of its task. Sail on," said Columbus, the man of determined courage in his task as a world maker. To win Africa for Christ was the vision of Livingstone, truly a world maker. Our Lord Jesus was the supreme world maker, follow Him who brought us the ideals and inspiration toward the making of that better world.

The evening service opened with a fifteen minute period of congregational singing led by Mr. McAuley.

Mr. Denton delivered the sixth of the series on "Hymns We Love to Sing," basing his eloquent sermon on the thought which animates Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The choir gave a notable rendering of Prof. W. E. Fletcher's beautiful setting of Crossing the Bar.

The Communion of the Lord's Supper was observed at the evening service.
