Cattle sold from $100 to $205 each, according to quality and breeding. Everything else sold in proportion, showing that the country is getting back to its prosperous condition. Hay brought $39 per ton. Mr. Roberts was perfectly satisfied with the result of his sale and congratulated Mr. Carter on the able manner in which he conducted his sale.

Minard's Liniment for Colds, Etc. Rotary Club At Rotary Club luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Rose and Geyser rooms Dr. Honsfield presided. The attendance was small on account of the Monoclon Convention at which there is a large delegation of local Rotarians.

A resolution with regard to the establishment of a National Research Institute at Ottawa, circulated by the Honorary Advisory Council was warmly endorsed by the Club. This resolution urges upon the Government the necessity of taking steps towards the establishment of the institute, in order that the people of Canada might be given the necessary knowledge which would act as a spur towards the fallen development of the great resources of the country. The Rotary Club fully endorsed the proposal of the Council.

A very interesting address upon the Spirit of Canada was delivered by Rev. Dr. Moran (George) of the Central Christian Church which was much appreciated by the members and which evidenced a full knowledge of the subject and deep and sympathetic feeling on the part of the speaker.

Workers of India Are Human Ants LONDON, March 16.—The principle on which labor is carried on in India, especially in the territories of the princely states, says the Times correspondent with H. R. II, the Prince of Wales, is the immortal principle of the ant and the coral-insect. Given enough when the Prince drives abroad at night, on the way to a ball, polo, or a railway station, he goes for mile upon mile through avenues of light.

It is all done with the tiny oil lamps, whether small glass bowls or the more ancient—and still smaller—red earthenware chigres, which minute saucers like very small Chinese cups. Not only are all the outlines and architectural details of buildings picked out with these lights, so that each is a palimpsest of lights, but the streets and leagues of roads are hedged with light.

For days before, the ants have been at work erecting tall bamboo poles which support, perhaps, five or six lines of strings at heights of two feet or so. Then all day long they fill the cankers with them, and see tink wicks aglow in them. It is not quick work; and many hundred of ants are needed to light, let us say, 50,000 of the little star-like lamps in the course of a few hours. But the feet is inconceivable.

So it is with the lighting and tending of the flower-lamps in the gardens. If you go out in the early morning you see the ants at work, watering, weeding, trimming, breaking-up lumps of soil, a small brown figure squatting in almost every bed. Then through the day the pitiless waves of the sun try to break down what they have built, and next morning they build again. It is only a Maharajah, a Prince, who can have such resources as these; but they are very gorgeous.

It is charged that "jazz" music causes waris on the feet. The trouble lies in the lack of gray matter above the cervical vertebrae.

Bomb Maker Killed

NEW YORK, March 16.—Working on what the police believe to have been a bomb, Pietro Picura, of 355 East Seventy-sixth street, was fatally injured this afternoon when the chemicals he was mixing exploded. He died two hours later in Bellevue Hospital.

The explosion wrecked the tiny kitchen of Picura's three-room apartment, tearing through the walls into several adjoining rooms, and ripping its way through floor and ceiling into the cafe on the ground floor underneath. His wife, Angela, who was in the next room with the two-year-old daughter of the couple, was slightly wounded. The child Mary, escaped without a scratch.

The detonation, which was succeeded by the piercing screams of the woman and the wailing of the little girl, threw the crowded Italian neighborhood into an uproar. Men, women and children—there were 20 families living in the house—jumped their way down the narrow stairs in a wild rush for the street. Men hurrying to the rescue, found it impossible to get up to the second floor to the Picura apartment.

It took a full complement of officers from the West Sixty-seventh street station, aided by detectives to restore order.

WAR ON PROHIBITION PARIS, March 16.—With the dictum that spirits was to drink wine, Henry Cheron, French Minister of Agriculture, this afternoon opened the French wine week in the solemn surroundings of the Sorbonne.

There is going to be nothing but wine and champagne about the week-end celebration. At today's meeting the solemnity of the delegates and public was no less than it was in the conference hall in Washington, when Secretary Hughes rose to propose the limitation of naval armaments. On the chairman's table was a glass of water, but the audience, who drinkers to a man, was a living confirmation of the truth of the chairman's contention that wine was the best preventive for alcoholism, but the best antidote to every human ailment and a sure postponer of old age.

Truly declaring that America was mistaken about wine, he said that most Americans had never tasted good wine, and all those who were opposed to it had never tasted it at all. Minister Cheron proclaimed war on the prohibitionists. The whole object of this wine week is to encourage exports and help the industry through the very difficult times. "We want a crusade against prohibition," M. Cheron said every good thing that can possibly be said about wine is going to be done, a getting import taxes reduced and prohibition abolished is to be attempted for the good, not only of the wine industry, but of the world.

USE FOR OLD BOOT SOLES Many devices have been suggested for the utilization of old army boot soles, the chief being converted into production, but because most Americans had never tasted good wine, and all those who were opposed to it had never
