Detroit Tigers Even-up World Series

Rowe Pitches Bengals To Spectacular 3-2 Win In 12 Innings

"Goose" Goslin Belts Single To Send Gehring Scurrying Home With Winning Tally.

DETROIT, Oct. 4.—Surging back into the World Series fight behind the superb pitching of Lynwood ("Schoolboy") Rowe, 22-year-old pitching giant from Eldorado, Arkansas, Detroit Tigers came from behind today to capture a 12-inning baseball melodrama from St. Louis Cardinals and serve notice that it's going to be a knock-down-and-drag-out battle for the championship of 1934.

Trailing by one run in a dazzling duel between Rowe and Lefty Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals, the American League champions tied the score in the ninth on pinch-hitter Gerald Walker's single and triumphed in the 12th, off another southpaw, Bill Walker, as Goose Goslin's rousing single to centre brought Charley Gehring home with the winning run and clinched a 3-2 decision for the celebrated schoolboy.

Rowe Brilliant

Rowe signalled his debut under World Series fire by hurling one of the most spectacular games in championship history. Belted for six hits and a pair of runs inside the first three innings, as the Cardinals got away with a characteristic spurt, the youthful giant stung down and simply overpowered the National League champions the rest of the way.

Rowe yielded only one hit in the last nine innings, a long double by Pepper Martin in the 11th. From the fourth to the 11th, the Tiger pitcher was absolutely invulnerable as he retired 22 batters in order. Altogether only 28 Cardinals faced the boy wonder in those last nine innings. He struck out seven, including Joe Medwick, hitting star of the first game, twice and had the entire batting order of the National League's hand-picked speedster in the last two innings of speed, curves and a change of pace.

Share Spotlight

Rowe was the big hero for a thrilling crowd of 42,451 cash customers. A slightly bigger turnout than for the opening game, but he shared the Tiger laurels with Goslin, Walker and Ervin ("Pete") Fox, the light-hitting outfielder who drove in the first Tiger run in the fourth with a double and scored the tying run in the ninth, to make it possible for Detroit to capitalize the Schoolboy's spectacular finishing job.

Goslin, besides driving home the winning run, helped save the game in the third when his great throw to Mickey Cochrane, after Jim Collins' single, cut down Medwick at the plate and halted the last Cardinal attack of the afternoon.

Where they had piled up no less than five errors in the first game and performed miserably, the Tigers played errorless ball today. They were lucky, perhaps, to save the game after being held helpless in a succession of "clutches" by Hallahan's fine pitching with men on the bases, but they never quit fighting and they looked like an entirely different ball club at the finish.

Anybody's Series

As a result of their thrilling conquest, the series stands one-all and it's anybody's baseball war now as the contending forces headed to-night for St. Louis and the third game tomorrow on the home grounds of the National League champions. Paul Dean, manager of the Cardinal pitching brothers, will be assigned the task of picking up the family job where Dizzy Dean left off with an 8-3 decision yesterday. The Tigers will rely on their slim fast ball right-hander, Tommy Bridges.

The Cardinals still look to have the pitching edge on the whole, with the Deans yet to taste defeat and Hallahan the victim only of a super-finish today but they will need all their resources from now on to check the charge of the Tigers, who have tasted the enemy's blood for the first time and will be hard to beat the rest of the way.

Until their spirited rally it looked very much as though Rowe's gathering mastery was going to be wasted. Repeatedly with men on bases the Tigers were impatient before the fast ball and sharp-breaking curve of Hallahan. Nine men were left on bases through as many innings before Detroit finally struck the blow that completely changed the complexion of the game and lifted the vast crowd roaring to its feet.

Detroit Guns Spiked

After a pair of useful but somewhat fluky two-batters by Billy Rogell and Fox had produced the first Tiger run, in the fourth, the big guns of the Detroit attack were consistently spiked, Hank Greenberg twice fanned with men on bases. Rowe himself came up three times with runners aboard but he fanned three times before he came through in the ninth, with a sacrifice bunt that sent Pete Fox, who had singled, scurrying to second base.

It was at this critical juncture, with the outcome in the balance, that Cochrane decided to substitute right-handed Gerald Walker for Jo-Jo White, lead-off man, but a break in the Cardinal defence paved the way for Walker to come through with his vital basehit. The pinch-hitter lifted a weak fly mid-way between the plate and first base. First Bill Dwyer, the base stop, and then Collins started for the ball. Then both hesitated and before either one could make up his mind, the ball fell just inside the foul line and then caromed across it. Instead of two out, as the Cardinals shouted in triumph, it quickly set off by belting the ball on a line to centrefield, sending Fox home with the tying run. The blow also knocked Hallahan from the box. Another Cardinal southpaw, Bill Walker, promptly stepped to the mound and struck out Manager Cochrane, sending the battle into extra innings.

Rowe made only one mistake in capitalizing his belated opportunity for triumph. That was when he grounded out Martin slapping the bat off first base in the 11th, with one out, but the Schoolboy then fanned Jack Rothrock and retired Frisch on a pop fly to Gehring.

Meanwhile Bill Walker gradually lost control and was the direct cause of Tiger partisan and deservingly to Rowe whose winning performance on the whole ranks among the finest in world series annals. The over-time duration of the game was only two innings short of the record, set in 1916 when Babe Ruth plied the Brooklyn Red Sox to victory over the Brooklyn 2 to 1 in 14 innings. The famous Bambino was a spectator in the press box today as the youthful Tiger star finished his masterly achievement.

At the outset, however, it looked as though Rowe was content to be a drubbing. He got past the first, when Frisch got his first hit in the series and added thereby to his own series record for total safeties, but Delancey's single and Orsatti's triple to the left field corner of the field, gave the Cardinals a one run lead.

Pepper Martin's single, Rothrock's sacrifice and Medwick's fifth hit of the series, a single to left, registered another St. Louis run in the third. It looked like the blow-off as Medwick galloped to second on the throw-in and Kim Collins slashed another hit over Rogell's head. Medwick tore around third

Tried Hard

Ernie Orsatti tried hard to handle the quickly and efficiently cut down Gehring at the plate but his throw was so wild that there was not the remotest chance for a play and the crowd was already pouring on to the field as the Tiger second baseman registered the deciding run. The home players were fairly mobbed by enthusiastic voters and it took a detail of police to help them fight their way through the jubilant throng to the dressing room.

BIG FIGHT SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Art Lasky and Steve Hamas to Battle For Right to Meet Baer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—With a crack at Max Baer's title at stake, two young heavyweights meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in the first indoor show of the metropolitan season.

The 10-round encounter between Art Lasky, Minneapolis giant, and Steve Hamas, former Penn State College football luminary, is the first of a series of winter elimination contests planned by the Garden. The survivor likely will be pitted against Baer in a big open air carnival next June.

Later in the winter the other leading contenders among the big fellows will be trotted out to see what they can do. These include the late champ, Primo Carners, Max Schmeling, also a former standard bearer, and the promising Jack Peterson of England.

The Broadway sporting gentry installed Lasky as a favorite in the 7 to 5 tonight, but this price may be shortened to 5 to 5 before the boys start bawling, around 10 p. m., E. S. T.

Junior Abegweits Play Today

The first game of the Maritime Junior Baseball finals between the Charlottetown Abbeles and Amherst St. Pats will be played at the C. O. A. Grounds this afternoon at 3.15.

Tried and proven a result of their victories over Whitney Pier, Cape Breton champions, and the Moncton Rovers, New Brunswick titleholders, the Amherst team are favorites to keep the junior title on the mainland, but the locals are just as determined that the crown shall rest here. Under the direction of Lou Campbell the boys have been diligently practicing and baseball fans may be assured of a bang-up tilt in this afternoon's engagement.

Halahan gave a sample of his ability in the pinches when he checked the Tigers after Martin's two-base wild throw on Rogell's grounder in the sixth. On Owen's weak tap to the box, Halahan caught Rogell at third, then forced Fox to pop out and fanned Rowe for the third straight time.

In contrast with yesterday's sloppily work, the Tigers pulled themselves together and fielded sensationally. The infield was steady again, giving Rowe fine support that included a spectacular diving catch by Rogell of Delancey's smash in the seventh.

CHARLES GEHRINGER

Second baseman for the Detroit Tigers, who is conceded to be the best second baseman in the American League since Eddie Collins and Napoleon Lajoie were in their prime, being a sensational fielder and an excellent batsman. He is hitting close to 360 mark this season. Gehring scored the winning run yesterday.

DON GEORGE RETAINS TITLE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
HALIFAX, Oct. 4.—Handsome Ed Don George, 218, Buffalo, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship tonight defeated Harry Lundin, the Cornell Terror, 218, in straight falls in the Halifax Arena, retaining his role as a paramount mat contender.

It was the best display of grappling seen in Halifax and the Buffalo thunderbolt's prowess at scrambling and thumping down his opponent apparently tickled the 1,200 fans. As the sleek, capable performer ran through his string of tricks and finally smashed the terror to the floor, they cheered.

Sleek as a movie star, clean-cut as a college boy he was as able a scrapper as has appeared on a Nova Scotia mat. George tugged, mauled and hugged his way to the decisive victory. He got his first fall after a half hour and five seconds of straining and sweating, with an effective head scissor.

Then when 12 minutes and 23 seconds elapsed on the second encounter, George grasped Lundin for an aeroplane whirl that spun the terror to the floor.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Stagging one of the most amazing series in the history of the United States women's golf championship Mrs. Opal Hill, 44-year-old Kansas City matron, today defeated Mrs. Leona Cheney, San Gabriel, Calif., on the 24th green in a thrill-packed climax to the quarter-final round of the 38th national tournament.

Their marathon struggle completely overshadowed the other fourth-round 18-hole matches which saw Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Virginia Van Wie, the defending titleholder, and Dorothy Traung, 20-year-old sensation of the early rounds, winning penultimate brackets with plenty to spare.

Mrs. Vare, continuing her brilliant sub-par play, defeated Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, 6 and 5; Miss Van Wie won from Frances Williams of Allentown, Pa., 5 and 3 and 2.

Mrs. Vare meets Miss Van Wie tomorrow while Miss Traung undertakes to continue her streak at the expense of Mrs. Hill.

4, and Miss Traung defeated Mrs. Carl H. Donner, Short Hills, N. J., 4 and 3.

The "Goose"

LEON ALLEN GOSLIN

Better known to baseball fans as "Goose" Goslin, is one of the spark plugs of the Detroit Tigers. An excellent outfielder, Goose swings a wicked bat. He is batting better than 300 and has driven in more than 84 runs. His lifetime batting average is around 320. Goose cracked the single yesterday which gave Detroit the game in the 12th inning.

Leafs, Red Birds Resume Play Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 4.—Columbus Red Birds and Toronto Maple Leafs, just killing time until tomorrow night when they go back into action in the fifth game of the little world series, in which the Columbus club is leading three games to one, enjoyed themselves today.

The birds practiced a bit at the Stadium, and then the entire squad attended an appreciation dinner tendered by the fans of the city.

The Leafs slept late and then loafed until this afternoon when they moved out to the Stadium for a short workout.

World Series Sidelights

DETROIT, Oct. 4.—Rowe started out today like a "Schoolboy," but finished like a professor.

Both the "Schoolboy" and Dizzy Dean are making the baseball experts swell their chests. The experts said they were good and drummed up probably the greatest fanfare that ever accompanied any two players into their first World Series. Usually, the famous first timers are colossal busts.

Rowe, who watched Medwick hammer out four trips in four successive times at bat yesterday, didn't take a chance on "Stucky Wucky" today, holding him to one hit in five chances. Medwick didn't get a real good ball all day.

"Goose" Goslin's throw to the plate to nip Medwick in the third inning was a masterpiece. It was so strong and accurate that it caught Medwick by 10 feet and ultimately saved the game as the run would have been the Cardinals' third.

The two teams are all square—errors, too. Each has made five in two games.

If the Tigers had lost, Hank Greenberg's face would have been red. The big Detroit first baseman had chance after chance to become the day's hero only to miss, striking out twice with the tying run on base. He played a sparkling defensive game to make up for it.

Every time Frankie Frisch goes to bat he sets a record. He got one hit today to run his World Series mark to 53. Frisch also holds the record for most series games played, now 45, and most times at bat, now 178.

Al Schacht and Joe E. Brown participated in a prize fight within a roped arena near the plate as the fans roared. Joe won by a "knockout" in the second round. Al was counted out by George Raff, who caught a few of the synthetic punches himself.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Despite their loss of the second world series game, the Cardinals remain the favorites to win the championship, according to revised odds of Tom Kearney, betting commissioner. Here are Kearney's revised odds: Cardinals to win series, 7 to 10. Detroit to win series, even money.
