NEW CHAPTER IN IRISH HISTORY BEGINS THIS WEEK

The Home Rule Partition Act Most Momentous in Ireland for Generations Becomes Effective This Week. Little Interest Manifested in This Important Development.

(Special to The Guardian) DUBLIN, May 2.—A new chapter in Irish history, in many respects the most momentous in generations will be recorded this week with the inauguration of the new home rule parliament act.

This will mark the end of the age of Union under which Ireland has been governed from Westminster for one hundred and twenty years. The week will also witness the inauguration of Lord Talbot, the new Lord Lieutenant who is the first Catholic to hold that office in recent times.

Despite the importance of these developments, the Irish people appeared today to await them with the utmost indifference. Commenting upon them, the United Irish Times one of the most conservative of newspapers in the country, said: "Under other conditions, these events might well have been the occasion of a great outburst of enthusiasm, particularly on the part of those who constitute the great majority of the population."

SUPREME COUNCIL WORKING OUT DETAILS AS TO GERMANY

In Case She Fails to Comply With Ultimatum of the Allies. Four Suggestions Being Considered. Decision as to Naval Action Deferred Awaiting Views of Washington.

(Special to The Guardian) LONDON, May 3.—The Supreme Council met at 10 o'clock this morning to receive the report of the financial experts who are working out the details of the government and to be demanded of Germany for the payment of reparations and also to hear the views of military and naval experts on the measures to be taken if Germany fails to comply with the terms of the allied ultimatum.

Four suggestions were examined, namely, blockade of the German ports, a partial blockade, a demonstration without a blockade and seizure of the customs receipts in German ports. Sir Gordon Howard, for Great Britain and M. Fromageot, the famous international member of the French foreign office gave their judgment as to the rights of the allies in relation to neutral countries. The unanimous opinion was that nothing further should be done at present concerning naval action until the views of the Washington government were learned and only as an additional means of compulsion in the event that occupation of the Ruhr if carried out, should not prove sufficient to cause a surrender by Germany.

The representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium are agreed that the United States must be invited to send a representative to the Supreme Council. The council of ambassadors meeting regularly in Paris and the reparations commission it has been thought was not to urge the Washington government to enter these bodies until after May 12 when the results of the present decision of the Supreme Council have been seen.

No formal action in this regard has been taken by the Council but informally the representatives of the various governments have interchanged this view. Marshall Foch who participated in today's meeting said he could encircle the Ruhr with troops one day, that only six or seven divisions would be necessary. The occupation could be completed on the second day, he declared, by sending patriots in the interior to take railway centres and strategic cross roads.

Death of Mr. William G. Sutherland, M.L.A.

With sincere regret The Guardian is called upon to chronicle the death of Mr. William George Sutherland, M. L. A., who passed away at his home at Montague at 8 o'clock last evening in the 54th year of his age.

The news of Mr. Sutherland's death will come as a shock to his many friends as he was only seriously ill about a week. Although he has been in poor health for the past few years, he had been able to attend to his duties until Monday last week when he was taken suddenly ill on his way to Charlottetown to attend the legislature.

Deceased was born at New London, P. E. I. where he resided until he moved to Montague about 15 years ago when he purchased the Montague Flour and Lumber Mills. Mr. Sutherland was a man of sterling qualities and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

It was at the solicitation of his many Liberal friends that he was induced to enter the political field, being first elected to the Legislature at the general election in 1918 to represent the Murray Harbor district and although he did not take an active part in the debates of the legislature during the short time that he was privileged to be present yet he was recognized by his colleagues as a man of exceptionally good judgment and with a clear vision of all questions that came up for discussion.

He leaves to mourn his widow, formerly Ina M. MacIntyre, one son George at home and three daughters, Annie A., wife of Mr. J. J. Stewart of this city and Margaret and Jennie at home, also three brothers—Daniel, Robert and Gordon in western Canada and two sisters, Eliza, wife of Mr. John Campbell, Long River, and Rebecca, wife of Dr. J. D. McIntyre, of Montague to all of whom The Guardian extends deepest sympathy.

in dainty dresses of point d'esprit over pink silk, carrying baskets of sweet peas and roses, from which they spread lavishly a path of rose leaves as the wedded pair passed to the library.

Mr. Louison was attended by Mr. A. F. C. Ross, host of the occasion. A dainty repast was served after the ceremony, the table being beautifully decorated with daffodils and roses, and hearty congratulations were bestowed on Mr. Louison and his bride, who left on the afternoon train for Quebec. The bride's going away costume was a most becoming navy blue tailored suit, with navy hat and gray oversuits. Mrs. Louison, who is both charming and accomplished, will receive a cordial welcome in Charlottetown and will prove a valuable addition
