The grand total since the beginning of the War was 2518.

"Henry Aldrich Swings It" At Capitol, S'side

— That incorrigible, ingratiating boy you love to laugh at — Henry Aldrich — has gotten himself a brand new set of problems which Paramount has fashioned into another hilarious movie called "Henry Aldrich Swings It," now at the Capitol Theatre.

Henry, in the person of Jimmy Lydon, is in this case enamored of his music teacher, Marian Hall, much to the unhappiness of his regular girl friend, Mimi Chandler. To buy Miss Hall a new piano Henry looks for outside engagements for his swing band and finds one in a shady night club. Before their night club date, however, the boys and girls play in a school concert in accompaniment of the great violinist, Josef Altman, portrayed by Fritz Feld. Altman plays on a Stradivarius worth $10,000 and a couple of crooks are in the audience with a well thought out plan to steal it.

But our hero, Henry, picks up Altman's violin instead of his own, when the concert is over, and the crooks get Henry's worthless fiddle instead of the Strad. Henry unknowingly uses the precious violin in his night club engagement and is forced to leave it behind him when the place is raided.

You can see the possibilities for fun provided by this particular predicament of Henry's. And from everything heard about the picture, "Henry Aldrich Swings It" more than lives up to them.

1944 CIVIC

ing statement:

"We have checked your estimated expenditures against the possible revenue for the year 1944.

"If in some cases we have not met with your approval we are very anxious to talk it over here tonight and it is our hope that all Chairmen and committee members will continue to cooperate with your Finance Committee throughout the year to come as you have in making out your estimates.

"We have not made any drastic changes in your statements so well were they completed, and would like to add for the Citizens information that we have not increased any expenditure; we have cut all controllable accounts to the bone.

"As you all know we have to make up the extra $11,000 requested by the School Board and this from the same revenue as 1943. In order to do this without raising the tax rate each Committee will have to see that under no circumstances do they over expend their estimates and please see that as little capital as possible be voted because we cannot find the money to pay the interest and before the curtain for 1944 is rung down we will be able to show the taxpayers that we have been good servants."

The meeting also passed bylaws fixing the rate of assessment on real and personal property at 2.85, unchanged from last year, and providing for a continuation of the installment method of collecting taxes.

For those who pack lunch boxes —and their number is legion — Nutrition Services suggest that vitaminfilled vegetables may be frequently introduced into the sandwich filling. Finely chopped parsley in generous quantity, chopped celery or celery leaves, grated carrot or turnip add food value and combine well with meat, cheese, egg or fish fillings.

House In Committee On Dairymen's Act

Provincial Legislature, March 9
The House met at 1:45 P.M.

Mr. Bell asked if it was the intention to have the snow plow go further than Winsloe on the Summerside highway. He urged that it be sent to Milton if possible.

Hon. Mr. Barbour said this might be possible after a few days of soft weather, but he could not promise this at present.

Mr. Heath Strong asked if there was any possibility of getting farm labour this year.

Premier Jones said applications had come from many sources. Recommendations are being made to obtain release of men who have been called up, and these are frequently granted. Under the federal scheme of paying $3.00 a day for soldier farm labour this Province is at a considerable disadvantage, he admitted.

The following government bills were introduced and read a first time: An Act to amend an Act to provide for superannuation allowances for school teachers: an Act to amend an Act respecting jurors and juries.

Hon. Mr. Hughes presented a report of the committee on printing and binding journals, which was adopted.

An Act to incorporate the Summerside Youth Centre Incorporated was read a third time and passed.

Dairymen's Act

On motion of Premier Jones the House went into committee with Mr. Heath Strong in the chair on an Act to amend the Dairymen's Association.

Under Sec. 21 of the statute authority is given to make an assessment for the employment of an instructor or instructors. The amendment proposes that the assessment may now be used for the promotion of the dairy industry.

Premier Jones said it was hoped next year that the Act would be overhauled to give representation on the board of privately owned factories as well as cooperatives. At present they are assessed without having representation.

Mr. McPhee said this was not quite the case. The private concerns have a minority representation.

Dr. McMillan recalled the Premier's charge that the co-operative factories had been "cheating". Who was responsible for this condition? he asked.

Premier Jones: "The factories themselves."

Dr. McMillan: "Is there an inspector of the factories?"

Premier Jones: "Yes, he is the man who discovered it."

Dr. McMillan: Wasn't it discovered before last year?"

Premier Jones: "Not that I know of."

Dr. McMillan: "Here is a reflection on an honorable class of people. How did the Dominion Government get their information?"

Premier Jones: "They pay a bonus to the factories, and when the reports went in the Government wouldn't pay it because the over-run is too high."

Dr. McMillan: "Wouldn't that be self evident for a long time?"

Premier Jones: "It should have been."

Dr. McMillan: "Has the situation been corrected?"

Premier Jones: "It corrects itself once it is exposed."

Dr. McMillan: "How long have they been doing it?"

Premier Jones: "I don't know. It probably was going on when you were in office, only you never found it out."

Serious Reflection

Dr. McMillan: "I doubt that. I think this is a good opportunity to have the matter explained, because it was stated on the platform, in the press, and recently in the House, that our dairymen were thieves. I want to find out how they were thieves. Was it by accident or design? It seems that the Dominion Government was the first to discover it. How did they make the discovery? Was it our inspector or theirs? It is a reflection on the dairymen of the Province, and the Dominion Government found them out. I still think there is some misunderstanding about it. I don't think that the cooperatives would do anything like that intentionally."

Premier Jones: "You don't think one cooperative would try to get ahead of another?"

Dr. McMillan: "I don't think they would cheat."

Premier Jones: "If they were cheating everyone alike?"

Dr. McMillan: "What would happen if they were cheating everyone alike? Would anybody lose anything?"

Premier Jones: "Their patrons wouldn't get the bonus."

Dr. McMillan: "This was an evolution under your Premiership. You never knew of its existence before?"

Premier Jones: "I knew of its existence in a private capacity, as long as twenty years ago, that they lowered the tests all around so that the factory would make a better showing. It didn't make any trouble until last year, when the Dominion Government began paying the bonus."

Mr. McPhee: "It didn't touch the manufacture of cheese?"

Mr. Hunter: "No, it didn't affect the prices at all."

Mr. McPhee said he understood that each factory had a vote in the Dairymen's Association, whether cooperative or privately owned. Therefore it was not correct to say that private enterprise had no representation.

Hon. Mr. Barbour said the inspector should check cream samples at the dairies from time to time, to see that the producer is properly protected.

Premier Jones said that in other Provinces, tests of the dairies and by the factories are published in parallel columns.

After further discussion, the bill was reported agreed to.

The WEEK at S.D.U.

On Thursday Feb. 24th a detailed report was given by Frank J O'Keefe of the special meeting of the officers of the Canadian Federation of Catholic College Students held at Sacred Heart Convent Halifax on Feb 18th. Following a discussion of the aims of the Federation many recommendations were made including the following that a form of Gallop Poll be established which would tabulate student opinion on the big social questions of today, that student opinion be clarified and crystallized through panel discussions and published in campus papers, that the C.F.C.C.S. should attempt to voice their conclusions in the secular press, and that a greater effort be made to acquaint students with the Catholic attitude towards modern social questions.

Another special skate sponsored by the Students Council was held in the College rink on Saturday March 4th, and was an outstanding success.

A special word of praise goes to Owen Sharkey and Andrew MacDonald for the efficient manner in which they arranged for and supervised the evenings program.

On Wednesday the Junior Class held a meeting at which committees were formed and plans discussed for the holding of the annual Junior Prom.

On Wednesday morning Mr S.H. Prince, Ph D. Prof of Sociology at King's University gave an instructive lecture to the Seniors and Juniors. Dr Prince explained what social work offers us a profession today and he introduced the students to the opportunities afforded at the Maritime School of Social Work Halifax. One of the five such schools in Canada, this school offers graduate work in social welfare work.
