Better the Man with His Eye to the Sky than the Man with His Ear to the Ground

ALL through its long, successful history, A General Motors of Canada has had its eye to the horizon . . . listening not for what followed, but looking always toward the thing ahead. And General Motors has seen many of its visions realized. . . .

It has seen a great industry grow up in Canada to supply the Canadian family with a means of transportation to meet its needs and resources, to answer the desire for style, dependability, luxury.

It has seen, in the Canadian Fisher Body plants, the perpetuation of Canadian ideals of craftsmanship.

It has seen, in the General Motors Research laboratories, the development of countless advances and refinements on which much of modern motoring comfort depends.

It has seen, on the General Motors Proving Grounds, the proof of principles which are now accepted factors in automobile design and construction.

It has seen the triumph of co-operative purchasing and manufacturing methods with their resultant economies to be shared with the buyers of General Motors cars.

And the eyes of General Motors are still to the horizon . . . still seeking new ways to improve General Motors cars and to place the cars within reach of ever-widening circles of Canadian buyers.

INSIDIOUS EYE STRAIN

We use this adjective advisedly.

Sufferers from Eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect.

The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy.

Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.

York Minster Bell Recast

YORK, Eng., Oct. 15.—The third biggest bell in England, ranking in size only after Big Ben at Westminster and the big bell at St. Paul's Cathedral, "Big Peter," returned to York Minster recently after the absence of a year at Loughborough, where it has been recast and had new head stock made for it so that it can be rung. It is now quite glossy in appearance compared with the old rusty bell which had hung useless for 81 years in the north-west tower of the Minster.

THE DESTRUCTIVE CRITIC

By E. C. Balrn.

I am the destructive critic. I feed upon the mistakes of people. I laugh at human frailty. I sneer at the patient plodder. I pick flaws in things that are precious and noble. I magnify deformity. I break hearts and mold bitter tears. I dim the light of hope and darkness on the glow of faith. I jest at piety and caricature the things of God. I don the garb of a clown and invade the Sanctuary of truth, polluting her white altars. I retard the work of the sturdy builders of things. I scatter ashes among roses. I speak words that are as arrows—poison-tipped. I am the handmaid of despair. I am the friend of the digger of graves.

Since the world began, I have done no constructive thing. I am the world's greatest destroyer. I am the destructive critic.
