STAGE SET

government in the Axis, was reported to have twice scheduled radio addresses to the populace, but twice cancelled them as the outpouring of anger grew.

Boys from 10 to 18 refused to attend classes in three Belgrade public schools, gathering to sing Nationalist songs in the schoolyards and defying their teachers to silence them. Many were arrested.

One of the largest demonstrations was in Kraljevo, Serbia, where the chief of the Radical party lives. More than 3,000 men and women there gathered in the public square, heard an address by Bishop Njoki, and then paraded through the streets, denouncing the "treacherous government." Police there made no attempt to interfere.

Most intense feeling was shown in Biloi (Monastir), capital of old Macedonia, where Communist and Italian bombing plane killed 19 persons, having come over the border from the scene of the war with Greece.

Many Biloi demonstrators shouted a desire to enter the Greek army. The Belgrade textile mills closed in mid-afternoon when workers released for lunch continued demonstrations against the government.

In Hadji Popovic, Central Serbian city, 2,000 peasants, many brandishing pitchforks, cried out: "We want war!"

Skopje and Cetinje, two strong Communist centres, thousands merely renewed with greater vigor the demonstrations of yesterday.

In Kraljevo, in Eastern Serbia, old Communist songs were sung by thousands who fended off the futile efforts of police to keep them away.

A favorite song in all the demonstrations was "Stand up, You Free Fighters. Our Hour Has Come. We will Battle to the Death."

In the Yugoslavian border in the key Montenegrin city of Podgorica, and on many another, the story was the same.

labor leaders do not measure up to the people will brush you aside. Because if you don't save freedom for them they have a right to ask—they are going to call upon a leadership with the power to give them what they want.

The record of the past 20 years, said Mr. Willkie, is not a record of failure of the people.

"It is a record of the failure of leadership, and the test in the world today—as I told the British cabinet during my visit to England—is whether leadership has the capacity to measure up to these critical times."

"Now this is a war of production, and it cannot be won by political leadership alone. This is a test as to whether the democratic enterprise system can out-produce the totalitarian enslaved method of production. . . . well, I put it up to you now. I put it up to the business men of America to prove it. I think they can. If I did not think they could, I could not believe in liberty. But I call you to that duty and to that task."

But business and political leadership was not enough, said Mr. Willkie. "Labor leadership must exert the responsibility for leadership in labor that will permit political leadership, business leadership and labor leadership to say 'yes, yes, the democratic world can produce as fast as we can to make the totalitarian world seem like toy manufacturers.'"

Mr. Willkie said he was convinced the Nazis could not successfully invade Britain and could upon Canadians and Americans alike to meet the challenge and give Britain "ships and ships and ships, even though we have to make some sacrifice to our own personal uses in the meantime."

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Willkie announced that the "Wings for Britain" Fund would receive the $22,250 cheque which he gave to Prime Minister Mackenzie King in Toronto last night.

The cheque for purchase of a Spitfire, was donated by the Linen Trades Association of the United States.

the immense responsibility that will jointly rest upon them and that, in the words of Pascal "We will jointly combine justice and power, making what is just, strong and what is strong, just!"

Will Win in Atlantic
Lord Halifax said he was confident of Britain's ability to win the battle of the Atlantic, where Hitler was expected to put forth his greatest effort.

"Our experience," he said, "shows that, while in the coming months the attacks on British shipping may cause us grave losses, our defensive measures are sound, provided we are equipped with adequate strength and speed."

"In the next few critical months it will, as I see it, be a race between the airplane and the submarine, and the increase in the defensive weapons that will reduce them below the danger level."

Michael Dwyer, senior manager of the Acadia Coal Company and president of the Nova Scotia Coal River, started Simpson and Morrell on their way. The call for help reached him at Stellarton by way of Fred Baxter of Liverpool, N. S., who had received word of the accident from the mine owners.

At the time of the Moose River episode, Dwyer was minister of mines in Nova Scotia. He went to the little community and took personal charge of the rescue work, descending into the caved-in mine to see the dangerous operations at first hand.

His Draegermen, Simpson and Morrell, were at Cape Tormentine, N. B., tonight, waiting to cross Northumberland Strait in the morning.

Simpson and Morrell worked with the Draeger crews that spent weary days at Moose River tunnelling through the collapsed mine where Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding of Toronto were buried alive almost five years ago with Ferman MacNeil, Robertson, N. S., and Scadding were brought out alive, but MacNeil died before the rescuers dug their way down to them.

Police break

Up strikers at Steel plant

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 25 (AP)—A detachment of 125 Pennsylvania State police, swinging night clubs and some riding horses, drove pickets and strike-sympathizers from streets adjoining the Bethlehem Steel Company Plant tonight on the heels of non-violence.

Less than an hour before, pickets, thrown around the five-mile-long mills by the Congress of Industrial Organizations' steel workers organizing committee, had begun overturning cars parked in the vicinity.

Thirty-five or more were overturned and damaged on a parking lot across the street from the company office building. A dozen were rolled over an embankment on the approach to a bridge that spans the Lehigh River almost in the center of the sprawling plant.

Strike leaders claimed the automobiles were owned by those reported for work today—and who remained in the plant tonight when the company provided food and sleeping facilities in an apparent move to withstand siege.

At least four men were injured in earlier disturbances today. A city policeman received hospital treatment for gas burns suffered as pickets overturned a police car. The union said five pickets were temporarily blinded by tear gas.

Another resolution adopted was that the Provincial Government "employ a fish, fire and game warden on the St. Croix River and also that special attention be given to warden service along the international boundary."

Soviets attitude Towards Turks

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The United States applauded Soviet Russia's friendly attitude toward Turkey today and at the same time wrote off Yugoslavia as a possible British ally by freezing its assets in the country.

These developments quickly followed Yugoslavia's formal entry into the Axis alliance and Russia's promise of "comprehensive neutrality" in the event that Turkey were attacked or entered the war to defend its territory.

Meanwhile, it was learned authoritatively that months-long negotiations between the United States and Russia on trade and other questions had taken a distinct turn for the better.

Russia was said to have about $200,000,000 worth of orders pending for goods in the United States and $50,000,000 more projected. Most of these purchases are dependent upon the granting of export licenses.

The formal applause of Russia's reassuring attitude toward Turkey came from Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State.

He told his press conference that the independence of a number of nations in recent months had been threatened at least temporarily.

At such a time, he declared, the United States found satisfaction in the fact that a greater power, Soviet Russia had reaffirmed its intention of maintaining "comprehensive neutrality" in event that a neighboring country were to suffer an attack.

He also indicated that the United States had tried to keep Yugoslavia out of the Axis.

The ink was scarcely dry on Yugoslavia's signature to the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo pact before the United States issued an order making that country the 13th with frozen assets in the United States.

Yugoslavia's assets here were estimated at well over $50,000,000.

FAITH IN MAN'S HONESTY CONTINUES JUSTIFIED
TORONTO, Ont., March 21—John Burrell has faith in the honesty of men and a recent experience justifies that faith, he holds.

An airman bound for Saskatoon arrived at the Union Station where Mr. Burrell is Canadian National Railways passenger agent, and found himself short just $2.00 of the necessary fare. Mr. Burrell advanced a two spot, the airman went on his way and immediately on arrival at Saskatoon forwarded $2 with a note of thanks to his benefactor.

Five pilots in overall for six months of ground duty prior to a first flight training, the application was declined with thanks.

Act ruling guides For visiting anglers

FREDERICTON, N.B., March 25 (CP)—A resolution urging that the Provincial Government require at least one registered guide to accompany each party of non-resident fishermen in New Brunswick, was passed today at a special meeting of the Provincial executive of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association.

"The Association feels that from the viewpoint of forest fire prevention no non-residents should be permitted to enter our forests without supervision of some kind," stated the resolution.

Another resolution adopted was that the Provincial Government "employ a fish, fire and game warden on the St. Croix River and also that special attention be given to warden service along the international boundary."

Reaction before Next move

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON, March 25.—(CP Cable)—Germany scored a diplomatic victory today in adding Yugoslavia to the list of her Balkan bloodless conquests, informed sources conceded, but these sources speculated that the Nazis might wait to test popular reaction in Yugoslavia before making their next move.

Hitler's gains are smaller than in the Rumanian and Bulgarian pacts, but it is pointed out that any concession to Germany by the Nazis the thin edge of the wedge.

When at their face value, Germany's pledges of political independence and promises not to send troops across Yugoslav territory are important, but promises depend on German good faith previously shown to be useless.
