Gold Miners to go Deeper Into Earth

The high price paid for gold at the present time is bringing into operation mines which could not be profitably worked under former prices and mine owners have been tending around with a view to extending the workings of existing mines. In the great gold bearing areas of the Transvaal, in South Africa, states the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways, the greatest depth to which mines can be worked at present is 7,500 feet, the high temperatures encountered beyond that depth, coupled with the high humidity brought about by having to use the wet mining process to control dust, making it practically impossible to go any deeper.

Even now, at the deeper levels, workers are seriously affected by the heat and humidity, and deaths from heat stroke are not uncommon. Mine owners in South Africa are giving serious consideration to the installation of air conditioning plants, which is a late development, and one of the deepest mines has already installed a plant that cools the air at the surface to from 33 to 35 degrees Fahrenheit. It has been possible by the use of air conditioning to reduce the temperature at 6,000 feet by 0.5 degrees below the winter average which is 10 degrees below summer figures, winter average being 69.5 degrees dry bulb and summer average 79.5. The plant was not put into operation until after the close of the summer season so figures are not yet available to show summer temperatures. It is estimated that by extending the depth of the workings to 10,000 feet, with ore conditions remaining the same, would enlarge the ore reserves of existing mines by 200,000,000 tons, giving an added revenue of roughly $1,400,000,000.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN W. MUTTART

The death of John W. Muttart, one of the most highly esteemed and well-known residents of Albany, took place quite suddenly on the evening of November 6th. Mr. Muttart was a very prominent farmer and always took a keen interest and an active part in everything pertaining to the welfare of the community. He leaves to mourn his wife, formerly Miss Levina McVarish of Bristol, King's County, and five daughters, Hilda age 13, Doris age 10, Helen age 6, Elsie age 4 and Freda age 18 months. Surviving also are two sisters, Mrs. John P. Shields and Mrs. J. B. Goodman, both of Boston, Mass.; two brothers, James in Edmonton, Alberta, and George in Carleton, P. E. I. The funeral which was held at St. Peter's Church, Seven Mile Bay on November 8th was very largely attended as Mr. Muttart was widely known. Services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Monaghan. The pall bearers were: Murdoch Dawson, J. B. Noonan, Harry Muttart, Urban J. Pineau, Roland Philpott and Thomas Warren. Among the tokens of sympathy received were a wreath from the pupils and teachers of Albany Village School, of which school Mr. Muttart had been a Trustee for several years; Mass Cards from wife and family, Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Pineau, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Shields, Dorchester, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goodman, Roxbury, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Connor, Carleton; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Noonan, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Warren, Albany; Thomas Warren, Albany; Harold Tierney, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muttart, Carleton; Mr. and Mrs. James Warren and family, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hennessey and daughter, Borden; Mr. and Mrs. Nell McIsaac, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Lester McVarish, Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Muttart, Carleton; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Farrell, Lot 16, The Car Donation Committee; Patrick McVarish, Worcester Mass.; Miss Nellie O'Connor, Needham, Mass.; Letters of sympathy were received from: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey, Crapaud; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goodman, Hope River; Mr. Ernest Strong, Summerside; J. J. Morris, Charlottetown; Mrs. James Proctor, Hunter River; Cards of Sympathy from: Jubilee Women's Institute, Albany Village; Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, Hamilton, Ont.; Olive Buchanan, Charlottetown; Marjorie Cameron, Charlottetown; Bessie Trenholm, Hamilton, Ont.; Christie Dawson, Cambridge,

Protest Against Canadian Tariff

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Duties on heavy cloths containing mixtures of artificial silk and cotton entering Canada from the United Kingdom were described as "too put it mildly, exceedingly unfair" by John Nelson, head of the British textile delegation before the tariff board today. Mr. Nelson was making his final submissions to the board in connection with the British application for a downward revision of the tariff on cotton and artificial silk fabrics. The hearing began early last week and ended this afternoon with a secret sitting on manufacturing costs. The board's next hearing is on automobile tariffs and begins next week. The British manufacturer claimed Canadian duties on rayon were out of all proportion and represented between 70 and 80 percent of the whole cost of the fabric. They fell particularly heavily on mixture cloths as the rayon rates were applied to the whole cloth and not merely to the rayon content of the cloth. Cloths of this type were being made in the United Kingdom in increasing quantities. Heavy mixture cloths for linings were made in the United Kingdom and not made in Canada, and Mr. Nelson saw no reason why the duty on them should be so high.

The Mystery of Death Defined

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(A.P.)—In a scientific definition of death, new in scope, Dr. Alexis Carrel, Rockefeller Institute scientist, tonight predicted that it may become possible to suspend human life and to start it again, living several centuries. Dr. Carrel is the man who showed the physical immortality of a chicken heart, which he has kept living by itself for 24 years at the Institute. For him Charles A. Lindbergh last summer perfected an artificial heart which keeps whole organs alive outside the body. Dr. Carrel's new definition was made in a talk to the New York Academy of Medicine on "the mystery of death." He defined two kinds of death—reversible and irreversible. Out of the first come man's hopes for better health and longer life.

Runs Amuck Kills Two And Wounds Third

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Dec. 15—Maddened by imagined injustices and his discharge from a mechanic's job at Columbia University medical centre, Victor Koussow, 55, holder of Russian University degrees, today shot and killed two members of the faculty of Columbia College of Dental and Oral Surgery, wounded another, and committed suicide. Racing into the college building, Koussow acted so quickly the three faculty members were shot before associates had time to act. He fired a bullet into his own head as Dr. Lewis Stone rushed at him. Koussow's victims were: Dr. Paul Wiberg, 38, assistant professor of dentistry, killed instantly; Dr. Arthur Rowh, 51, associate dean of the dental college, wounded fatally, and Dr. William Crawford, 38, assistant professor of dentistry, wounded in the side.

YOUTHFUL PEER ACQUITTED

By Roger D. Greene, Associated Press Staff Writer (By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Dec. 15—Amid pageantry reminiscent of the 12th century, the 28-year-old Lord de Clifford was acquitted of manslaughter by the House of Lords. "Not guilty upon mine honor," the assembled peers intoned, one by one, placing their right hands over their hearts as they spoke. Each was clad in scarlet robes. The trial, resulting from an automobile accident, invoked for the first time in 34 years the ancient prerogative of a peer of the realm to be judged by the House of Lords on a felony charge, instead of by the common criminal courts. Six hours after the young baron, bare-headed and without his robes, had entered the Chamber behind "the gentleman usher of the black rod," the colorful pageant was ended. It dated back to Magna Charta and the reign of King John—1199 to 1216, A. D.

Rabbits Bugbear Of Australia

Australia little knew what trouble was being stored up when rabbits were introduced into the country. So great have rabbits become as a pest that, notwithstanding the destruction of large numbers, there is, apparently, no diminution in their numbers, according to the master of one of the freighters of the Canadian National Steamships in the Canada-Australian-New Zealand service. Millions of dollars have been spent for rabbit-proof fencing and extermination, added to which is the loss from the deterioration of pastures with consequent lessened output of wool, live stock, crops etc. As a source of revenue for their skins, the value of exports of rabbit and hare skins in 1928-29 was roughly $10,499,812, in Canadian money, and for the year 1932-33 the value dropped to approximately $1,725,448. Since then there has been a greatly increased demand and prices are double what they were a year ago.

BLACKBURN, England, Dec. 13 (G.P.)—Kathleen Shorrocks, aged one year and 11 months, died as a result of being scratched on her arm by a cat. The scratch was not regarded as serious at the time.

Greetings By Telegraphy

(Special to The Guardian) MONTREAL, Dec. 15—Special cable rates for Christmas and New Year greeting messages are again announced by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telegraphs. A choice of seventeen specially prepared greeting messages, approximately expressing a wide variety of forms of good wishes has been made available. These cable messages may be sent to Great Britain the Irish Free State and a large number of foreign countries. If the sender does not find any of the prepared texts suitable to his or her particular taste, messages of the sender's own composition may be sent at small cost to the Old Land and practically all other parts of the world. In particular rates to all points in the British Empire have this year been further substantially reduced and it is anticipated that those wishing to extend their greetings to friends in the Old Land will be agreeably surprised at the low cost of this service. A number of business firms are taking advantage of the so-called message rate which permits of substantial reduction when domestic telegrams are filed in quantity. Many commercial firms use this service to extend their greetings to customers and the service is also used to a large extent in advertising Christmas goods. One of the requirements of this particular service is that the text of the telegrams must be of an identical nature. A large volume of this traffic was filed last year and the telegraph companies that these wishes are kept busy this season in the transmitting of cheer and greetings to thousands of business associates and friends. Another important development in the Christmas greeting service is the santagram. Parents can arrange with either of the telegraph companies for a telegram on a special form to be sent from the North Pole by our jolly old friend Santa Claus. This service has been very popular and at a nominal cost prepares a great thrill for the kiddies. Christmas and New Year greetings messages for overseas are accepted any time up to January 6 but in order to ensure delivery on either one of these occasions, it is suggested that the messages be filed as early as possible. In Canada, the United States, Great Britain and many foreign countries, greeting messages will be delivered on specially designed and appropriate greeting forms, and

Canada's Radium Reaches London

Out of the storehouse of Canada no gift has been more appreciated by suffering humanity and medical profession alike than radium. After years of preparation the transport of this unique mineral is complete right to the heart of the Empire. The journey begins by water 1,500 miles up the Slave and Athabaska Rivers to railroad at Waterways, Alta. Thence the precious concentrate is hauled by the Canadian National Railways, 2,300 miles to the great smelter at Port Hope, Ontario. Here, after a series of processes, it is made to yield its inner essence, pure radium, one gram of radium being obtained from each 10 tons of concentrate. This new Canadian mining enterprise now links hands with the old world business in rare metals and assay associated with the name of Johnson Matthey & Co. Ltd., the metallurgists or modern "alchemists," Hatton Garden, who finally manipulate it, sealing up minute quantities of the radium in lead bombs, and even "bottling" the emanations. The making of a huge bomb, containing 5 grams of radium, about as much as can be placed on a small Canadian 5-cent piece, and valued at approximately $250,000, is the crowning achievement.

Baby Is Saved By Tiny Brother

WARRACKNABEAL, Aus., Dec. 15—Gregory MacKenzie, 6, saved his 14-month-old sister Berris from drowning in a channel near their home and may be recommended for a Royal Humane Society award. With two other brothers aged three and 10 years, Gregory and the baby were playing near the edge of the channel, when Berris fell into the water. Rushing along the bank as the infant was carried quickly along by the current, Gregory reached down and caught the child's clothing. His elder brother came running to his assistance as he pulled the unconscious baby from the water. Gregory, a bright-eyed youngster, just smiled and said: "I knowed baby couldn't swim, so I helped her out." —Australian Press Bureau.
