Extension to the season in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec was granted earlier by the Dominion Government.

HEAR SPLENDID TALK — Yesterday afternoon in Queen Square School Hall the pupils of Grades VIII, IX and X gathered to hear a very fine address on Entomology by Miss Myrtle MacLeod. In the course of her remarks the speaker stressed the importance of this type of work and the education required to engage in it. She also mentioned the fact that a great deal of hard work is necessary to become a specialist in any vocation. The chairman for the program was Gerald Connors and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered by Edward Mullins, seconded by Billy Purcell. The School Improvement League is providing these splendid vocational talks to the senior grades of the City Schools.

DRAGGED UNDER LOCOMOTIVE, LIVES — LINDSAY, Ont., Feb. 16 — (CP) — Joseph Henry, 21, knows how it feels to be dragged under a locomotive. That's what happened to him yesterday after he slipped on an icy rail and fell in front of a train. He was carried 185 feet, his hip jammed between the cowcatcher and the track and his face only six inches from a wheel. "All I could see was that wheel turning and every second I thought I would slide right under it," he said today. "I was sure I was going to die, so I only hoped whatever was holding me would give way and get it over with fast. Then, bang, the train was standing still and people were around."

Eleven Persons Still In Hospital Following Fire

Eleven people suffering from burns received in the Sporting Club fire Wednesday night are still in hospital. Eight of these are in the City Hospital and the remaining three in the P.E.I. All were reported by hospital authorities last night to be doing well and resting comfortably. In conversation with Roy MacDonald, son of the proprietor, it was learned that there were approximately 100 people in the building at the outbreak of the fire. He thought there were about 50 in the bingo room and an equal number on the alleys. Roy himself received facial burns while assisting his mother from the building. Both his mother and father were among the most seriously burned. Mrs. Thomas Keoughan, 55, who died in the building, will be buried Saturday morning. She is survived by a son, Wade in Mass., U.S.A., and a daughter Mary in Charlottetown. Her husband who predeceased her was a retired railway employee. Two patients taken to hospital and not listed in yesterday's issue were Mr. George MacMahon, Elm Avenue and Mr. Charles Donovan, City. Mr. Donovan was released after medical treatment. The large influx of patients into the City Hospital caused an uncomfortable opening of the new pavilion. In order to accommodate all it was necessary to move two of the more physically fit women patients into the new quarters. It is believed that several more were moved in last night.

Large, P. E. I. Minister of Education now in Ottawa on business in connection with his department. Mr. Large has appointments with Health and Welfare Minister Martin and proposes to see other Ministers in addition to Department heads. In the Senate galleries also were Walter Shaw, P. E. I. Deputy Minister of Agriculture, E. D. Reid, manager of the P. E. I. Potato Growers' Association, and Charles E. Shaw, chief of table stock inspection, all three currently attending sessions of the Canadian Horticultural Council now meeting here. Members of the Commons complained today that there is a great need for amplifiers in the Senate chamber as in the House of Commons. Herded together at the end of the chamber, few were able to hear the Throne Speech clearly. However, copies were distributed to their offices later in the afternoon.

Mr. MacNaught Quoted — Discussing points in the Government's preview of policy which may reflect on the economy and welfare of Prince Edward Island, Mr. MacNaught said: "It is clear that many issues in the coming session will affect our Province directly. Take national defence for instance. Determination of the Government to strengthen defence forces indicates further growth and development of the air station at Summerside. This is a key station in North Atlantic defence and one of the few in all Canada where expert instruction in long-range and Arctic air navigation is taught. Announcement that the Government would implement and amend the Agricultural Prices Support Act and the Fisheries Prices Support Act this session was of first importance to P.E.I. Mr. MacNaught continued. Most recent price index issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showed that Prince Edward Island farmers suffered heavier proportionate losses than those of other Provinces in falling agricultural prices, he noted. It was welcome reassurance that the Government would step in. People of all Provinces in Eastern Canada are in full sympathy with the Government's proposal to reduce tariff barriers, the member for Prince added. They were equally in sympathy with Government policy in seeking new markets.

Mr. MacNaught said one of his first duties in Ottawa this session is to discuss improvement to the railway wharf at Summerside with Works Minister Fournier. Armed with the brief submitted him by a delegation just prior to leaving Summerside, he will emphasize the desirability of a large-scale renovation and rebuilding program on the wharf. Mr. Kieckham indicated that he too would have public works projects in King's to discuss with Mr. Fournier at the earliest possible moment.

and others will deal with the registration of Canadian ships in Canada. The Indian Act, largely untouched since Confederation, will be revised and is expected to provide a new bill of rights for the descendants of Canada's original inhabitants.

Rent Controls — Domestic rent controls will be extended by the Supreme Court of Canada rules that they are within the jurisdiction of Parliament. A court decision on the controls is expected before the end of February. Legislative force will be given to the Government's decision to pay grants in lieu of taxes to municipalities where there is a heavy concentration of Federal property. There will be other measures to amend the Criminal Code; the Government Annuities Act; the Post Office Act; the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act; the Currency Act; the Trust Companies Act; the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act, 1932; the Foreign Insurance Companies Act, 1932; the Customs Act; the Maritime, Marshland Rehabilitation Act; and the Northwest Territories Power Commission Act. The Canadian Wheat Board Act will be extended to continue that organization as the sole marketing agency for wheat and coarse grains after expiry of the Anglo-Canadian wheat contract July 31 next.

Outlook Good — Dealing with domestic problems, the Speech said that "employment and prosperity remain at a high level in Canada." "The prospects are good for continued private investment in construction and capital development throughout the present year. Demand for consumer goods of all kinds continues to be strong. However, seasonal and local factors have given rise to a significant amount of temporary regional unemployment during the past few months and the security provisions established under unemployment insurance legislation have been called upon to meet the first important test since they were brought into effect. "Although a high proportion of persons temporarily unemployed are actually in receipt of unemployment insurance benefits, you will be asked to give consideration to a bill to widen the scope and extend the benefits of unemployment insurance."

Among the categories not now covered by the act are the lumbering industry in provinces other than British Columbia; hunting, trapping, fishing; agriculture; domestic service; hospital staffs; professional nurses; teachers; and members of the various police forces. Benefits paid under the act depend on the amount of the contribution paid by the worker while he is employed. The Speech said "negotiations are proceeding with the Provinces on housing, the Trans-Canada Highway and forest conservation. Progress is being made in co-operation with the Provinces on the development of more adequate health facilities and services."

STRESSES VALUE OF X-RAY SURVEY — New cases of tuberculosis have been brought to light in the present survey by the P. E. I. Tuberculosis League in Charlottetown. Major Hodson of the T. B. League at 84 Kent Street states that the number of people having the X-rays done this year has fallen off considerably from previous years, and reminds the people of Charlottetown that an X-ray should be taken bi-annually at least. "It is only in this way," he states, "that we can arrest the development of this disease in Prince Edward Island." Some of the cases which have been found positive this month were negative two years ago, but because the disease has been discovered in its earliest stages this time it is possible to arrest its development. In addition to possible TB the X-ray has detected many other chest troubles, pleurisy, cardiac diseases, bronchial trouble and even cancer. In the 1949 survey the League's mobile X-ray unit found 30 new active cases of TB and 534 other chest abnormalities. "People should be X-rayed not with the idea of TB alone in mind," he said, "but as a general physical check-up."

Major Hodson states that TB is a serious menace in P. E. I. and costs the public more than any other disease. The surest and cheapest way of detecting it in its early stages, before outward symptoms appear, is by X-ray. The X-ray clinic at 84 Kent Street, opposite CFCY is open from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. daily from Monday to Friday, and in addition from 7 to 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. It is anticipated that the clinic will continue in its present location until mid-March. An appointment is not needed. Mr. A. Dewar, President of the Y's Men's Club, introduced an old member Col. Fred Andrews who was being reinstated. Rev. J. D. Davidson offered a short prayer on behalf of Mr. Harry Cudmore who, due to illness, was absent. Mr. Cudmore then announced that because of the large amount of cash still not turned in, that the final counting would be made on Monday, February 20th, at 7 p.m. A few words were also heard from Dr. J. A. Clarke, Rev. H. E. D. Ashford and Mr. F. Gamble. Words of appreciation were expressed by president Cudmore to the press and to the radio station for their co-operation, and also to the clergy for the announcements made from their various pulpits with regard to the Maintenance Drive. Deep, heartfelt thanks was tendered by the Board of Directors to the individuals and organizations who have contributed so generously this year. Recalling the days when the Silva Family became more intimately acquainted with Sonja Henje and her family, Mr. Silva says: "We did most of our training on our training. When we did so, Sonja came down with her father, her mother, her brother, a reporter and her Norwegian trainer. The latter was very jealous of us, and believed we wanted to put him out of his job. This part of it we did not like. However, he carried on her general training while we worked to perfect her technique. We taught her all we knew, especially the Silvia Pleutite, an invention of our own."

Fire Hazards Emphasized In Trade Bd. Letter

The need for stricter fire hazard regulations is emphasized in the following letter from the secretary of the Charlottetown Board of Trade to the City Council, dated January 14 last: "The City Clerk, "City Hall, "Dear Sir—

"At the Council meeting of this Board held on Jan. 10th past the matter of fire hazards in places of public assembly in this City was fully discussed. "It was accordingly recommended that we write the City Council suggesting that the appropriate City by-Law be amended giving the Building Inspector authority to invoke the National Exit Code for this City or as an alternative to have regulations drawn up under same for this City as approved by the Council and give the Building Inspector authority to enforce same in this regard. "It would appear that there are no regulations in this City at the present time on this important matter and this Board feels that there surely should be. "Would you kindly therefore place this matter on an early agenda of the Council for their earnest consideration in the interests of better fire prevention in our City. "Yours very truly, "A. Walthen Gaudet, "Secretary."

"Y" Campaigners Nearing Objective — "There is no doubt that the campaign will go over the top by Monday night," said Mr. Roy Cudmore, president of the Y. M. C. A. at the banquet for the "Y" campaigners last night. He stated that one third of the campaign cards is still out and that only $800 are needed to reach the objective of $14,500. Of great help in bringing up the total received to date were the new donations received by the special names committee as follows: Mr. Sam Clark of Napineer Iron Works, $100; Buntain Bell Co., $100; J. P. Simmonds, $100; Woolworth's Ltd., $100; Milton's Old Shop, $100; MacDonald and Rowe, $100. Of the six divisions competing, the top place last evening was held by the 1st Division under O. K. Presby with a percentage of 67.8. Individual high team score was held by J. A. Lawson, captain of team No. 1 of 1st Division with a percentage of 115. The banquet got under way with the largest attendance in years, and much speculation was in evidence as to whether the campaign would reach its objective this year. After a sing-song with O. K. Presby at the piano, and led by Lorne McLellan, chairman Cudmore expressed the appreciation of everyone present to Mrs. Howatt and the Ladies' Auxiliary, and to the other groups which have all co-operated during the past three days to make the campaign such a success. Mr. A. Dewar, President of the Y's Men's Club, introduced an old member Col. Fred Andrews who was being reinstated. Rev. J. D. Davidson offered a short prayer on behalf of Mr. Harry Cudmore who, due to illness, was absent. Mr. Cudmore then announced that because of the large amount of cash still not turned in, that the final counting would be made on Monday, February 20th, at 7 p.m. A few words were also heard from Dr. J. Deep, heartfelt thanks was tendered by the Board of Directors to the individuals and organizations who have contributed so generously this year.

Island Odds And Ends

When Canada's own Barbara Ann Scott, Olympic champion figure skater, performs at the Charlottetown Forum in early March, the onlookers will have vivid memories of her great triumphs. They will be doing tribute as Canadians to her world victories, her skill, charm and great competitive spirit. There will be one spectator however, a young Czech youth of twenty, for whom memory will treat a different part. He will be unable to forget that in happier days his uncle, Josef Silva, was European figure skating champion for seven successive years and World's champion on two occasions. The young Czech is a student at St. Dunstan's University. He will probably recall too that his own father, Alois Silva, was a prize winner at many international meets, when the entry lists carried the names of all the great skaters of Europe and America. Looking backwards to very youthful days, "Lol" Silva can just remember having his picture taken with the famous Sonia Henje. Sonia was being specially coached by the Silva Brothers for her first Olympic title, which eventually led to world prominence and stardom on stage and screen. "Lol", only two or three years old at that time, blundered into the picture with the glamorous Sonia as she posed during training. He toddled toward her child-like just in time to be "snapped", but looking the wrong way. This picture is preserved as a memento. "Lol" Silva is at St. Dunstan's University thanks to the generosity of that institution, which was one of a number of Canadian colleges which last September adopted promising scholars left destitute in Europe. It was only in May, 1948, that he made a hazardous escape from a Communist concentration camp in Czechoslovakia. He made his way to Germany in the Allied zone, with the help of the underground, unaware that the rest of his family had escaped earlier. The rest of the Silva family are living in Schweinfurt, Germany, trying to rebuild their family life and broken fortunes. Silva Sr. is a lawyer and incidentally is trainer at the Schweinfurt Ice and Roller Skating Club. Writing to his son in Charlottetown a few days ago, after hearing that Barbara Ann Scott was making an appearance here, he relives some of the great roles he and his brothers played in figure-skating before Hitler ruined Europe. His story (only in part) is told in the following excerpts from his letter: "My two brothers, Toni and Josef, and myself started to train with a branch of the Vienna Skating Association of the Engismann Ice Rink in Vienna. There we got acquainted with Salchow, ten times World Champion, Kachler from Vienna, World Champion, Bockel, Vienna, World Champion, and Miss Herma Szabo Woen, World Champion in doubles. "At the first Olympiad, after World War One, in Chamonix, my brother Josef placed third. There for the first time we met Sonja Henje. She was just eleven years of age and was there with her parents. She was also the youngest competitor, though without much luck. Her hope was had and she placed last. However, she attracted great attention. "Later my two brothers and myself entered the Czechoslovakian Republic championships and from 1932-1933, the championship of Czechoslovakia was the heritage of the Silva family. It was a sensation in international sport when all three boys entered competition. Josef was the most successful. For a period of seven successive years he held the title of European champion and for two years the World championship."

Recalling the days when the Silva Family became more intimately acquainted with Sonja Henje and her family, Mr. Silva says: "We did most of our training on our training. When we did so, Sonja came down with her father, her mother, her brother, a reporter and her Norwegian trainer. The latter was very jealous of us, and believed we wanted to put him out of his job. This part of it we did not like. However, he carried on her general training while we worked to perfect her technique. We taught her all we knew, especially the Silvia Pleutite, an invention of our own."

Mr. Silva in his letter gives a great deal of information about figure skating, mentioning among other things that he and his brother invented the present type of skates now used by all figure skaters. The design of these skates was kept secret for a long time.
