HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

THE VALUE OF REGULAR PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

No physican would be so foolish as to make a diagnosis solely on the appearance of his patient. While appearances may be deceiving they are very likely to reveal a great deal, or perhaps it is fairer to say, suggest, much of what lies beneath the surface.

Knowing what he does, the physician would expect to find some cases of diabetes among those of his patients who, having passed middle-life, have added an excessive number of pounds to their weight. Not all fat people have diabetes but thin adults seldom fall victims.

Very likely it will be asked what good is it to know that diabetes occurs much more frequently in the overweight than in the underweight, or that women are attacked more frequently than men, and that the disease appears usually between the ages of forty and sixty.

This information is of practical value if it is also known that heredity plays a very definite part. In other words, overweight is undesirable for all adults, but when it is associated with a family history of diabetes, it has much more significance.

To know that diabetes has occurred in the family need not arouse any feeling of fear. It should be accepted as a warning to watch with extra care, the health of the body and so avoid the physical difficulties, which otherwise, through carelessness, might develop.

There are good reasons why everyone should have a periodic health examination. Those with a family history of diabetes should never fail to provide this safeguard for themselves. The early detection of disease is most desirable because it permits of early treatment which offers so much to the patient.

The first signs of diabetes are changes in the urine and blood which are detected at the periodic health examination, long before the individual feels any change in himself. At the same time, focal infections or other abnormal states which should be got rid of by proper treatment, are discovered.

No one can attempt to diagnose his own condition, nor should anyone attempt to do so. Suspicion, which should send one to his doctor, should be aroused by a persistent thirst and insistent hunger together with the passage of increased amounts of urine, accompanied by loss of weight and strength: one or more of these is sufficient to justify an investigation.

Very likely you have no particular reason to be interested in diabetes but the disease is fairly common and a periodic physical examination will clear up any doubt.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

PLANE LANDS AT CRAPAUD—Pilot H. S. Jones, who took the big twin-motored Dragon plane of the Canadian Airways off Charlottetown harbor ice at 11.45 a.m. yesterday on the regular run for Moncton was forced to land at Crapaud a short time later when heavy fog reduced visibility to zero. The nine-passenger machine was landed on the harbor ice at Crapaud undamaged, air officials here said. Fog conditions kept the plane grounded for the remainder of the day. It was expected that a takeoff would be made early today and the round flight to Moncton completed. It was thought there was one passenger on board yesterday. There was a light low fog over Charlottetown harbor ice when the takeoff was made shortly before noon, officials said, but it closed down very quickly a few minutes later.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Weeks of Charlottetown are guests at the Dodge Hotel in Washington, D. C.

Councillor Henry Lapthorne is a patient in the P. E. Island Hospital.

Mr. L. B. Miller, principal of the Charlottetown Business College accompanied by Mrs. Miller, returned from Halifax Wednesday night. His many friends will be glad to know that he is greatly improved in health.

BROTHERHOOD DINNER HELD LAST EVENING

Speakers Stress Need For Christian Unity To Solve World Problems.

"Nothing is more needed today than a universal Christian fellowship which shall embody the one common, holy and apostolic church of Christ," Lieut. Col. C. L. MacKay declared in an address at the brotherhood dinner at the Central Christian Church last evening. "The world awaits this consummation," he continued, "and it is our high privilege to do our part as a brotherhood and as individuals to unite the scattered fragments of the divided body of our Lord". Lieut. Col. MacKay was speaking on the subject "the life of the brotherhood" and reviewed briefly the movement to restore the original unity of the Church. It was not the result of efforts of any one man or particular group of reformers but appeared spontaneously in different countries and under different auspices, he said.

Purpose of the dinner, scheduled to be held in Churches of Christ throughout Canada and the United States last night was outlined by the Rev. S. C. Cooper, pastor of the Central Christian Church. The aim was a greater brotherhood consciousness, it was explained. The pastor, who presided, read greetings from the Home Street Church of Christ, Winnipeg.

Speakers included Lieut. Col. MacKay, Mrs. Arthur Woolner, Mr. R. H. MacNeill and Rev. Mr. Cooper. Included in the program were vocal solos by Mr. V. Leigh Dingwell and Mr. Preston Beck. Mrs. Dingwell was accompanist while Mr. Dingwell led in group singing.

"As a brotherhood of Christians, our work began and continues under a divine mandate which is inescapable in its authority," Mrs. Arthur Woolner said in dealing with "the work of the brotherhood." It was based on obedience to the command: 'Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you'," the speaker said. After dealing briefly with particular phases of the work of the brotherhood, the speaker declared in conclusion, "The need for Christian unity and a simple gospel called imperatively to our fathers one hundred and thirty years ago. Our inheritances, our undertakings, a partially realized unity of evangelical Christians, vast open doors and the challenge of a world in chaos and helpless without Christ, bring to us an inescapable summons today."

"We exist to challenge all Christians, individually and organizationally, to unite for Christ and His Kingdom's sake," Mr. R. H. MacNeill declared in the course of an address on "the Church and the world today" "To unite in spirit and in outward aspects of that spirit; to unite on the principle of loyalty to the person of Christ by a concerted effort to simplify the Christian faith... by simple, sane, and sensible respect for the progressive authority of the Bible in the life of the Christian and of the Church".

Whether the world listens to the Church or not depends upon meeting 20th century issues squarely, the speaker said. The Church today must create Christian character and must in its message insist that (1) the injustice which causes strife be removed, and (2) that other methods than violence be used in settling disputes.

The Church must create the conditions in the human heart necessary if pledges, treaties, international law are to be in any sense binding, Mr. MacNeill pointed out. The ideal of Christian love and goodwill is a unique message of the Church. Selfishness is anti-christian. When the Church denies its message of love it surrenders its power. The way, therefore, for the Church to have power is to practice its message.

"Great days lie ahead of us—days of spiritual renewal, exploration and discovery such as modern history has never known," Rev. Mr. Cooper, pastor of the Church declared in the closing address. "Crisis is always creative and the age of frustration in which we live will give way to an era of adventure taking us beyond dim humanisms, modernisms and fundamentalisms into a more heroic Christianity," the speaker continued. "For the next five years our brotherhood is striving to keep its integrity with the living Christ by an aggressive forward program of advance," Mr. Cooper said and outlined five points on which stress would be laid in the advancement of the Kingdom of God.

HOW TO MAKE AN UNUSUAL "TABLE PLANT"

A delightful decoration may be obtained in the following manner. Take an ordinary red earthenware bulb bowl about nine inches in diameter and about six inches deep, and place in it four inches of common soil and sand. On this, about one inch from the circumference of the bowl, place four or five horse chestnuts with another in the centre. Above these place a layer of fresh moss about an inch thick and slightly pressed. This must be kept moist. After a few weeks the chestnut shoots should appear through the moss, and when these are about six inches high may be pinched at the tip in order that the plants may branch out. It is necessary that the moss should be replenished from time to time.

Kinsmen Club Debates War Question

Much enthusiasm was aroused by the debate held by the Kinsmen Club at the Canadian National Hotel last evening on the subject "Resolved that Canada should remain neutral in the event of a war in which Great Britain is involved". The speakers for the Pro side were Alfred Linkletter, Walthen Gaudet, Bert Patterson and Alfred Doucette, and for the Con, Winston Mayne, Gordon Rice, Elmer McDonald, and Arthur Wright. Jack Gordon was critic. The debate resulted in a victory for the Pro side.

Another interesting feature of the evening was a message by the President, George Ayers, from Frank Flynn, Deputy District Governor who visited Charlottetown recently. Mr. Flynn, who is associated with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, provided the Club with some illuminating suggestions regarding the service work of the Club.

Chaminade Chorus Delights Large Audience

Heartz Hall Filled To Capacity As Outstanding Program Is Presented.

Last night, as in the past two years, the Chaminade Chorus, conducted by Mrs. Hugh Miller again delighted a Charlottetown audience which packed Heartz Hall to the doors.

The concert opened with an old time program in Franco-Scottish music. The national costumes of the performers who were seated in terraced formation made a lovely picture while they sang in part singing "The Days of Long Ago" by Brandl, and "The Bag-pipe Man" by Baines, in the refrain of which the altos sang a clever imitation of the bag-pipes. This was followed by the familiar and loved "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn", by Godard, and closed with Shaw's Unison Chorus "A Hundred Pipers", enhanced and beautified by a thrilling descant and very commendably sung by Christina Court, Sally Wood and Thelma Ramsay.

The next group of choruses were Scottish and French work songs, depicting "A Milling Frolic," or "The Shrinking of the Cloth" in the following numbers, "In Hebrid Seas" (with a lovely rocking rhythm) by Dr. Marjory K. Fraser; "Les Trois Filles d'un Prince" and "Le Prissonier d'Hollande" by Jubien Tiersot, closing with Nesbitts' delightful arrangement of the beautiful Highland air "My Nut Brown Maiden."

These were followed by the quaint old Scotch duet "Hunting Tower," very appropriately interpreted by Ruth Christie and Catherine Spencer and by a good reproduction of Drummond's "De Notaire Publique" by Frances Simmonds, a promising young reader. Marianne Saunders, Elizabeth Brown and Thelma Burns clad in French peasant costume, gave in a finished manner Aldenaunt's "Dear Cupid, What Troubles the Men"?

Much merriment was caused by Mrs. Miller when she recited "The Terrible Dizen", and no less enjoyment was felt in her encore "Cuddle Doon."

Thelma Ramsay and Sally Wood followed with an excellent rendition of another old Scotch duet, "The Crookit Bawbee", after which the double quartet sang unaccompanied "Comin Thro' the Rye". This was resonating, well balanced and had excellent phrasing. The personnel of this quartet is Mary Miller, Ina Svendsen, Thelma Teed, Hilda MacLauchlin, Elizabeth Wood, Jean Tait, Catherine Spencer, Thelma Burns.

The last of this section of the program was, "Merry May the Keel Row", sung by the chorus from behind the curtain while Frances Simmonds, Ruth Sterns, Ruth Christie and Thelma Teed gave an attractive and skilful portrayal of accompanying pantomime.

An outstanding number was an excerpt from Bullard's operetta, "Jack and the Baked Bean Stalk." The principals were, Elizabeth Cox, the Princess; Emma Thomas, the Prince; Pat Ritchie, the Fairy who miraculously became a little old lady and sang two dainty solos followed by crisp jaunty choruses. At the close, the Prince and Princess featured "The Lovely Minuet" in a most attractive manner.

The entertainment ended with two artistic choruses, "Pierrot's Return" (Chaminade), and "A Song of Long Ago" (Wilson).

Throughout the whole performance the numbers were skilfully chosen and wisely diverged from the joyous to the more grave. The choir and its leader are to be congratulated on their year's work, which shows decided advancement along all lines.

Those disappointed at having to be absent from last night's concert will be glad to learn that the chorus has decided to repeat it next week on behalf of "The Island Crusader Club".

The young pianiste, Doris Simmonds, a pupil of Mr. Roy Kendall, may justly claim a large share of the success of the evening.

Other members of the personnel of the chorus are: Verna Newson, Daisy Davy, Muriel Lowther, Ethel Sutherland, Gertrude Holmes, Dorothy Chandler, Irma Tait, Dorothy Black, Margaret Waller, Kathryn Sheldow, Alice Fraser.

The scenery specially produced for the occasion was the contribution of Mrs. P. A. Creelman to whose artistry the Chaminade Chorus is deeply indebted.

The members wish also to thank Mr. Fred Waller, Mr. William Story, Chester Story, the Pipe Band, the Highland Regiment who loaned costumes, Mr. Clawson and the ushers as well as all other friends for their assistance in any way.

COAT OF LACQUER PROTECTS OUTDOOR BRASS EQUIPMENT

Brass lanterns, which are widely used both for lighting and for decorative effect at the entrance of homes, can be protected from tarnishing by the application of a coat of clear lacquer that is made for this particular purpose. Spar varnish may also be used, but it may darken.

Before the lacquer is applied, all traces of polishing material must be removed from the lamps, by wiping them thoroughly with benzine. The work should be done with gloves on, so that the oil from the fingers will not prevent proper coverage with the lacquer. The articles coated should be a temperature of not less than 70 degrees.

COLD WATER COMPRESS HELPS SORE THROAT

Did you know that a cold water compress is most soothing to a sore throat? Here is a simple way of making it.

Take a large, soft clean teacloth and fold it diagonally until it is about three inches wide. Soak about a third of its length from one end in the coldest water you can get—melted ice if you can — and lay this on the throat.

Then fold the dry part of the cloth round like a scarf, fastening it not too tightly with a safety pin. Even when a cold water compress does not quickly cure a sore throat it will always alleviate it.

KEEPING THE CHILD WELL IN WINTER

A child who is weighted down by clothing simply becomes a hot-house plant, a prey to germs which flourish in a hot atmosphere.

The rule of three layers of light wool clothing with a strong overcoat, for outdoor wear, is a very sound one in this country.

Hot, well-cooked and well-balanced meals are an absolute necessity in winter if resistance to illness is to be maintained.

The parent who allows a child to go to school with little or no breakfast on cold or wet winter mornings need not be surprised if the child develops some infection.

The child who is overtired is another germ-trap.

A., Bunbury, Dr. Leo Frank, Southport, Mr. Walter R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Mr. W. H. Tidmarsh, Mr. John White Summerside, and others.
