GRADE MUST BE DESIGNATED

In connection with the new potato grading regulations, which went into effect yesterday, shippers are advised that they must designate the new grade on each bag. Old bags can only be used if stamped according to the new grades. For example, the old grade No. 1 bags may be used if the stamp is changed on the bag to read "E" Canada No. 1. In cases where the sacks are stamped "Canada No. 1," a tag may be attached to the sack, bearing the name and address as the sack, to meet requirements. It is emphasized in the instructions received from Ottawa that shippers must strictly conform to the new grades and markings.

Former S'ide Lady Passes In Boston

Mayor Lidstone of Summerside received a telephone message early Friday morning from Boston informing him of the sudden death of one O'Connell the morning in the Phillips House, private nursing home attached to the Massachusetts General Hospital, of his wife's sister, Mrs. Cecile E. Whitney. Mrs. Whitney had slipped on the doorstep of her home about a week previous and had hurt her back and broken several ribs. She was taken to the hospital and Mayor Lidstone had received word that she was progressing favorably. Her sudden passing was a great shock to her family and friends.

Mrs. Whitney was 40 years of age and was born at Carleton, P. E. I. She was the daughter of the late Donald Campbell and Mrs. Mary Ann Campbell, who resides with Mayor and Mrs. Lidstone. Mrs. Whitney will be kindly remembered by many friends in Summerside as she lived there during her childhood and was educated at the High School. She visited her home town frequently, her last visit being made last summer. Her husband is a prominent lawyer in Boston and a Harvard University graduate.

There are left to cherish her memory besides her husband, her mother, Mrs. Campbell, her sister Mrs. Lidstone and one brother, Dr. Campbell of Nashville, Tenn., to whom the Guardian extends sympathy.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. WILLARD MACGREGOR

The community of Hunter River and vicinity learn with regret of the passing of Mrs. Willard MacGregor (formerly Miss Ida Stevenson of New Glasgow, N.S.) on Dec. 28, 1934. She was 78 years of age. She had long been afflicted with a chronic illness. Those who had knowledge of her malady could not wish for her to remain in this present life which held so little for her, when as a result of her faith in God, she was able to leave this life with long peace assured for her a place of far greater peace and comfort. Deceased was a member of the New Glasgow Church of Christ, and as such served long and faithfully.

When taken she was 52 years of age and left to mourn her passing a husband, a family of three, two boys and one girl. Cyril of Charlottetown, and Lester and Hazel of Kingston; also one sister, Mrs. John Clark, and five brothers, William, Thomas, Edgar and Berdett of the Island, Nelson, and Everett of the States.

Funeral service was held at the home, the Rev. Wm. G. Quigley officiating. Full-bearers were: John Clark, Ernest Stevenson, James Anderson, Percy Roy, George H. Stevenson and Willard Sellers. Interment was in the New Glasgow Cemetery on Dec. 5, 1934.

MEMORANDUM DOMINATE ANYWAY

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 1.—(Canadian Press)—Recognized as the best billiards player in the world, Walter Lindrum has never been attempted to win the Australian title, though his home is here. He has left this title to the rest of the family. His 21-year-old brother, Horace Lindrum, is the present champion. Their Uncle Fred previously held the championship for 21 years.

Death Of Mr. Joseph L. Muirhead

The death occurred on Friday morning at 11 a. m. of Mr. Joseph L. Muirhead, of Summerside, at 80 years of age.

Mr. Muirhead was stricken with a paralytic stroke on Wednesday evening while working in the cellar of his home. He was taken to the Prince County Hospital, but little hopes were entertained for his recovery, and death came suddenly yesterday.

Mr. Muirhead was born in North Tryon, and was the eldest son of James Muirhead. He was a member of the P. E. Island Militia and was caretaker of the Armoury in North Tryon for a number of years. About twenty-five years ago he came to live in Summerside, and had charge of the Armoury there for some time. He was keenly interested in horse racing and was a familiar figure at the race meets. For some years he carried on a small milk vendor's business and was well liked in the community.

Shortly after he came to Summerside, he married Miss Eliza Ryan, who survives him. They were no children. Mr. Muirhead had three brothers, John, Major and William, the latter still resides on the old homestead in Tryon.

Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

The funeral takes place on Monday morning at 8 o'clock from his late residence to St. Paul's Church. S.

Errik Willis (Cons. 12 Fishermen Rescued From Ice Floe

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIBOOK, Mich., Feb. 1.—Knowning the hazardous nature of being caught in open water on Lake Superior at this time of year, 12 hardy fishermen were back safely in their homes tonight after being rescued from a huge ice floe on which they were marooned. The ice suddenly broke from shore-ice on Keweenaw Bay.

They were taken off the floe by two fellow fishermen in a large rowboat as coast guards across the bay already had set out to their rescue. The men had been adrift four hours when rescued.

The fishermen, residing in the communities of Baraga, Ljamsse and Vequaming, had gone out on the ice to set their traps. With a roar that echoed across the bay the ice cracked, drifting from the main shore-pack so suddenly the floe could not leap to safety. The floe on which they were trapped was half a mile wide and three miles long.

N.S. Farmers Protest Political Interference

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Feb. 1.—E. G. Campbell of Steviak was elected President of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association here yesterday at the Association's annual convention called to a close with the adoption of several radical resolutions.

The Nova Scotia Government will be asked to amend the assessment tax by raising the poll tax age from 18 to 21 years and also to set up an independent board of trustees for the Provincial Agricultural College at Truro as a solution for the problem involved in the dismissal of its employees with each succeeding change of government. Education of rural young people, they felt, was of primary importance and they deplored the entry of politics into such a field.

Empire Treaties The Bulwark Of Canada's Trade

Trade And Commerce Minister Challenges Statements Of Mr. Mackenzie King.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—In his first major speech in the House since taking office, Trade Minister R. B. Hanson branded the Ottawa Imperial Conference trade treaties "the bulwark of Canadian Commerce." He claimed they were responsible for the improved condition of Canada's trade since 1932 and appealed to every party to support them as the "vindication of a principle for which Liberals and Conservatives have been striving—mutually reciprocal trade within the Empire."

The Liberal leader, levelled a many-sided indictment against the treaties but wound up with a declaration of high ground. He promised to cancel them but produced

Canadian Bacon Trade Damaged By Statement Of Ontario Commissioner

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Hopes of the Royal Commission on Mass Buying that its public sessions would wind up yesterday were shattered when evidence of S. E. Todd, Executive Secretary of the Industrial and Agricultural Packers Association, indicated he would be subjected to long cross-examination.

The Commission was all set to conclude its work last night, but at six o'clock Mr. Todd still on the stand, chairman W. W. Kennedy adjourned the session.

The packers' official appeared for the purpose of answering statements made last Monday by W. B. Somerset, Ontario Marketing Commission, regarding alleged existence of "ring control" in England over Canadian bacon prices. Throughout the afternoon he was closely questioned, but adhered to his statement that the fixation of prices by a committee of Canadian dealers and wholesale representatives in London was in accord with the practices and methods approved by the London provision exchange. He denied buyers set in at the prices set in agreement between buyers and sellers.

Action Against Chain Stores

A resolution was passed calling for action against chain stores which sold farm products at severely low prices, often below cost, as "loss leaders" to draw customers.

Approval of appeals to the government for financial aid in purchasing hay in time of shortage was voted by the convention. Farmers this winter were finding it impossible to purchase food for their cattle following last summer's hay shortage, and had been depleting their herds at losses. Government aid in the form of long term loans at low interest rates on approved notes will be sought.

Fewer Municipal Councilors

Declaring the present system of municipal government too expensive, members passed a resolution calling for the survey of the system with respect to the number of councilors and municipalities. They believed government could be carried out just as efficiently and more economically with fewer men serving on the councils and with some municipalities united.

The convention defeated a resolution calling for a farming delegation to meet with fish and game societies to devise legislation which would cover loss to farmers from deer eating crops. The farmers are asking their crops, and most of the societies favored present methods.

Volunteer Witness

Most of the day was given over to the examination of John M. Trendley, of East St. Louis, Ill., a volunteer witness who said he was an expert copyist and student of handwriting. He came to his assertions Hauptmann's handwriting and that of the ransom notes were not the same and asserted the ace of the state's eight experts, Albert S. Osborn, had based his conclusion on only one word, "is."

In a whip-lash cross-examination by Joseph Lanzetta, Trendley admitted his study of the kidnap case writing was short and "highly cursory."

Reilly said during a recess earlier in the day that the defence would not attempt to prove the handwriting in the ransom notes was that of Fisch, from whom Hauptmann said he received the ransom money and who died in Germany.

"We are not here to say who wrote the ransom notes but we are here to say Hauptmann did not," Reilly said.

Court was recessed tonight until Monday morning on Reilly's plea he must bring witnesses to Flemingington, despite Wilentz's objection. Reilly said he would have some 36 more witnesses and counsel on both sides agreed that the latter part of next week should see the end of the trial.

TESTIFIES AT HEARING OF SEA TRAGEDY

Captain J. W. McKenzie Gives Version of Rescue of Mohawk.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Captain J. W. McKenzie, who has sailed the seas for more than 35 years, today modestly told how he manoeuvred his ship, the Algonquin, in heavy seas and sub-zero weather to rescue 98 of the sunken Mohawk's crew and passengers.

Testifying before the steamboat inspection service board, investigating the sinking of the Mohawk after a collision off Sea Girt, N. J., with the freighter Tallman was a resulting loss of 45 lives, the grizzled old seaman related how he turned his ship after receiving the first SOS at 9:20 p. m.

Three Miles From Mohawk

His vessel, three miles from the Mohawk, was put about an hour and a half within two minutes, Captain McKenzie said. Meanwhile the Algonquin's life boats were swung out and made ship shape for lowering away, a powerful search light playing on the water.

The Mohawk was well down by the bow with a sharp starboard list when the Algonquin arrived. It had not yet lowered a life-boat, he said. Then he told of bringing the 400 foot Algonquin alongside the Mohawk life boats which were first sighted at 10:30 p. m. He feared the boats would be crushed or entangled in the Algonquin's propellers.

Ship's Radio Log

He read from his ship's radio log a wireless message from the Mohawk asking the Tallman to pick up the boats the sinking ship was launching. The master of the Tallman, Captain Edmund Wang, testified he had picked up no boats because he had no searchlight.

The baby's body was found near the Lindbergh estate in New Jersey May 12, 1932. Reilly said the Montreal witnesses would not challenge the identification of the body, but complained the witnesses did not complain of "intimidation."

"They didn't get here and I think they were stopped enroute," Reilly declared. He did not identify the witnesses.

Cross-examined

On cross-examination Attorney-General David J. Wilentz showed the witness a picture of Miss Sharpe and asked if that was the woman he saw with the baby.

"She bears a very strong resemblance to Sommer," he said. "I wouldn't say yes, I wouldn't say no, I wouldn't swear it was her. Wilentz again showed Sommer the photo of a man and asked if it was the man on the boat."

"I wouldn't say 'yes' and I wouldn't say 'no' in a way he remembers him and in a way he doesn't," was Sommer's uncertain reply.

The testimony paved the way for that of Mrs. Anna Bonesteel, a Yonkers, N. Y., lunchroom proprietor, who has declared she saw Miss Sharpe as Yonkers ferry the night of the kidnapping, with two men.

Sommer, cross-examined by Attorney-General Wilentz, clung to his assertions he had seen the men but protested Wilentz was attempting to "mix him up."

FRANCE FEARS AERIAL ATTACK

Wants Locarno Treaties Brought Up To Date Conversations Reveal.

(By George Hamilton) (Canadian Press Staff Writer) (C.P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Feb. 1.—France wants the Locarno Treaties brought up to date. In the Anglo-French conversations which opened at No. 10 Downing Street today and continue tomorrow it is understood that she is raising the peril of a sudden, devastating swoop from the air.

Under the Locarno treaties the Franco-German frontier is mutually guaranteed by Germany, Italy, Belgium, France, Britain and the Netherlands. Germany and Belgium and Germany and France mutually undertook not to resort to war. Any violation is to be referred to the council of the League of Nations.

If the council is satisfied that a violation has been committed, it is to notify its findings to the signatory powers, "who severally agree that they will each then come immediately to the assistance of the power against whom the act complained of is directed." In the event of flagrant violation, the council is to give immediate assistance "as soon as the said power is enabled to satisfy itself that the violation constitutes an unprovoked act of aggression."

At the same time, the council of the League is to be apprised of the dispute and to issue findings. As the Dominions have not adhered to the Locarno treaties, they are not bound by the Locarno obligations.

France now holds, it is learned, that events have developed beyond the situation contemplated when the Locarno treaties were signed. Germany is recreating her air force. The danger now lies not so much in the crossing of frontiers by armies but in a sudden raid from the air. The proposed stipulations in the Locarno treaties, it is argued, would be too slow as the damage already would be done.

The remedy suggested is an air convention under which the state which made such an unprovoked attack would itself be subjected to immediate reprisals.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—(C. P. Havas)—Germany has asked France and Italy whether her participation in the proposed treaty to guarantee existing frontiers and peace in Central Europe will mean entanglements with the League of Nations. This it was learned on high authority today, was the reason for the call made by the German ambassador, Roland Koester, on the French Foreign Minister, Pierre Laval, on Monday. It was believed to be equally the reason for the call of Ulrich Van Hassel, German ambassador to Italy, on Premier Benito Mussolini last night. The governments of France and Italy have been questioned by Germany concerning the Central European pact.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(C. P. Havas)—The article by the Socialist leader Leon Blum declaring Foreign Minister Laval and Premier Mussolini secretly considered the return of the Hapsburgs to Vienna and Budapest, today caused surprise in the French political delegation in London.

M. Laval declared definitely he had not contemplated nor approved any idea of changing the existing regime in Austria. He stated he had explicitly reported all the facts before the committee on foreign affairs of the Chamber of Deputies.

Report Causes Mild Surprise

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Hon. Mrs. Janet Campbell, the only daughter of Lord Beaverbrook, now Brunswick-born newspaper publisher, is to marry Hon. Drogo Montagu, the younger son of the Earl of Sandwich, who was knighted today. Born in 1908, Mrs. Campbell married Jan Douglas Campbell, heir-presumptive to the Dukedom of Argyll in 1927. The marriage was dissolved last year.

Mr. Montagu was married to Miss Trains Guinness in February, 1931 in Lambeth Palace chapel. This marriage also was dissolved last year. He has one son, born in 1932. The infant had the privilege of being christened in Lambeth Palace because the father was a godson of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Lord Beaverbrook at present is in South America.

SEEK MOTIVE TO MURDER

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 1.—Grace Brandon was a tearful, nervous listener in the witness chair at the murder trial of Major Charles A. Shepard today as government prosecutors, reading love letters penned by the Major, sought to establish the motive by which to prove he poisoned his second wife, Zenana.

The blonde stenographer from San Antonio, for love of whom the government contends Shepard disposed of his wife June 15, 1926, wept silently as District Attorney S. S. Alexander read a letter referring to a quarrel they had after the Major had been transferred from Fort Riley, Kas., to Denver.

The "Kingfish" Strikes Back At Opponents

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 1.—Protected by heavily armed privates and national guardsmen, Senator Huey P. Long today swooped down on his political enemies, causing the arrest of one of his bitterest foes.

Sinking his dictatorial claws deeper into the backbone of plans carefully laid by his enemies, the "Kingfish" declared the situation was in his hands, but the crowded state house where the hearing was being conducted indicated increasing tension and excitement.

Long's first thrust was made at New Orleans, where a photographer was knocked down by an onrush of Long's guards after the Senator had said "let him have it."

Almost immediately upon his arrival here Long ordered the arrest of Ernest Bourgeois, president of the Square Deal Association of Louisiana, an organization militantly opposing the dictatorial powers of the "Kingfish."

Bourgeois was in custody during the inquiry but notified his wife he would be released after the hearing.
