BLUFFING

Mr. George F. Baker, financier, said on his return from Europe: "You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip, and if any European nation tells you it's well off, you can rest assured it's bluffing—bluffing hard as the Mississippi Whale."

CONSTRUCTION OF PYRAMIDS. How the Egyptians managed to haul the gigantic stones used in building the pyramids has been for centuries a subject for speculation.

WAR GRAVES COMMISSION.—Sir Fabian Ware of The Imperial War Graves Commission is expected to arrive in Charlottetown on Wednesday 23rd inst and will deliver a lecture the following evening on the work of the Commission in Europe and elsewhere.

CARD OF THANKS.—Capt John T. McLaine and Miss Lawson wish to thank all their friends for kindness and sympathy shown in their recent sad bereavement, also all the friends who sent such beautiful flowers. 4904.

ST. PETERS CATHEDRAL.—Rev. Dr. Hunt officiated at both services in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday. At the morning service the Doctor preached an especially instructive sermon taking as his text a portion of the Holy Gospel for the day. "And it came to pass, that, as they went, they were cleansed."

CONSERVATIVE HEADQUARTERS.—The central offices of Messrs. McKinnon and Messervey the Liberal Conservative candidates for Queen's County are now open at the old stand in the Hennessey Building 145 Great George St. Mr. Lewis P. Tanton, the official organizer, is in charge, to whom all correspondence should be addressed, and who will be pleased at all times to meet those interested in the campaign and to give all possible assistance in their work. Don't fail to make this your first place of call when you visit the city.

ENJOYED VISIT.—Mr. Adrian A. Doucette, Manager of the Pittsburg Golf Club, Pittsburg, P. A., recently paid a visit to his island home. While in Charlottetown he was the guest of his brother Mr. Laurence Doucette of the firm of N. Rattenbury and Sons. He also spent some time in Rustico, the place of his birth, where he was entertained by his brother Joseph Doucette and many of his old friends. During his stay on the island he motored to some of the points of interest, including the principal fox farms. He also visited some of our institutions. Mr. Doucette noted a great many improvements since his last visit two years ago, and speaks in glowing terms of his island home of which he is very proud. He left on the early train Monday morning to return to his home in Pittsburg bearing with him the best wishes of his many friends.

LAUDS ISLAND ACT.—Rev. J. Philip Jones, Associate Secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, who will be on the island in the latter part of his organization for some days, preached most acceptably yesterday morning in the Baptist Church, and again in the evening at the United Church. A feature of the Baptist Church service was a solo beautifully sung by Miss Edith Rafuse. In the course of his sermon at the United Church Mr. Jones stated that up to 1920 there was not an act in any of the provinces of Canada for the protection of "the child that nobody wants." Today, in every province from Vancouver to Halifax acts have been passed for the benefit of these and to give them a chance to make good in life. Only recently the Province of Prince Edward Island passed an act which is the best of them all; it is farther reaching and better for the purpose for which it was passed.

Place Names Of Prince Edward Island

Booyer; creek, lot 43. Rev. Stephen Boyver and family came to the island from Providence Rhode Island after the American revolution. John Boyver and Stephen Boyver, farmers, were resident in Charlottetown in 1788. In this year they purchased land in King's county, 1,581 acres and 1,712 acres respectively. In April, 1788, Stephen Boyver is also said to have bought 500 acres in lot 5 from Edward Lewis, of Berkeley Square, London, England. According to another statement, the family settled at Covehead in lot 34, whence a son, John, who later married a Miss Auld of Covehead, moved to the Fullerton Marsh farm at the present creek before 1798, naming the homestead bull there Bunbury, after the ancestral home in England. The census, 1798, shows Stephen Boyver, not yet 60 years of age, as head of a family of eleven, five males and six females, in lot 34, and John Boyver and another man, presumably a brother, in lot 48. The diary of Benjamin Chappell, New London, has the following entries, "July 18, 1802. From Capt. Boyver 3 more letters. Feb. 4, 1804, Stephen Boyver and myself. . . ."

Bowley; pond, lot 40. Bowley's Lake, 1853. Brackley; point and railway station, lot 33. John M. McLeod in "History of Presbyterianism on P. E. I.", Winona, 1904, says the point is named after "Mr. Brackley who came out from the old country with governor Patterson, August 30, 1770. Mr. Brackley held a government office and was much thought of by the people." The only references to Brackley known to the writer occur in the diary of Benjamin Chappell New London, as follows: "Wednesday, February 1, 1775, Mr. Allen returned from Charlottetown having been gone 13 days with Mr. Brackley. February 10, 1775, at 10 o'clock came Messrs. Binns, Brackley, Winter and the surveyor on business." Brackley on McGregor, 1832. Also Brackley Beach settlement. Bradford; settlement, lot 28. After Bradford, Yorkshire, England. Selected name. A post office August 1, 1838, to December 14, 1912. Earlier known as Big Clear. Brae; settlement, river and island, lot 9. Scottish word meaning "hillside." Settled about 1823 by Scottish Highlanders. The island is Holland's Sand Island. Sandy or Brae Island and Brae river on survey plan, 1842, by A. Anderson. Brae island on Wright and Cundall, 1874. Brae Harbour is also a settlement name. Brander; pond, lot 20. Brander's pond on plan, 1823, which shows James Brander settler near. The Branders came from Scotland.

On the Road to Tomorrow

What are you doing to help him?

YOUR little boy is travelling the road to To-morrow. You have travelled that road yourself—are you giving him the benefit of your experience? Are you making provision for his education?

Year by year sees more university graduates promoted over the heads of competitors who started in business as boys and served years of apprenticeship.

Some men are forging ahead who are self-educated, but in every phase of business to-day—in every walk of life—the college man has the advantage. He has broader knowledge; is better equipped.

Consider these facts, taken from government reports:

Men who as boys left public school at 14 years of age earned on an average $500 a year. High school graduates who left school at 18 years of age, earned an average of $1,000 a year. At 58 years of age the high school graduate who had worked 4 years less had earned $18,000 more. And statistics show that time spent in high school and university is worth at least $40,000 in the lifetime of each university graduate.

You think that your son will go to university, of course. All parents do. But investigation shows that out of 1000 children to enter public school only 343 enter high school and only 72 enter university. And only 23 children out of every 1000 who enter public school graduate from the university.

These facts and others relating to the education of children are presented in a book which we have prepared on the subject. These facts concern both boys and girls—men and women. Many of them will astound you; all of them will interest you.

This book also contains information regarding the cost of education for various professions—tuition and maintenance—at Canadian universities. Every parent should read it.

Most parents plan for their children's education. This book will help you to prepare so that your plans will be carried out. A free copy will be sent to you if you ask for it. Just mail us this coupon giving your name and address.
