Fas nothing but good words for Milburn's Pills.
 From every town and village in the Dominion comes the same story. People everywhere have and are testing the merits of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.
 People everywhere have weak, palpating and throbbing hearts. Troubled with Faint and Dizzy Spells, Nervousness and Sleeplessness. Tiredness, Shortness of Breath, Cold Hands and Feet. Anæmia, Pale and Sallow Complexion, and General Debility. And are making known to the public the means by which they were cured.
 Here is one of many letters we are receiving daily:

LOWER JORDAN BAY, N.S. March 25th, 1900.
 MESSRS. THE T. MILBURN CO., LIMITED, Toronto, Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—“About a year ago I was feeling very poorly, my system was all run down. I could not sleep at night, and felt very weak and nervous. My heart palpitated badly and gave me great distress and shortness of breath, and made me feel tired and listless all the time.
 “I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and found that one box was all that was necessary to cure me, and I can recommend them to all suffering as I did.”
 Yours truly,
 Miss G. M. Locke.

Better Fit—Longer Wear

These are advantages that the Safety Pocket gives to our “EUREKA” and “FLORA” corsets. It gives a place that is just sufficient to bring out the natural charms of the form, and by preventing the steels from cutting and tearing, it increases the wearing qualities. We are sole proprietors of this invention which is found only in our corsets. Imitations are worthless. Ask the salesman to show you “EUREKA” and “FLORA.”

THE MORNING GUARDIAN,
 WEDNESDAY, MARCH, 1st, 1901.
 OVERSEERS OF HIGHWAYS, ATTENTION!

The shocking condition of the country roads, on account of drifts and pitches has furnished the occasion for an unusual number of well-grounded complaints during the past two months. No doubt the snow-fall has been heavier than usual, but this fact affords no excuse for the continued neglect of the road Overseers. In a winter like the present they ought to have been more than usually alert and active. In order that these Overseers may not be able to plead ignorance of the law—although ignorance is no valid excuse—we subjoin an extract from the Public Roads Act bearing upon the matter of winter roads. The first part of section 42 of the Act reads as follows:

42. The Overseers of Highways shall have power and they are hereby required, during the winter season, to summon as many of the inhabitants liable to perform statute labor by this Act in their respective precincts as they in their discretion shall think fit, to work at the times and places appointed on the highways and public winter roads, by breaking roads in the snow with horses or teams if possessed thereof or by levelling pitches on such winter roads, or by opening water courses from those parts of roads where water is dammed or obstructed, and with such implements as the Overseer deems requisite, whenever the depth of snow or state of the roads shall render the same necessary in each winter or spring, and at no greater distance than three miles from their own houses, and such inhabitants shall perform such work over and above that which they are liable to perform upon the highways, roads and bridges by this Act.

Subsequent provisions of the same section are that persons neglecting or refusing to turn out and work on the roads in winter as above required when directed to do so shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for every such neglect or refusal. And any Overseer of Highways who neglects to perform the duties set forth in the section of the Act above quoted shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five dollars. These fines and penalties may be sued for and recovered with costs before any Justice of the Peace on the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses. In default of goods and chattels wherewith to levy the delinquent persons may be committed to the Jail of the County.

Such are some of the plain provisions of the Highway Act, and one has only to read them to become satisfied that very many of the Overseers have been grossly negligent of their duties, and have already rendered themselves liable to the penalties prescribed. In fact it is the neglect of the Overseers that the present condition of the roads is due. We trust that on the publication of this notice they will promptly attend to their neglected duties and have the roads put in decent and passable shape. If this is not done, probably some long-suffering traveller may enforce the penalties against the delinquents.

“Wellingtonian” writes to the Examiner apparently with the desire to make the editor of that journal more reconciled to having his name connected with the land of blueberries. Unfortunately the crop is somewhat short of late, he tells, but there are other attractions, fine business houses, fine houses, pretty residences, and indeed one man who had seen the splendid capitals of Europe declared that “he felt his bosom glow with pride as he approached Wellington!” All of which is no doubt true, but the editor fights shy of all these blandishments and quite needlessly and obtrusively asserts that he “was neither born nor brought up at Wellington!” He adds, what is indeed but small praise, that “many a better man has been developed in a worse place.” This is altogether unkind after “Wellingtonian” throwing his mantle over the editor and bidding him not “take any impertinence or impudence about Wellington.” Instead of not taking he gives impertinence. The Examiner in fact repudiates Wellington. And yet there are blueberries there, and the blueberries of that land are good.

The Ontario Legislature is now holding its last session before dissolution and there is therefore a lively interest in politics in the big Province. The last general election there was held in January 1898. Premier Ross has somewhat strengthened his position since he came into the leadership, but parties are very evenly divided and after nearly thirty years of continuous power in the Province it may be doubtful whether the Liberals can next time secure a majority. Premier Ross is an able and progressive administrator and a greater power on the platform than was either Sir Oliver Mowat or Mr. Hardy, his predecessors, but one party cannot expect to hold power forever, even if most ably and prudently led.

Men who go out fishing in an open boat in the midst of a blinding storm and enjoy it, must be strong and healthy and are pretty sure to live to a ripe old age. Unfortunately, the rush and hurry of modern business life will not permit the average man to take frequent outdoor exercise.

In lieu of a life spent partly in the woods and on the water, a man must find some kind of medicine to tone up and invigorate him and write the vital force of his body to the faithful performance of their normal functions. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only thoroughly effective medicine for this purpose. Its principal action is upon the organs that feed the blood, the stomach, the large intestines and the liver. It facilitates the flow of the digestive juices in the stomach, and the production of healthy chyle in large quantities in the large intestines. It invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. When the blood is rich and pure the old, inert tissues throughout the body are torn down and replaced by new and healthy flesh, sinews and nerve fibers. If a man's blood is filled with the rich, pure elements of health, he can get along with a scanty amount of exercise. Disease germs can gain no foothold in his system.

“I had catarrh for several years and then the grip and also had a hemorrhage from the lungs,” writes Mr. T. F. Brown, of Sanda, Watuga Co., N. C. “I had the best medical attention, but it could bring only partial relief. I had more hemorrhages. I took twenty-five or thirty bottles of medicine, but continued to have spells of bleeding. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I used eight bottles and have been able to do any kind of labor more than twelve months. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's medicines.”
