WHY "DOSE" CONSTIPATION?

There's a "Better Way" Than Harsh Purgatives!

LONDON, Canada: "Dosing" constipation brings only temporary relief, at best. If you are the common type, due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet, try correcting it instead. Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day! This crisp, delicious cereal (it's good in muffins, too) supplies the proper "bulk" to help keep you regular naturally. But it must be remembered ALL-BRAN doesn't work like purgatives. It takes time. Eat ALL-BRAN every morning, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't look and feel worlds better! At your grocery, in two convenient sizes. Or in individual serving packages at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Sea View and Vicinity

Lance William Simmons of the R.C.A.F. who has been somewhere in Saskatchewan of military duty is spending a pleasant time with friends here and is receiving a warm welcome from all.

A post nuptial shower was held at Darnley Hall on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Lucille Hickey. The guest of honor was escorted to the ceremony by Miss Jean McKay to strains of music played by Mrs. Ivan Duggan and was attended by a miniature bride and groom. Eider McKay and Elmer Hickey, the bride and groom, were with the choice bouquet after which the young groom showed her with confetti. There was a large number of parcels which were opened by Clara McDonald and Louise McKay while Charlotte Champion read the accompanying names. The bride-to-be then expressed her thanks in a charming manner and all joined in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." After the gifts had all been admired a delicious lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, music for the occasion was played by Messrs. Russell MacKenzie and Eider McKay, with guitar accompaniment by Mrs. Ivan Duggan.

Mr. Roy Adams was a business visitor to Charlottetown on Tuesday. Mrs. William Adams is spending a pleasant visit in Kensington the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paynter.

The many friends of Mr. Hollis Birt are pleased to learn he has returned home from Prince Rupert Hospital somewhat improved, but is still laid aside from active duties, all trust he will soon regain his former health.

The W. M. S. of Darnley and Sea View held their Autumn Thank-offering in Darnley Hall on Monday evening. Mr. H. L. Donald presided and welcomed all who were taking part in the program; the Male Choir from Malpeque United Church and the Sacred Miss Irene Wyard of the Diocese of Panning School. The meeting opened by all joining in singing "Rescue The Perishing," followed by prayer and Scripture reading by Rev. Mr. Crowl. The male choir sang several numbers with Mrs. Simpson leading at the organ. Rev. Mr. Crowl then gave an appropriate and practical address on giving to the missionary cause and spoke many encouraging words to the members of the W. M. S. for the efforts. The offering was then received and the choir sang "My Task." The W. M. S. was extended to the vicar, Mr. Joseph MacLellan and son Aemulio, Miss Wynne MacLellan of Indian River and Mr. Bernard Gillis of Valleyfield, Quebec, spent Sunday visiting relatives in Kings County.—K

Mr. and Mrs. Leith Smith have returned from an enjoyable holiday visit to Montreal. Mr. Smith is manager of the Canadian National Telegraph, Summerside.—S.

Mr. Hamilton MacNeil, spent a few days recently with friends in Albany he also attended the funeral of the late Mr. Charles Cameron of Albany.

Among the visitors to Summerside on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKay, Mrs. Mary McKay, Miss Marion Pickering, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Donald and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cousins.

Miss Evelyn Donald spent the week-end at her home in Sea View.

A very pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the Parsonage on Saturday at Sea View by the Rev. Mr. Crowl. The bride, Miss Lucille Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hickey of Darnley, became the bride of Gordon, son of Mr. James Bryenton and son of Mrs. Bryenton of Spring Valley. The young couple were attended by Miss Luara Mae Champion and Pie Charles Hickey, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Crowl. The bride looked charming dressed in Teal Blue with hat and accessories in wine. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for the reception where they purpose to reside as the groom holds a responsible position there. A host of friends join in wishing this popular young couple many years of wedded happiness.

A most successful Halloween Supper was held in Sea View on Wednesday evening. There was a large number present. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. The tables were set in the center of the hall and looked quite attractive. There were well patronized and all did justice to the good things provided. A pleasant time was spent. A most pleasing feature of this gathering was the drawing for a Victory Fruit Cake. This large and beautiful cake had been donated by Mrs. Earle McKay, president of the Sea View W. I. and Mrs. John B. McKay. When the tickets were thoroughly mixed and the drawing made by little Shirley Stewart it was found that Mrs. Gordon Summerside held the ticket for this beautifully decorated cake which had been so admired.

arrangement reached at an inter-party conference the House will point to committee to hear statements from ministers administering war departments.

Mr. King intimated the government proposed to adjourn the session early in the new year when Parliament would reassemble, prorogue and start the 1942 session.

This is in accordance with the wartime practice of keeping a session in being so that in case of emergency members can be called together quickly.

The Prime Minister led other party leaders in expressions of welcome to J. S. Woodsworth, C. F. leader, who returned to the House after a long illness and to Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal in the British Government, who occupied a seat in the gallery.

Mr. King said the all-important matter for the world is still the strength of Germany's war machine. Its aim was world conquest.

"We may expect that for some time yet he might continue to wage war and violence and bloodshed, on a growing scale be a part of the human lot," he said.

An Appalling Prospect

"This is an appalling prospect. Until its ghastly potentialities are squelched in the quarters of the globe, the sufferings of humanity may be expected to increase."

The war had resolved into a question of saving freedom itself and saving the world from universal anarchy and chaos. It was no longer simply a matter of self-defense, of aid to other fighting peoples such as Russia, China or of freeing conquered peoples. "What all have still to learn," he said, "is that today no nation is sufficient unto itself, no continent and no hemisphere great enough, in its own strength, to maintain its own freedom."

Halifax on Intimate Terms with Battle of Atlantic as No Other City This Side Can Be.

This is one of a Canadian Press Series on Wartime Halifax.

By ANDY ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX, Nov. 3.—(CP)—Halifax has become a city of human kindness and hate. For here, as nowhere else in America, the war clutches human hearts, distorts human souls.

This greiv old seaport, which loves the sea, its men and ships, is a jumping-off point for war—a dividing line between preparation and action. No other city is so such intimate terms with the Battle of the Atlantic and nowhere have the Nazis earned themselves a more implacable hate.

When you realize that aboard almost every ship are men who have friends here, it is easy to understand the reaction to each report of another torpedoed—"why those dirty unrepentables..."

These are indelible memories of ships and men who at one time or another had made Halifax a temporary home. Frequently Halifax has been the scene of war at first hand. Sometimes the wretched survivors of those familiar ships are brought here.

In her hospitals they recover from the effects of days or even weeks of machine-gunning or of comrades who gave their lives for others—men who dumbly swim into the night to take a place on a raft to an injured man, a woman or a child, or men like those of the Jervis Bay who fight a hopeless battle to save the other vessels of a convoy. Sometimes scarred and battered ships themselves find a haven

Here they tell the stories of attacks without warning; of the savage machine-gunning of crowded, defenceless lifeboats; of comrades who gave their lives for others—men who dumbly swim into the night to take a place on a raft to an injured man, a woman or a child, or men like those of the Jervis Bay who fight a hopeless battle to save the other vessels of a convoy. Sometimes scarred and battered ships themselves find a haven

No, it is not hard to understand the city's tenderness and hate.

Links the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov, is only 10 miles apart at several points and is also under the protection of Russian and probably British airplanes based in the Caucasus.

The Nazis apparently expect that the main Russian evacuation route will lie through the Kerch promontory. Reports from Berlin say that a fork of the fast-paced German drive south from the Perekop isthmus is stabbing eastward toward the town of Kerch on the northern end of the strait. This thrust seems more menacing to retreating Russian forces than that aimed at Sevastopol, main Russian naval base on the Black Sea.

Sevastopol, with the Germans close by in the wide Crimean lowlands north of the coastal mountain chain, can no longer be of use to Russian Black Sea warships. A Red attempt to stand siege there longer than might be necessary for evacuation purposes does not seem likely. Red army rear-guard action in the mountain passes and progressively eastward toward Kerch strait would be a more logical development.

The western approach to the Kerch promontory north of Sevastopol and east of the Crimean range is the danger point for the Russian Crimean army.

Some discussion took place about selecting a suitable name for the new corps. It was suggested by some that it be called the Charlottetown Air Cadet Corps. However, others were of the opinion that as it would comprise boys from other parts of the province who attended the Charlottetown Air Cadet Corps, it should be named Abegweit or something similar. It was also pointed out that the Provincial Government would be responsible for the matter if the latter course were followed. On motion of Mr. W. S. Grant, seconded by Mr. George J. Hon. Mark McGuigan, Minister of Education and Welfare, suggested that if the committee had anything to put before the Provincial Government that they do so at the next meeting of the government on Thursday.

The next problem discussed was that of finance for the proposed corps. It was announced that a sum of $2,000 would be set it going. Uniforms would cost $15 each and this with other incidentals would amount to this sum. The boys from Prince of Wales College who have signified their willingness to join.
