Wedding Bells

SQUADRON LEADER C. B. STEWART KATHLEEN FRENCH WED APRIL 21 AT REGINA, SASK.

A candlelight service performed by Rev. E. Ramsden, Monday evening April 20th, at 8.30, in the presence of intimate friends, united in marriage Kathleen French, Agnes, daughter of Mrs. E. K. French, Maugrind Apartments and Squadron Leader Chester Bryan Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Stewart, Norboro, Prince Edward Island.

White tapers in tall standard candleholders, entwined with fern fronds, the background and a pleasing arrangement of lilies, stocks and white tulips with ferns completed the setting for the ceremony in the bride's home. Mrs. Ramsden played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, was charming in a gown of white tulle, lace trimmed, sprays of lilies-of-the-valley held in place her embroidered silk net chapel veil and she carried a bouquet of red briarlike roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marjorie Cameron, wore a frock of mauve sheer and she carried a spray bouquet of yellow narcissi and mauve tulips. Flight Lieutenant G. W. Manning attended the groom.

The bride's sash, draped in white, was centered with a tiered cascade topped with white sweet peas, and white tapers were alight in silver holders. Toasts to the bride and groom were proposed by Dr. Charles Dixon and Mr. Ramsden. Congratulations were received from out-of-town relatives and friends.

A large number of friends were at the station to say goodbye to the bride couple who left for Ottawa to get home in Halifax, travelling the bride chose a costume of blue wool with navy accessories and a corsage of roses. The couple will make their home in Halifax where Squadron Leader Stewart is attached to the R. C. A. Medical Branch.—(The Region Leader-Post)

Three Nazi AERIAL DRIVE

Three ships after they dashed from Brest, Feb. 11.—The trio, object of many raids by the R. A. F. during their stay in the occupied French port, sailed in an effort to concentrate with other German surface ships at Trondheim.

On Feb. 14 the Germans announced that the battleships had left their base on the Rhine supply route for "further operation duties"—but more than two months later aerial reconnaissance by the R. A. F. has established that both the powerful ships are still in dockyard.

Needs Extensive Repairs

The Gneisenau is severely damaged along the whole length of her forecastle and needs extensive repairs.

In addition to the damage suffered during the attempted concentration in the English Channel in February, it is probable that further damage was caused by mines laid by our aircraft.

It also seems probable that both the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau received additional damage between Feb. 25 and Feb. 28 during our bombing raids on the dockyard at Kiel. During these raids a liner used as a naval depot ship was also damaged.

The Prinz Eugen made it safely to Germany but later, on her way to Trondheim, was attacked off Kristiansund, Norway, by the submarine Trident.

"Though not sunk, it was evident that she was severely damaged. Reconnaissance has also shown that though she did reach Trondheim, the after part of this enemy cruiser needs very considerable repairs."

The communiqué did not take into consideration any damage which might have been done the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau by the North Atlantic in an attack on the Allied supply line to Northern Russia.

Many naval experts have been expecting Hitler, Mussolini and Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo to order their combined naval forces to make an operation simultaneously this spring in a move co-ordinated with a German land attack in Russia.

Under this plan Hitler attacked in the North Atlantic, the Italian fleet would engage the British and American Mediterranean forces and the Japanese would drive into the Indian Ocean and toward Australia in the Pacific.

Such an effort would strain the Allied nations' sea power to the utmost, "one source conceded, "not to mention the havoc it might cause to the supply lines to Russia, the Far East and Australia."

Expect 8,000 Will be Called

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Quota for the June call-up for compulsory training will be approximately the same as May when 8,000 men were ordered to report for training, it was learned Saturday.

Machinery for putting the draft on a literary basis has not yet been set up and the men to be called in June will be selected as previously by regional draft boards.

These eligible for call are unmarried men and childless widowers between 21 and 30 years of age. It is expected a number will be men who were previously called out for one month's training and subsequently returned to civilian life.

Western front cañons were taken "to remain faithful to the country and fight the enemy even harder and fulfill the leader's orders."

The front momentarily remained stable with the only actions characterized as local encounters. German efforts to meet the advance of the Red Army were reported repulsed.

Such an effort would strain the Allied nations' sea power to the utmost, "one source conceded, "not to mention the havoc it might cause to the supply lines to Russia, the Far East and Australia."

On the western front before Moscow, 200 attacking Germans were slain in the Kalinin sector northwest of the capital 300 others were killed.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, lackluster, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

its members are in the $30-a-week-and-under income group. In 1939 Mrs. Brown could buy a pound of tea, in bulk, for 39 cents. This particular brand now has disappeared from the market and the cheapest brand she now can buy is 79 cents.

All tea now is packaged and Mrs. Brown feels how useless and welcome loose tea, without fancy wrappings, at a cheaper price.

Need for low-grade, low-cost stable garments, such as stockings and underwear, was mentioned by Mrs. Brown. Stockings at 36 cents a pair for around the house and garden and for shopping have disappeared. More expensive kinds don't appear to be of a great deal better quality, she said.

Mr. Zeller told Mrs. Brown these low grade food brands and garments haven't entirely disappeared. He said they still can be bought but, because of the quota system, sometime there are shortages in particular stores or districts.

Mrs. Brown said Mr. Brown likes two pairs of trousers with his suit and that she thought it much more economical, but Mr. Zeller was able to satisfy Mrs. Brown there are so many difficulties involved in the two-pair suits that they would no longer appear on the market.

Mrs. Brown is one of the 360,000 Canadian housewives who takes a little blue price-record book with her every time she goes shopping. This is the way she keeps her eye on the stores. But she said here that her job would be much easier if the Government would post a list of basic prices so she wouldn't have to rely on her own memory.

The wartime price board is investigating the possibility of doing something about this.

When bananas are fully ripe for fresh eating, they don't require added sweetening with sugar or with milk or cream. They have a quantity of natural fruit sugar of their own.

Non-Ferrous Metals Dealings Under Strict Control

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—All dealings in scrap zinc, copper, tin, brass, aluminum and other non-ferrous metals are now under strict control, the department of munitions and supply announced today.

The new order is designed to make sure that non-ferrous scrap is all channelled into war production or into essential production related to the war.

Effective April 30, all non-ferrous scrap dealers buying or selling scrap to smelters, foundries or other users, must obtain a license. Smelters and ingot makers must also be licensed. Foundries will require no license but must buy only from license holders.

The order sets a price ceiling on all non-ferrous scrap metal on the basis of the maximum prices obtained between September 15 and October 11, 1941.

Scrap collection by national and civil salvage organizations, including the Red Cross, are not affected by the order. Non-ferrous scrap metal gathered by such organizations and by other scrap collectors will be directed into the hands of licensed dealers who have the necessary facilities for sorting and preparing the scrap for shipment to legal buyers.

These buyers will use it for war purposes and for purposes so directly associated with war production as to be regarded as absolutely essential.

The high command said the Japanese advance in the Mandalay area, in almost the centre of Burma, has been cautious.

"They were seen to shell positions 24 hours after evacuation by our troops," it added.
