ST. CHARLES AUXILIARY
On Nov. 4th, the feast of St. Charles Borromeo, Patron Saint of St. Charles Auxiliary, was celebrated by the members of the Auxiliary, who gathered at the church for a social hour. The feast was presided over by their chaplain, Rev. Kenneth McMillan. They also attended Benediction given by His Excellency, Most Rev. James Beaton, who also gave a very inspiring talk to the Auxiliary and nurses. Later the Auxiliary were guests of the nuptial nurses at their new home, "The Stella Maris Residence," 111 St. Charles Street, where a very enjoyable evening was spent in singing and dancing. Music for the occasion was furnished by Messrs. Sunford, McNeill, Dorion, and Wood.

HARRINGTON W. I. SILVER JUBILEE
On Nov. 14, 1921, Miss Bessie Carruthers, then supervisor of Women's Institutes was invited to Harrington school to re-organize their Institute, as it was formerly a joint Institute with Winsloe, which had been functioning since July 5th, 1913. Twelve members were present and the first officers were: President, Miss Bessie Stewart; vice pres., Mrs. J. W. Roid (deceased); sec. tres., Miss Alma Mason; directors, Mrs. J. J. Wise, Mrs. Bent Newson, Mrs. Wm. Houston; auditors, Mrs. Edgar Brantton and Mrs. Ches. Rattray. In the first minutes, it was noted that Miss Carruthers read a petition asking for the franchise for women in the local Government. This was signed by all the women present. Due to the fact that these women worked for home and country, the present body of women known as the Harrington W. I. plan to celebrate the silver jubilee of that meeting on Nov. 14th at a banquet in the Queen Hotel, Charlottetown, to which all members are invited, together with their husbands. It is hoped that a real celebration may be planned for July 5, 1946, when the members with Winsloe may celebrate their 35th anniversary, and it is sincerely hoped that many of the original members of 1913 may be in attendance.

Accuses Officials Of "Whitewashing" Suspected Nazis
(By Donald Doane)

STUTTGART, Germany, Nov. 5.—(AP)—German officials were accused today by Lt.-Gen. August D. Clay of "whitewashing" suspected Nazis in the United States occupation zone, and were given a 60-day probationary period to effect substantial improvements in denazification.

Gen. Clay, United States deputy military governor, told officials of the three states in the American zone that he was "thoroughly disappointed" in what he described as their failure to rid their ranks of Nazism.

Although he had singled out Bavaria for criticism on this score yesterday, he mentioned no particular state today.

"Denazification is a must," Gen. Clay said in a speech at a monthly meeting of the Laendererrat, composed of minister-presidents of the three states, "if the German people are unwilling to do the job, the military government can and will do it."

Gen. Clay declared that the German denazification courts appeared to be trying only those who seemed least guilty, and said that "first priority must be given to find and punish those most guilty."

He announced that no German who had been removed from office by the military government would be permitted to return to office without the express approval of the military government, even though acquitted by a German denazification court.

Charge Organized Obstruction Against Soviet Program In United States And Britain

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(CP)—The leader of Russia's Parliament today accused the United States and Britain of "organized obstruction" to the Soviet program, and told a cheering Moscow meeting that Russian peace aims would prevail despite "atom blackmailers."

Col.-Gen. Andrei A. Zhdanov, chairman of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., and frequently mentioned as the most likely successor of Premier Stalin, spoke at a meeting of national leaders on the eve of the 29th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik revolution.

The absence of Premier Stalin, who in previous years had delivered the anniversary eve address, was not explained.

Every mention of Premier Stalin's name, however, evoked cheers and applause from the Russian and Communist party officials and high-ranking military leaders packed into the Bolshoi Theatre.

Gen. Zhdanov, who began his rise to an authoritative place in the Soviet Union when he was head of the Communist party in Leningrad, contrasted the Soviet system as contrasted to capitalism, and declared Russia's peace aims would prevail in spite of the "anti-Soviet clamor of people like (Winston) Churchill and others of his mind."

"The blood of our people was not shed for imperialist expansionists and pretenders to world domination—for atom blackmailers," he told a thunderously applauding audience.

The speech was broadcast to the Russian people and the world by the Moscow radio.

Gen. Zhdanov said that both British and United States delegations to the recent Paris peace conference had attempted to block the Soviet program of "making the United Nations work—unlike the miserable League of Nations."

"The peoples of the world—the common people who defended liberty and independence with their blood against the German Fascists—are thirsting for peace," he declared.

"The forces working for the cause of peace grow constantly. The Soviet Union is not alone. Millions of people abroad support the Soviet Union."

Gen. Zhdanov said Russia was emerging stronger than ever from a terrible war which would have reduced any capitalist country, subjected to the same hardships, to a "second class power."

Change Should Have Little Effect On Can.-U.S. Relations

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(CP)—The change of Congressional control from Democratic to Republican hands should have little immediate effect on Canadian-American relations, nor interfere with any outstanding negotiations between the two countries.

Only minor changes in issue between the two countries at the moment, so far as it has been disclosed, are the St. Lawrence River power and seaway project and economic position of the continent in the Arctic.

In the case of the seaway, its greatest protagonist in the Senate is George Aiken of Vermont, a Republican, and it is known that General Dewey of New York, nominal leader of the Republican Party, generally favors it.

Northern defence operations are largely in the discussion stage and are likely to go before Congress at an early date.

In any event the Democrats still control the administration and the president has power to veto any adverse measures passed in Congress, at least twice.

His veto can be defeated by a two-thirds vote in each House but that would be as difficult to get on a party basis in the 80th Congress as it was in the ending Jan. 3, because the margin of difference in strength is so close.

The position of a President elected by the Democratic Party having to get along with a Congress controlled by Republicans, or vice versa, has never been pleasant or desirable.

It occurred in the last part of the Hoover regime and in the last part of the Wilson term; but whether the conditions accompanying those two situations were due to the divided party or other causes would be a matter of debate.

In any event President Truman has been faced with an antagonistic Congress for most of his term to date and it is unlikely that anything new will be less friendly.

With a presidential election only two years away the Republicans in both Houses probably will feel their way carefully, attempt to do everything to keep the international aspect upright and cautiously build their plans for the 1948 campaign.

Good Chance Of Balancing Budget Says Mr. Isley

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(CP)—Canada has achieved post-war prosperity despite her heavy financial commitments during the war, Finance Minister Isley said tonight. In a "report on Canada's financial position," the Minister made the following points:—

"1. We have paid this huge cost of the war fairly, honestly and safely. . . ."

"2. We have put our veterans and war workers back into employment and achieved post-war prosperity. . . ."

"3. We are reducing taxes. . . ."

"4. Despite continuing war and demobilization expenditures we have made so much progress in reducing expenditures that we have a good chance this year of balancing our budget. . . ."

"5. We have held prices in check during and since the war. Our success in this field is well-known and acknowledged. One has only to look at what has happened and is happening in other countries to appreciate the results of our efforts in this country."

Income taxes had been reduced by 16 per cent just after the war ended and a further 25 per cent reduction in 1947 would mean a reduction in personal income tax of about 37 per cent below its wartime level. Excess profits taxes had been reduced in order to encourage production and employment.

These decreases were in contrast to what took place after the First Great War, when personal and business taxes went up sharply and many new luxury taxes were imposed.

"In making reductions rather than increases in taxes at the end of this war we have held to our determination that our tax system as a whole must be as fair as possible. The income tax, which is more nearly than any other is a tax on the basis of ability to pay, must continue to be the main feature of our post-war taxation system."

The sweeping nature of these

MRS. ERNEST HENNESSEY
Who passed away Nov. 7, 1935.

We are sad within our memory
Lonely are our hearts to-day,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

If all the world were mine to give
I'd give it all, ay, more, if
I could see the one I loved
Come smiling through the door.

Inserted by husband and children.

In Memoriam

In fond and loving memory of my dear husband Patrick Hughes who died June 8, 1946.

Five months has passed dear Pat
Since you were called away
God called you to his glory
On that June day.

We are left and we are lonely
No one here can ease the pain
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
