PREMIER PROUD

the occasion than met the eye:

"In the Cordwainers' Hall the old came to terms with the new. The Corporation of the City of London is of greater antiquity than Parliament itself. Englishmen were great traders before they became great parliamentarians. They think in terms of trade. For centuries they have regarded steady trade as the cure for more than half their social ills. The great trader becomes the great leader . . . these companies, it seems, will never outlive their usefulness. Antiquity has justified itself. Englishmen seldom depart from the ancient ways, for they were the ways of the good trader."

Said The Times:

"They are doughty and confirmed Cordwainers, these Chamberlains. The first of them was the William Chamberlain—son of Daniel Chamberlain, the malster, of Lacock, in Wiltshire—who came to London in the reign of King George I, and after trying the confectionary trade without success, became apprenticed in 1733 to a master shoemaker and members of the Cordwainers' Company. Thereafter for 150 years the Chamberlains were shoemakers in Milk Street, Cheapside; and William, who became himself a Cordwainer in 1739 and was master in 1769, started the 200 years' unbroken connection of the family and the company."

Worship Services Held By Conference

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 11—The ninety delegates attending the Maritime Young Peoples' Conference of the United Church of Canada rested from their intensive study of the past three days and observed the Sabbath with worship services. This morning regular morning chapel service was held in the Mount Allison Academy chapel. The delegates also attended the morning union services at the Baptist Church at which Dr. M. M. Lappin, the local Baptist pastor, preached a sermon especially for the young people.

This afternoon tea was served on the spacious lawn in front of the Academy residence with perfect weather prevailing. Rev. K. J. Beaton, of Toronto, gave a short talk.

Early this evening the conference met in Beethoven Hall where Prof. Harold S. Hamer, head of the Mount Allison Conservatory of Music gave an address on the appreciation of music. The day's activities came to a close with an informal sing-song.

The presidents of the six interest groups which carry out the camp fire programs and compete in the softball schedule were appointed recently as follows—Group 1, Miss Mildred Barbour, Fredericton; 2, Miss Marion Blondon, Pleasant Valley, P. E. I.; 3, Rev. K. J. Beaton, Toronto; 4, George Bennett, Halifax; 5, Gardener Ward, Rockingham, N. S., and 6, Miss Jean Crowdis, Halifax.

Cotton And Shute In Competition

LONDON, July 11—(AP)—Denny Shute and Henry Cotton, probably the two most solemn golfers in the game, start a 72-hole match for a prize of £500 tomorrow over the rolling Walton Heath course near London.

British golfers, a little hoarse from cheering Cotton's victory in the British Open at Carnoustie, favor the champion. But Shute, whose recent record is noticeably barren, may be a little stubborn when it comes to the $2,500. Since arriving in Great Britain, Denny has picked up nothing but a bad cold and a little sea air. At Carnoustie he shrivelled in the final day's rain and finished 14th, 12 strokes behind Cotton.

British Infantry Is Changing Over

LONDON, July 11—(CP)—Army orders provide for the conversion of all regular battalions of infantry of the line into rifle battalions or machine gun battalions.

Famous infantry to become machine gunners under this order include The Royal Scots, Royal Northumberland Fusiliers, Royal Fusiliers, Devonshire Regiment, West Yorkshire Regiment, Welsh Fusiliers, Gloucestershire Regiment, Royal Scots Fusiliers, Chesire Regiment, Royal Welsh Fusiliers, East Surrey Regiment, Middlesex Regiment, Manchester Regiment, and Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

Remaining regular battalions of regiments of the line are being converted to rifle battalions; battalions of regiments of foot guards also become rifle units.

As a result of this reorganization there is to be a regrouping. The infantry of the first, second and third divisions will consist each of two divisional machine gun battalions and three infantry brigades, each of three rifle battalions.

Divisional machine gun battalions will be attached to infantry brigades for administration in peace and the earlier periods of training.

SERIOUS CROP DETERIORATION IN PRAIRIES

Serious Crop . . . . . Rains Delay Seeding Operations in Maritimes — Field Crops Generally Good.

OTTAWA, July 10—(CP)—June has witnessed the most serious crop deterioration in the Prairie Provinces ever to be recorded this early in the season, said a crop report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The Bureau estimated the condition of the spring wheat crop on June 30 at 51 per cent of the long-time average, having fallen from 85 per cent., the figure estimated at the end of May.

The condition on June 30, 1936, was estimated at 82 per cent.

The worst crop conditions occur in southern and central Saskatchewan and eastern Alberta, while Manitoba at the end of June still showed conditions approximately average.

MODERATE IMPROVEMENT

Fall wheat, peas, mixed grains, alfalfa and pasture lands, the major areas of which lie in the east, all registered moderate improvement during the past month. Hay and clover meadows were unchanged from the May 31 condition figure with improvement in Nova Scotia, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia offsetting declines in the other provinces.

In general, late-sown crops show small reductions in acreage from the 1936 level, although the acreages of beans and buckwheat have been increased.

Intermittent rains throughout the Maritime Provinces delayed seeding and on low lands farmers had difficulty getting their crops in. Early-sown grains have been splendid growth, while hay and pastures benefited from the abundant moisture supplies.

LATE PLANTING

Potato planting was continued late in the month and in some early fields misses are reported and attributed to the wet season.

Settled weather is now needed to facilitate haying.

Quebec showed some improvement in the condition of grain crops and pastures during the month of June and these crops are now just slightly below average.

The condition of all field crops in Ontario improved in June due to the extremely favorable weather.

Rainfall during June was altogether inadequate to rescue crops from badly dried out soil conditions that have prevailed since last summer in much of the Prairie areas.

Heavy rainfall during the third week in June in British Columbia provided abundant moisture for luxuriant growth. Hay and pastures improved somewhat in condition during the month while other crops held their own.

Since the end of June, general conditions have continued favorable throughout all of Eastern Canada and British Columbia.

EXTEND SOCIAL SERVICE

SYDNEY, Australia (C.P)—B. S. B. Stevens, premier of New South Wales, announces the government proposes to extend its social service policy and system of unemployment relief.

erage market price of oats (if such price is 7s, 7d per cwt. or less) and the standard price of 8s, subject to a maximum payment of £1 per acre. A United Kingdom average price will be declared annually by order.

A national standard acreage for oats and barley will be determined. This will be eleven-tenths of the total acreage of land qualifying for oats or barley subsidy payments in 1937. If in the next four years the acreage qualifying for oats or barley subsidy payments exceeds the standard acreage, the rate of subsidy payments in that year will be the same as they would have been if the qualifying acreage had been equal to the standard acreage.

The Government will pay farmers up to one-half the cost of obtaining and transporting lime and one-quarter that of basic slag to be used as fertilizers. This scheme is expected to cost £1,000,000 for the first year and more in the succeeding four years which will be the term covered by the legislation.

Grants for land drainage in Scotland at the rate of 33 1-3 per cent of approved expenditure will be made at an estimated annual cost of up to £40,000.

A large scale campaign to eliminate animal diseases is contemplated. Bovine tuberculosis and contagious abortion in tuberculo-free areas are two of the chief diseases affected. Where incidents of tuberculosis is low a special drive to eradicate the disease will be launched. Non-attested herds will be officially tested and reactors destroyed with compensation paid to owners. The area will then be declared an attested area.

Breeding and distribution of disease-free poultry will be encouraged by providing free services for owners of approved poultry-breeding stations in the shape of testing and examination of poultry.

In order to make the campaign more efficient all public veterinary services relating to animal diseases will be centralized under the ministry of agriculture and fisheries, including those performed by local authorities in relation to animal diseases and the veterinary examination of cattle.

ARCTIC SHIP SAILS NORTH

for another two years. Some of them—Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen, Hudson's Bay Company traders, missionaries—are going into the Arctic to replace men who have been up there that long.

An even longer stretch than that is ahead of Jean Pauline Taylor, infant daughter of Rev. Arthur Taylor and his wife. The missionary and his family are heading for Port Harrison and a third five-year stretch in the land of snow.

Carrying her trousseau in a suitcase, Miss Kathleen Taylor of Hamilton is going north to Port Burwell to marry Rev. Ronald K. Wenham. And she's carrying her own wedding ring, because that's one of the few commodities the Arctic trading posts don't stock.

Dr. L. D. Livingstone, the ship's doctor, almost didn't get to join the party. The Nascopie was pulling away, and there was a widening gap between her and the dock when the veteran of 15 years of Arctic medicine threw his baggage aboard and leaped to the deckhouse.

Dr. Livingstone's job is to inspect the natives at all points of call—21 of them. Other aspects of life in the north are to be studied by a government party of scientists under Major D. L. McKeand. It includes geodetic, biological and astronomical experts. The Government party also will make a motion picture of the expedition.

Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen are going up to relieve officers stationed for the last couple of years at various points. They are under Superintendent C. F. Fletcher.

The Hudson's Bay party will establish a new post within the Arctic cirle and mark a new spot on Canada's map. It will be called Fort Hearne, located as a connecting link between the eastern and western Arctic, on a spot no white man has visited in 103 years.

Co-ed Training For Toykyo 1940

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11—(CP)—Audrey Stewart, 19-year-old co-ed, has spent an appreciable part of her life flying through the air without visible means of support.

Now she has teamed up with Runar Stone, noted as the "iron man" of western track, to see whether her talents can be put to use in the 1940 Olympic Games.

When she started to school at six, Audrey was so pale and weak that doctors ordered systematic exercise. Her mother picked dancing. Audrey picked acrobatic dancing.

Stone is starting her off on the high jump, confident she'll win a trip to Tokyo in 1940

Pontiff Prays For "A Little Tranquility"

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, July 11—Pope Pius, his voice carried throughout the world by radio, prayed today for "a little tranquility" on earth and for recognition of God's "divine sovereignty, obedience to his holy laws" and for the practice of justice and charity.

His Holiness spoke on the occasion of the inauguration of a new cathedral at Lisieux, France, dedicated to St. Theresa. He said, in French:

"Let us pray for the creator, who for that very reason is the supreme Lord of heaven and earth, of peoples and of nations. Let us pray that to this world, so distraught and confused, and to all these peoples, who are so oppressed by the miseries of today and so fearful of tomorrow, he may grant a little tranquillity, in order and in peace, with a return to those ways which are the only ways, recognition of His divine sovereignty, obedience to his holy laws, practice of justice and a charity more bountiful to those who have less and for that very reason are in greater need and suffering."

The Pope, sitting in the private library of his summer residence here, could not prevent his voice from trembling with emotion when he spoke of St. Theresa, his favorite saint. His voice filled with feeling, moreover, when he made an indirect reference to the belief his own life is drawing toward its close.

He asked his hearers to pray "that they may, without fear and even with confidence, draw close, as they do with each passing day, to the tribunal of God to render an account of their guardianship, that is, of our soul."

"It is to tell you, dearly beloved children," he went on, "to pray with a particular sense of filial piety for us, upon whom this accounting bears heaviest and for whom it is closest at hand that we say to you with the apostle: pray for us; we pray for you; let us pray for one another that we may be saved."

The Pope's speech was devoted almost entirely to prayer. He said he was grateful to all who had prayed and now pray for him. He concluded with his benediction.

The address lasted 15 minutes. His enunciation was clearer than in some of his previous broadcasts since his illness, and its modulation was even. In Lisieux about 150,000 persons heard his voice. Many millions more listened throughout the world.

The principal's report read as follows:—

Rev. Fathers, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

Another school year has come to a close and I take a great deal of pleasure in welcoming you in behalf of the teachers and pupils to our closing exercises.

We wish to thank the parents for their hearty co-operation in making the year such a successful one. This year may be truly styled our banner year in regard to attendance; the average daily attendance for the year being upwards of 190.

This shows much improvement over former years and since good attendance is impossible without a large measure of cooperation on the part of parents we sincerely thank the parents who have contributed such a large share to the success of the work during the past year.

A marked improvement has been noted also this year regarding punctuality in getting to school especially among the boys, and as this is a very important part of education I would suggest that parents endeavour to have this improvement continue in the future so that their children may contract the habit of punctuality which will stand them in good stead in whatever occupation they may follow in later life.

We are indebted to other benefactors too, notably the members of the Catholic Women's League
