PRESIDENT TAFT SPEAKS ON RECIPROCITY

WASHINGTON, June 23.—That the Mormon church in enlisting the aid of Henry O. Havemier, to extend its best interests of its people, was declared to be a fact today by Thomas R. Cutler, vice-president of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Refining Company, before the house "sugar trust" investigating committee.

"Why does the Mormon church go into the sugar business and other business enterprises," asked Representative Hynds. "Anything that affects the material as well as the spiritual interests of its people, the Mormon church encourages," said Mr. Cutler. "It provides occupation for the people in many other lines of business as well as in the beet sugar industry."

"Then the Mormon church," queried Representative Madison, of Kansas, "is not only a spiritual organization, but also a business organization?" "To a great extent it is true," Mr. Cutler replied.

Mr. Cutler explained that the business enterprises of the church are managed by the presiding bishop, who acts as business manager. Questioned regarding the tariff, Mr. Cutler said that "the bowl for trade" in sugar was being made by the can refiners and that it would ruin the beet sugar business.

BANK IN BRIDGETOWN WAS VICTIMIZED

BRIDGETOWN, June 24—On the 14th of June a young man by the name of Walter Phinney, of Lynn, Mass., called at the office of one of the merchants and requested identification at one of the banks here. He had a cheque for $100 on a bank account in Lewiston, Maine, signed by his father, John D. Phinney, of Lynn.

With Phinney was another chap whom he introduced as Williams. The merchant knew Phinney, and consented to go to the bank. Phinney pulled out a silver watch attached to a gold chain, with his left hand, on the third finger of which was a plain gold ring. He said he would like to have the funds by 3 o'clock. He was told to go down to the bank and the merchant would follow shortly.

In a few minutes all three met at the bank. It was noticed that Phinney hesitated somewhat about presenting his cheque. As soon as he did the merchant clapped him on the shoulder, and said to the teller: "This is Walter Phinney of Lynn, Mass., who wishes to do some business with you." Phinney endorsed the cheque and received the cash, rolled it up and put it in his pocket and walked out. The sidewalk he was asked if his father had an account at that bank. He answered, yes, and he had given him this cheque as the safer way to carry funds. He was going over to Port Lorne to pay a few bills owing by his father. Williams said they were going to stay here about a week and then go to Halifax for the remainder of their vacation.

On June 23rd, word was received from the bank at Lewiston, Maine, that the cheque was bogus. No such account on man there by the name of John D. Phinney. In addition to that this was the sixth cheque that had been presented for payment within a week from this man Phinney, all

"FLASH IN PAN" SAYS DR. CUTTEN

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The Baptist world alliance today continued the discussion of methods for Christianizing the world, speakers from Canada, England and the United States taking part. Sir George McAlpine, of England, was the special chairman of the morning session.

Papers prepared by President A. P. McDiarmid, of Brandon college, Manitoba, on the opportunities for laymen in mission work, and President George B. Cutten, of Acadia college, Nova Scotia, on the training of the young in missionary endeavor, were read.

President Cutten said in his address on the training of young people in missionary work that the laymen's missionary movement inaugurated some time ago, with all its splendid results, is but a flash in the pan unless there are some steps taken toward permanency. What form permanency in missionary work should take must be a matter of conjecture in detail, he said, but he thought there would be no doubt that it must begin with the young people rather than the middle-aged or old.

THOUGHTS ON FRIENDSHIP

Small service is true service while it waters in a thirsty land, when our hearts cry out for life and love.

But, after all, the very best thing in good talk, and the thing that helps most, is Friendship. How it dissolves the barriers that divide us, and loosens all constraint, and diffuses itself like some fine old cordial through all the veins of life—this feeling that we understand and trust each other, and wish each other hearty well! Everything into which it really comes is good. It transforms letter-writing from a task into a pleasure; it makes music a thousand times more sweet. The people who play and sing, not at us, but to us—how delightful it is to listen to them! Yes, there is a talkability, that can express itself even without words. There is an exchange of thought and feeling which is happy alike in speech and in silence. It is quietness pervaded with friendliness.
