FIREMEN ANSWER THREE CALLS — Firemen answered three calls over the week end but fire loss was said to be negligible. The first alarm was shortly after noon on Saturday for a slight blaze in a residence on Young Street in Georgetown and shortly after for another small fire on Euston Street. Yesterday morning shortly before ten o'clock a call was sent in from Moore and McLeod's store on Queen Street. Firemen discovered a blaze in a door leading from the outside into the basement. The door, of heavy wooden construction, had forced on the inside with a boiler pipe in the side of an open seven foot excavation at the rear of the store intended originally for the bottom of an elevator shaft. Belief was expressed that an attempt may have been made by thieves to enter the store and the blaze was started either by a carelessly dropped cigarette butt or from the effects of a blow torch used in an attempt to cut through the heavy door. The fire was discovered by the janitor when he visited the store. There was no damage except to the door.

Province Will Cooperate In Cancer Control

His Honour Lieutenant Governor DeBlouin has agreed to head a provincial committee of laymen and physicians to link up with a proposed Canada-wide organization for the better control of cancer, and has assured Dr. J. S. McEachern, chairman of the Cancer Committee of the Canadian Medical Association, that this Province will cooperate in every way in the movement.

Dr. McEachern, who visited Charlottetown last week, conferred with His Honour and with representatives of the Prince Edward Island Medical Association on problems connected with organization for cancer control. He left at noon Saturday for Montreal. George R. McLean, president, will report to the Central Provisional Executive the results of his conference with medical men at different centres in the Maritime Provinces.

"We frankly do not know what is the cause of cancer," Dr. McEachern stated in a press interview on Saturday. "More than that I do not know of any simply applied remedy which will prevent the cause operating or neutralize it when it becomes operative. We can never eradicate cancer until these two things are discovered. In the meantime, the best we can hope is to control it, utilizing the knowledge which we do possess."

"The knowledge which we possess is simply this, that if cancer occurs in an accessible organ is recognized early and promptly and adequately planned treatment applied, a very high percentage of these cases can be cured. By 'cured' I mean a cure which enables the patient to go on living his expectation of life."

"There is another thing we know which is just as important; that if the presence of cancer is discovered early, whether by reason of carelessness, fear or ignorance, or if it is discovered early and adequate treatment is delayed until the cancer has spread beyond the original site, no power on earth can do any good whatever."

"If we are going to control cancer then the most important thing to accomplish is to have the victims well enough informed so that they will seek medical advice at the earliest stages, when suspicious signs develop, and will become acquainted with the fact that cancer is not entirely a hopeless disease, a considerable percentage, if taken early, can be cured."

In a very short time, Dr. McEachern predicted, the setting up of a branch organization for the better control of cancer will be taken up by a group of public spirited citizens.

While in Charlottetown, he conferred with the cancer committees which have been formed in each of the three standard hospitals in the Province and who are undertaking the responsibility of endeavoring to clarify the situation from a medical and surgical standpoint.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ST. JAMES CHURCH At the morning service of St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday the Rev. David Marshall, British Guiana, was the preacher. He gave an interesting and instructive address on the work being accomplished by the Canadian Presbyterian mission in the lone British colony on the north-east coast of South America. Over 5,000 East Indian children are receiving educational instruction daily. Christian ideals rather than scholarly attainments were stressed. Several incidents relating to the lives of early missionaries were described by the preacher in his discourse.

At the evening worship the Minister, the Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, delivered a forceful sermon the theme of which was "The Fuller Life". The Minister took as his text Mark, 10: 17. "And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

Rev. Dr. Legate declared in his hurried age people oftentimes failed to glean the proper interpretations in reading and were satisfied with half-truths. He pointed out that to obtain eternal life more than a high moral or religious standard was necessary. One must come direct to God giving himself wholeheartedly and using his possessions whether they be intellectual or material for the furtherance of Christ's kingdom.

At the morning service the anthem "Seek Ye The Lord" (Masks) was rendered by the choir with Mr. Arthur Bruce taking solo part. In the evening Mrs. Nell MacLean sang an offertory solo, "In The Golden Evening" (Bird).

Masses at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer yesterday were at the usual hours. The Single Women's Holy Family received Holy Communion in a body at the 7.30 Mass. Last evening at 7 o'clock Holy Hour was conducted by the Rev. C. McCreau.

BAPTIST CHURCH The Rev. Harvey L. Denton, B. D., took as the subject of his morning sermon "The upward look in the dawn." Based on the words of the fifth Psalm, "In the morning I will direct my prayer unto Thee and will look up." Mr. Denton directed attention to The Light in the Dawn; after the refreshment of rest one greets with gladness the coming of the new day, but more than that there is something in God's dawn that lifts the heart even as it lifts the happy song of morning birds. So let us use the power of the power of the dawn. The Voice of the Dawn; this naturally is prayer, for with the lift of the dawn comes the inspiration to commune with God, the universal power. And worthy of students of the first and second years, Prince of Wales, participated in a social programme directed by Miss Leila Worthy, Mrs. J. L. Curran and Miss Berna Huestis. The programme consisted of games, contests and community singing.

A very interesting programme of research study is being sponsored by the Hi-Y Grads Club. The plan being followed includes an analysis of over one hundred questionnaires circulated among young men—members and non-members—representing a cross-section of the young men of the city. A report of the analysis will be made known in due course.

The Association was opened Thanksgiving Day and the inclement weather accounted for quite a large attendance throughout the day.

Mr. A. M. Harding, National Y.M.C.A. Director of Physical Education visited the local Association Wednesday evening and throughout Thursday. He addressed the Hi Y Grads and Y's men's clubs at their weekly supper meetings, held a conference with leaders and participants in the Physical Department and consulted with members of the staff.

The S.C.M. and Y.M.C.A. Joint Committee met in conference working out plans for co-operative programme service on behalf of the students of Prince of Wales College. Plans for the Sunday evening Song Services which open on the 24th inst. are almost completed and social activities for the season are being definitely scheduled.

The Association Membership Committee has been making a study of membership possibilities with the opening up of fall and winter activities and a special follow up in this connection will be undertaken during this present week.

Regular physical classes were started during the week for the fall and winter months, giving promise of large enrollments. On Saturday evening about fifty consideration are our spiritual attitude the method, manner and matter of prayer. The Religion of the Dawn is vividly expressed in the words of the Psalm "But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice—for thou Lord wilt bless the righteous; with favour wilt thou compass him as with a shield." May we in reverent and trusting attitude to God learn the way to happiness, righteousness, confidence.

The Misses Down sang "All to Jesus I surrender." Following the morning sermon the scriptural ordinance of believer's baptism was administered. Mr. Denton's evening sermon was a vigorous and eloquent appeal for temperance, the subject being "The cross and the cocktail." Miss Vera Malcolm Campbell sang "Milligan's There's A Voice in the Wilderness" and the anthem was "Praise My Soul". Four persons were received into church membership at the evening service.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH The meaning of Salvation was the subject of the morning sermon at Trinity—based on the request of the Philippian jailor to Paul and Silas, "What must I do to be saved?" Our first task is to define the terms "belief" and "saved." Belief may be only an intellectual assent. To believe is to give our assent. As it is used here it means more than the mere act of believing. Believing in Christ is more than believing His teaching or that He gave His life a ransom. It means that He can do for us what we cannot do for ourselves and yet is essential for the present and the life to come. Salvation means being saved from our sin and guilt. It also means being saved to a life of obedience that is manifested in purity of soul and faithful service. The Philippian jailor wished to become saved; to be a man like Paul and Silas. Paul bore witness to the saving grace of Christ by telling the jailor what Christ had done for him. We can do little for the unsaved unless we can tell a similar story. The greatest thing we can do for another is to relate them to God. It is possible only when we speak with the authority of our redemption. Witness cannot be greater than experimental religion.

The preacher at the evening worship was Mr. Harold Wright who served as student missionary in Western Canada during the summer months and is now visiting his parents en route to resuming his theological studies at Pine Hill Divinity Hall. Mr. Wright spoke briefly on missionary work in the west and was heard with satisfaction in his sermon on "The Life of Christ."

The anthem at the morning service was "Himmel's Incline Thine Ear". In the evening in addition to the Anthem "The Radiant Morn", a very beautiful selection was faultlessly rendered by the Trinity Mens Double Quartette entitled "Just for Today."

That Body of Ours By James W. Barton, M.D. THREE CLASSES OF FLAT FEET

In examining for flat feet overseas service men recruit instructed to walk around on floor and then kneel on a pillow. If there was a fair-sized clean on the sole—thus showing an arch—he was able to come up his knees to his feet without his arches being considered. If the soles of his feet showed or no spot of whiteness and he unable to come up from his knees to his feet, he was rejected. The infantry but might get some other branch where he was not on his feet so much.

To get an idea of the shape the arch or bridge of the foot should think of the three post piers that support the arch—big heel bone behind, and in front the bone adjoining the big toe and the bone adjoining the little toe.

Ligaments—hard bands of tissue stretched between the heel bone and these two fore bones. These ligaments, then bones forming the arch, and the muscles holding up these bones are what give the foot its proper claw-like shape. In flat feet the ligaments lose their stretch and the muscles, by themselves are not strong enough to hold the arch up in position. Flat foot is usually put into three classes: (a) where 1 ments are weak, but bones of arch go back up into position weight it off the feet but can't raise up into position by pressure of the fingers or by an arch support, and (b) when the bones down and cannot be pushed into the arch shape because 1 ments between bones have become loose.

WORTH REMEMBERING Wash and dry all silver and steel articles as soon after using as possible. Wrapping the lace to be stored in waxed paper will prevent it from dry rot. Throw out the wire coat hangers that have rusted during the summer before you transfer some of the rust to a good garment. It is said coal dust mixed with water and banked at the back of the grate will dampen down a fire and keep it burning steadily for hours.

Mr. G. Spencer Concludes Stay In Charlottetown

Mr. Gordon Spencer, who has been in charge of the Prince Edward and Capitol Theatres for some months during the illness of Mr. Cooper, left for the mainland this morning accompanied by his father Mr. F. G. Spencer. Mr. Spencer, Jr., has been a popular resident of Charlottetown since the beginning of the year, and has most capably and successfully represented the interests of his company. It is a matter of comment that the growth of F. G. Spencer Limited has been steady and healthy during the years, rather than spectacular, and the company can be included among the most successful business enterprises in the Maritime Provinces. Questioned as to new activities, Mr. Spencer, Sr., stated that his firm had opened a very fine new theatre at Kentville three weeks ago—probably one of the best in the Maritimes—and is just completing a new one at Bridgewater. It has also acquired a third one in Nova Scotia, details of which are to be announced shortly. Mr. Spencer is not anticipating returning to Charlottetown for some time, as it is his custom to spend the winter months in the south.

LONDON, Oct. 17 (CP)—Rival promoters are bidding for the Football Association cup final of 1938. A 21-year agreement with Wembley Stadium authorities runs out in seven years. Alterations at Wembley, where thousands were turned away last year, would cost the English Football Association $300,000. On the other hand Brig-Gen. A. C. Critchley, Alberta-born sportsman has submitted an offer to extend the White City to accommodate 150,000 persons if the F. A. will consider having the game played there. Wembley now holds 93,000 persons.
