IDEALS ARE MADE IN TWO SIZES 312 AND 412 H. P.

You Want the Ideal

The Ideal Hopper-Cooled engine is the only farm engine you can really rely on. It's simplicity obviates the necessity of skilled attendance. A boy can be taught in a few hours so that he can give it all the attention it requires and it is so safe, durable and economical that it will pay for itself in a short time.

The Ideal will pump water, thresh grain, saw wood, run the cream separator, washing machine, clipping machine, spraying machine, churn, feed grinder and grain elevator. It will act as a farm fire engine and give you the modern conveniences of running water and electricity in your home.

Call at our show rooms and see one in operation or write for our free illustrated catalog.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS

LESSON III OCTOBER 20.

MISSION TO THE GENTILES.

Mark 7: 24-30; Matt. 8: 5-13.

GOLDEN TEXT.

"He that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out."—John 6:37.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS

By Rev. W. D. SNIDER.

Every Gentile now resting for salvation in the love of God which has been made known to him through the revelation of Jesus Christ will come to the study of such a lesson as the one for today with peculiar and intense interest. It is the story of the Gospel coming to us.

We are assured that there is salvation for us by reason of the experience of those whom it has saved. The Syrophenician woman is a type. The centurion is a type. And their history was such that they are types of a widely inclusive character.

When Jesus is found in the coasta of Tyre and Sidon meeting the exercise of faith with His healing power, we learn that neither an alien race nor a pagan religion, nor an evil environment, nor a long distance of arduous travel will separate His help from humanity's helplessness. He cannot be hidden.

What will not a mother do or suffer for the health and happiness of her child! As much as has been said and sung about mother's love, the larger half remains to be sung. But the best thing a mother can do for her child is to take Jesus Christ into her confidence about her child.

It is quite evident that the Master insists that faith shall be requisite to blessing—somebody's faith. And He has His own way of discovering and testing it. His joy is as great in the finding of it as in the proof of it.

Some think that Jesus proceeded to deal harshly with the woman, in a way untrue to His character. But how could the Canaanitish woman what stuff the conquering hero of faith if He had not taken the course which was open to Him because of His judgment of these things. He did not tempt where there was not ability or willingness to bear.

Maternal love, Greek wit, intuition of the heart of Jesus Christ through His eyes and through His voice, betraying His words, gave a splendid spark and insistence to the faith of the woman until every retort was an argument, and it had the victory.

The faith of the centurion is manifest in another way. He is not intuitive. It is philosophical. And there is nothing more logical than the exercise of faith in God. The reason for faith is always found in the belief that authority is lodged somewhere. The appeal of faith is to that authority. Jesus Christ places it when he says, "All power is given unto me."

To what extent is it true that it takes sorrow and trouble to drive men to Jesus? The smug contentment of the Pharisees led them to despise Him, but sickness forced others to His feet. If that is so—if prosperity and health fail to find the way to God, possibly one of the greatest blessings in life is the compelling touch of sorrow and pain.

The facts of the lesson are a portion of the resistless introduction which proves the wide-warded welcome of the Saviour as unfailingly true as the love of God and the need enjoyed to the full. The programme of the soul. "Him that cometh unto me, I will in no wise cast out."
